PRIVATE WADSWORTH BECOMES SERGEANT

SHENANDOAH, PA., Oct. 27.—Upon the recommendation of Maj. Gen. Miller, Col. Rutledge tonight promoted Arthur Wadsworth from a private to sergeant. Wadsworth shot and killed William Durham on the night of October 8 while on guard duty. The major general says the promotion of Wadsworth is a reward for the faithful performance of duty.

TROOPS CHEER SUDDEN ORDER TO BREAK CAMP

Eighteenth, Fourteenth, Fifth and Tenth Start Home Today.

BANDS ARE OUT IN SERENADES

Sixteenth Remains on Duty and Will Be Scattered in Four Detachments.

END OF DUTY IN SIGHT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Mahanoy City, Pa., Oct. 27.—The order "break camp" was received at Camp Glenn this afternoon. At 4 o'clock Quartermaster Livingstone was summoned to the telephone and for 15 minutes talked with Acting Brigadier Quartermaster McNary at Gen. Wiley's headquarters in Ashland in regard to the movement of the regiment, and it was decided that it should leave for home tomorrow at noon.

Despite the attempt to keep the news secret until it had been officially received, it leaked out. While Lieut. Col. Corbett, acting commander, and his staff were discussing the order, the regimental band appeared, playing "Home, Sweet Home." This was the signal for a general outpouring of the soldiers from their tents, where they had taken shelter from a heavy rain. So agreeable a surprise was it to the boys that they shed their coats and flung their hats in the air.

After serenading the headquarters the band paraded through the camp grounds, each company falling into line as the procession moved through its street, until the whole regiment had formed. Among the airs played by the band were "Home, Sweet Home," "We Wont Go Home Until Morning" and "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Quartermaster Livingstone reports everything in good condition and ready for immediate shipment. However, the tents at Camp Glenn are so rain soaked that it will be impossible to take them down in the morning. This will not interfere with the moving of the soldiers, who will depart for home on special trains over the Reading railroad.

SHENANDOAH, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The Eighteenth regiment will leave here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock over the same route it came and will likely reach home about 4 a. m. Wednesday.

The news was received at the Eighteenth's camp shortly after dinner. Hats were thrown into the air and the jubilee was general. The mounted officers lost no time in galloping to the telegraph offices and messages were sent home.

SHAMOKIN, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The Tenth regiment received a tip from Second brigade headquarters today that the command will be ordered home on Thursday.

MT. CARMEL, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Camp Fox of the Sixteenth regiment is a scene of great activity this evening, preparatory to a dissolution of the regiment. The Sixteenth will be spread, in four detachments, over the entire Schuylkill region.

The general order of rearrangement was received late this afternoon. The following assignment of commands was shortly made known, embracing a territory covered for the last three weeks by the Fifth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments, together with cavalry and artillery commands: First battalion, Companies G, K, L and M, Maj. Windsor commanding, Shenandoah; Second battalion, Maj. McElhenney commanding, comprising Companies D, F and H, Mahanoy City; Companies E and I, the third battalion, Capt. Wheelock commanding, Ashland. Companies A and C will remain at Mt. Carmel for the present under Maj. Burns, acting to the absence of Col. Hulings the disposition of the regimental headquarters has not yet been determined.

All transportation facilities have been provided by the brigade quartermaster and tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the three detachments will leave for their posts. Not a tent will be struck here and the general order provides for the Sixteenth regiment to take down the canvas of the entire second brigade.

TAMAQUA, PA., Oct. 27.—This morning Gen. Schall, in command of the First brigade, N. G. P., issued an order relieving two battalions of the Second and Sixth regiments from duty.

YOUNG WILL BE NEXT LIEUTENANT GENERAL

Corbin Corrects a False Impression Gathered from the New Army List.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—"I do not think I am betraying any confidence when I say that Maj.-Gen. S. B. M. Young will be the next lieutenant general of the army," said Maj.-Gen. Corbin today. Then he added: "And his promotion will be enjoyed by no one more than by myself."

Lieut.-Gen. Miles will retire from age next August, and this declaration by Gen. Corbin was inspired by some comment that the appearance of Corbin's name in the monthly army list next after that of Gen. Miles, pointed out the probable succession. As a fact, it is stated that the order of the names in the list was fixed by the seniority of the commissions.

Gen. Young would have about a year to serve in that grade if he is made lieutenant general.

CATSKILL, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Gen. Young has been a guest of George W. McLanahan of Washington, at Mr. McLanahan's country home here. Gen. Young left for Washington this evening.

English Crowd Threatened Boers.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Boer commissioners, Kritzinger, Fouche and Joubert, after addressing a meeting at Cambridge tonight, had a narrow escape from the angry crowd that listened to their speeches. Kritzinger was obliged to scale a wall to get away, while the others were escorted to their hotel by the police.

HUNTING TRIP ENDS IN MURDER

One Man Is Dead and Another Fatally Wounded.

TWO ARRESTS MADE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Pa., Oct. 27.—A hunting party, carrying a good deal of bad whisky, came to grief at Finleyville this afternoon. One man is dead, another fatally injured and lying in the Washington hospital and two men are in jail, charged with murder.

The dead:

Charles Clifford, aged 30, married and lived in Venetia with his wife and three children; head crushed and beaten to a jelly.

The injured:

John Jarrett of Venetia, fatally shot through the right breast; aged 25; lives at Venetia.

William Byassee, white, and John Jasper Banks, colored, both of Venetia, are in the Washington jail, the negro charged with the killing and Byassee held as a witness.

This afternoon Clifford, Jarrett and Banks, all coal miners, started on a hunting trip. Clifford and Banks carrying shotguns, but Jarrett going unarmed. When they reached Rankintown, a suburb of Finleyville, Jarrett told Clifford to pay him 50 cents he owed him. Clifford replied that he had nothing less than $1, and if he could get the money changed he would pay the bill. All the men had been drinking, and had got no game. Clifford stopped in a store and when he joined the men later, told Jarrett that he could not get the money changed. Jarrett still insisted that he wanted his money, and at once Clifford drew his gun and fired. Jarrett fell, shot through the right breast. It is not known how Clifford was killed, but Banks, the negro companion, tells the following story:

"When I saw Jarrett lying on the ground I said to Clifford: 'You have killed that man. That was a terrible thing to do. What did you do it for?' Clifford replied that he just could not stand it to have Jarrett asking him for that money, and would have to settle him. Then a crowd of men ran after us, and when they saw Jarrett lying in the grass, they took clubs and beat Clifford to death. I was so badly frightened that I did not see where the men came from or where they went after they killed Clifford."

Clifford's head, on examination, showed that it had been beaten terribly and was crushed all over. Jarrett was carried to a nearby house, and the body of Clifford was placed on a stretcher and taken to the Finleyville lockup. Banks was arrested. William Byassee, who, it is claimed, was an eye-witness to the affair, was also locked up. He stoutly protests his innocence.

Drs. A. R. Shuster and F. M. Finley attended the injured man. They removed 125 buckshot from his right breast. They pronounced his injuries fatal, and had him brought to the Washington hospital.

Byassee claims to know nothing whatever of the shooting. The coroner thinks that Banks committed the murder. He was arrested by Constable John Stifer. The killing created the greatest excitement in Finleyville and surrounding country, and hundreds of people came in to see the end of the trouble. A postmorten will be held in the morning, when it is thought the matter will be straightened out as to the death of Clifford.

KING OF BELGIUM COMING TO AMERICA

LONDON, Oct. 28.—"King Leopold," says the Brussels correspondent of the Daily Express, "has promised Commissioner Walsh to visit the St. Louis exposition."

MOTION MADE TO QUASH HABEAS CORPUS ACTION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

POTTSVILLE, PA., Oct. 27.—F. W. Fleitz, deputy attorney general of the state, appeared with Lieut. Col. Oakford, judge advocate of the division; Lieut. Col. Elliott, adjutant general of the division; John P. Whalen, solicitor of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, and Maj. McCormick, brigade judge advocate, before Judge Marr today.

They moved to quash the petition for a writ of habeas corpus on Col. Rutledge, commander of the Eighteenth regiment, for the surrender of Private Arthur J. Wadsworth, who is charged with the murder of William Durham, a striker.

The case is said to be unprecedented, inasmuch as the state's attorney general and the state's district attorney appear on opposite sides.

The court fixed November 10 for the argument. Meantime the case has presented a new aspect, as Wadsworth departed for Pittsburgh today and can probably be arrested tomorrow without the interference of the military officers.

YINGLING'S ATTORNEYS ENTER BAIL AT CLARION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLARION, PA., Oct. 27.—Attorneys for R. G. Yingling, charged with Representative J. A. F. Hoy and J. L. Pinks, with bribery in connection with the Clarion normal school appropriation from the state, entered bail today for his appearance at the hearing on Wednesday morning before Justice A. R. Cyphart. Pinks has nothing to say.

The prosecution claims that they can prove that Mr. Hoy presented a check for $2,750 at the Second National bank, and that he got the money on it, while Mr. Hoy says he never presented such a check. Mr. Hoy claims the accusation is a political dodge to hurt him at the coming election. He says he knows nothing whatever about the alleged rake-off deal, as he was not a member of the board of trustees when the alleged deal is supposed to have been made. It is rumored that other arrests will be made.

Prof. A. J. Davis says he has nothing to do with the prosecution, as it is all in the hands of the alumni, who say they will push the affair to a finish.

LITTLE SCHOOL GIRL PLAYS WITH WILD DEER

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—A special from Winsted, Conn., to the World says: A 4-year-old daughter of a man named Tanner was late returning from school on Saturday, and the anxious parents who went in search of her found her playing with a deer with antlers and two fawns in the roadway. The child fed the fawns some cake which she had left in her dinner basket.

Cubans Reject Treaty.

HAVANA, Oct. 27.—The proposed treaty between the United States and Cuba was returned to Washington by mail last Saturday. It is understood that President Palma, in a letter sent with the treaty, says that the acceptance of the propositions made by the United States would be ruinous to Cuba, as it would result in a large reduction of the customs revenue of the island.

ERUPTION THROWS ASHES ALL OVER TEHUANTEPEC

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 27.—This dispatch was received today at the offices of the Central and South American Telegraph Company in this city from the company's superintendent in the City of Mexico:

"Volcanic ashes falling all across the isthmus of Tehuantepec. It appears that a volcano is in eruption near Palenqui, Chiapas. The eruption is intense, as ashes are falling at Oaxaca, nearly 500 miles way. Subterranean detonations and earthquakes are frequent in Chiapas."

The state of Chiapas is on the frontier of Guatemala and in part adjoins the department of Quezaltenango, where the volcano of Santa Maria is having a great eruption. Oaxaca is the capital of the state of the same name. It has a population of 35,000.

THE HARMONY CASE IS WON BY MR. DUSS

The U. S. Supreme Court Sustains Decisions of State Courts.

JUSTICE SHIRAS DECLINES TO SIT

Five of His Associates Unite in Finding, Fuller and Brewer Dissent.

FOUR MILLIONS IN ISSUE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
903 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.

The United States supreme court today put an end to the litigation over the property of the Harmony society, with headquarters at Economy, Pa. The property was valued in 1890 at $4,000,000, and includes, among other things, about 3,000 acres of land in Beaver county, Pa.

The main point of the contention was the right claimed by the heirs of the deceased members, or of members who had withdrawn from the society, to participate in a distribution of the assets.

The case came before the supreme court last summer on appeal from the court below, and was argued by George Shiras, III., and Sol. Schoyer, Jr., for Christian Schwarts and others, appellants, and by John S. McCleave and D. T. Watson for John S. Duss and others, the appellees, otherwise the society.

Owing to his son being one of the attorneys in the case, Justice Shiras declined to sit and hear it, while Justice Gray was ill. Accordingly, the case was heard by the seven other justices, and as the vote today was five to two in favor of the society, there was a majority that way, even if the other justices had participated. Owing to the majority the case probably will be dropped.

Dropping of Individual Ownership.

Justice McKenna rendered the decision of the court, and was sustained by Justices Harlan, Brown, White and Peckham. The court, according to Justice McKenna, came to the conclusion that the articles of agreement of 1826, in which the members of the society dropped the question of individual ownership, was the real point involved, and on that decided in favor of the society and upheld the decision of the court below. The opinion continues:

"The article of that year became, and was intended to become, the complete and final consummation of community ownership—did not become, and was not intended to become, the commencement of individual ownership. That article was but an incident in the life and evolution of the society. It asserted constancy to the principles of the association and annulled the sixth article of 1825—fifth article of 1805, because that article manifestly departed 'from the great principle of community of goods,' and it was said that 'with a vow to carry out the great principles of their union, and in consideration of the benefits to be derived therefrom,' they entered into this covenant:

"'Should any individual withdraw from the society, or depart this life, neither he in the one case, nor his representatives in the other, shall be entitled to demand an account of said contributions, whether in land, goods, money or labor, or to claim anything from the discretion of the superintendent to decide whether any, and if any, what, allowance shall be made to such member or his representatives as a donation.'"

Withdrawing Members Give Up Rights.

The purpose was defined and clearly expressed. It was certainly thought to be clear enough by the men who framed it, to declare and accomplish the "sacrifice of all narrow and selfish feelings to the true purposes of the association," as the articles fervidly declared, and it was provided that the member who withdrew from the society could make no demand against it "as a matter of right." The member who died left no right to his representatives. It needs no argument to show that as such members had no rights, they could transmit none to the petitioners in this case.

"No trust having been created by the agreement of 1826, there is no necessity to consider the arguments based on the contention that there was a trust and that it is and was void. That agreement was the affirmation and the continuation of the prior agreements, and they were held not to be offensive to the public policy of Pennsylvania by the supreme court of that state in Schriber vs. Rapp. The trial court in that case had instructed the jury that 'there is nothing in the articles of association (those of 1805, 1821 and 1827) given in evidence that renders the agreement unlawful or void; nothing in them inconsistent with constitutional rights, moral precepts or public policy.'"

The state supreme court observed that the point made against the articles as being against public policy was attended with no difficulty, and Chief Justice Gibson said for the court: "An association for the purpose expressed is prohibited neither by statute nor the common law." And it did not occur to this court, in Baker et al. vs. Nachtrieb, to treat them as invalid contracts.

An analysis of the agreements of 1840, 1890 and 1892 is not necessary. They were made to meet particular exigencies and expressly affirmed the prior agreements, except the sixth section of that of 1827.

Agreements of 1890 and 1892.

The master, and both the circuit court and the circuit court of appeals, found that the society had not been dissolved, either by the consent of its members or by the abandonment of the purposes for which it was founded. On account of this concurrence, the disputed facts in that finding, under the rules of this court and the circumstances of the record, we do not feel disposed to review. There is left, therefore, for consideration only the agreements of 1890 and 1892, and the changes in administration effected by them and the conveyance of the property of the society to the Union company. So far as those agreements affect the property rights of petitioners, we have expressed an opinion of them, but their effect upon the question of the dissolution of the society, or the effect of the conveyance to the Union company, we are not called upon to decide. In that question the petitioners have no concern.

Chief Justice Fuller rendered the dissenting opinion, and his views were upheld by Justice Brewer. In brief, he believed that the second contention, involving the question whether the society

MARMADUKE IN CHARGE OF COLOMBIAN NAVY

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PANAMA, Oct. 27.—The arrival from San Francisco today of the New Colombian cruiser Bogota, commanded by Capt. H. H. Marmaduke and manned by an American crew, caused great rejoicing among the Conservatives, or government party. The city is celebrating tonight and there is nothing in the eyes of the Conservatives, or government party, too good for their Yankee allies to enjoy.

A band is playing through the principal streets. The land forts saluted the Bogota on her arrival and the cruiser replied.

The safe arrival of the Bogota promises a sharp naval battle in Isthmian waters very shortly, as American gunners are on board both fleets.

The vessel made a slow trip because the crew was exercised at target practice all the way down the coast. Soon after the Bogota's officers had landed they were shown the fortifications and sights of the city. Capt. Marmaduke visited Gen. Perdome and Salazar, who welcomed him most cordially. The Colombian gunboats Chucuito and Clapet are under the orders of Capt. Marmaduke, who, as chief commander, will have charge of the Colombian fleet, which he will reorganize in American style.

NEW FLOATING PALACE FOR FALL RIVER LINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—A special from Fall River, Mass., to the World says: Engineers in the employ of a Camden (N. J.) shipbuilding firm have been at work on the steamer Puritan of the Fall River line for two days, taking measurements for a new passenger steamer for the line. The engines will be powerful enough to drive and maintain the vessel at 25 miles an hour. The new vessel will cost $1,750,000.

GREAT STEEL PLANTS FOR ALABAMA SOON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—A special from Birmingham, Ala., to the Times says: "Secretary Schuler of the Alabama Steel and Wire Company today announced that his company would erect at once a big blast iron furnace and a steel plant at Gadsden and later on three other furnaces would be erected at the same place. When all developments proposed by the company have been completed it is estimated that nearly $5,000,000 will have been expended at Gadsden.

RUSSELL SAGE ALMOST ENTIRELY RECOVERED

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—The Sun this morning says: Russell Sage told his doctor last night that he thought he would go downtown today. Dr. Munn said that Mr. Sage had almost completely recovered, but he thought it quite possible that Mr. Sage would not venture out of the house today.

CODY'S SON-IN-LAW DEAD.

Chloroforms Himself Without Leaving Any Explanation of Cause.

SHERIDAN, WYO., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—H. S. Boal, son-in-law of Col. Cody (Buffalo Bill), was found dead in bed here today, a sponge saturated with chloroform tied over his nostrils. Three letters addressed to friends tell of suicide but give no reasons.

Mr. Boal was one of the best known and wealthiest ranchmen in Wyoming. He had just returned from a trip to New York. Mrs. Boal and the two children are in Kansas City, where the children are attending school.

ANOTHER LARGE TRUST COMPANY

Will Have Capital of $2,000,000 and Surplus of $2,000,000.

A SKYSCRAPER SITE

Another large trust company will soon be ready for business in this city. It will have a capital of $2,000,000 and a surplus of $2,000,000. According to the plans of its promoters it will have as strong a board of directors as any financial institution in the city. Five national bank presidents have already consented to go on the board and, in addition to these, there will be 20 leading business men of Pittsburgh and vicinity.

About two months ago a charter was secured at Harrisburg by a prominent banker of the East End for the Penn Savings and Trust Company. W. E. Hildebrand of Fourth avenue has undertaken the organization of the company, and has met with great success. Officials of national banks whose business has been affected to some extent by the large number of trust companies recently organized have shown a willingness to become interested in a trust company with such a large capital and surplus. It is the intention to make the par value of the shares $25 and sell them at $50, thus creating a surplus.

The affairs of the Penn Savings and Trust Company have reached the stage where a firm of architects has been commissioned to draw plans for a 20-story building. The location has not been decided, as the company has several sites in view. One of them is the Alexander Verner property at Fifth avenue and Market street. An offer has been made for it and it may be selected if an agreement can be reached on the price. However, several other locations equally as advantageous for a banking business are under consideration. The plans will be completed within a couple of weeks.

Mr. Hildebrand said yesterday that the directors had nearly all been chosen. He stated that, in the matter of stock, a limit would be placed upon subscriptions, in order that the stock would be distributed among as many people and interests as possible. He would not give the names of any of the directors at present, but admitted that a number of national bank officials were interested and would be on the board.

ROOSEVELT IS 44.

Birthday a Great Occasion for White House Children—Presents by Wagon Loads.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt is 44 years old today. Among the children of the president the day was one of pleasure, inasmuch as it is their custom to celebrate the anniversary and to bestow suitable presents. They did not depart from their custom today. All of them congratulated their father and extended to him joyous and earnest wishes.

The president received presents outside of his immediate family. Several express wagons stopped in front of the temporary White House and the messengers took out armfuls of packages for delivery to attaches of the White House. A number of beautiful floral pieces arrived in the morning.

Messages of congratulation were plentiful. Some came by telegraph, some by cable and others by letter. For four years it has been the custom of the Hungarian club of New York to appoint a committee to wait upon the president and extend best wishes and congratulation. The custom was not neglected today, and the first callers at the White House this morning were the committeemen from the Hungarian club. The president received them with pleasure and acknowledged the congratulation.

ONE THOUSAND COLLEGE STUDENTS GO OUT ON STRIKE IN MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 27.—The students at the Michigan Agricultural college, numbering about 1,000, went on strike today, owing to the suspension of 17 of their number for participation in a freshman-sophomore rush 10 days ago. No classes were held this afternoon. Two years ago when one student left college, permanently injured as the result of a "rush," the faculty issued an edict forbidding such affairs in the future.

Resolutions were drawn up at a mass meeting of the students in the chapel at noon today demanding reinstatement of the suspended students, but the committee that presented the resolutions to President Snyder was informed that the faculty meant to stand firm in its position.

UNION ISSUE IS NOT URGED BY MITCHELL

Question Waived for the Time After Baer Had Raised Objections.

INVESTIGATION OPENS THURSDAY

On That Day Strike Commission Will Go to Scranton to Begin Its Task.

FREE RIDE IS REJECTED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—The anthracite coal strike commission today held its first conference with the parties to the controversy in the anthracite regions. There was a full representation of both operators and miners. The proceedings were given up entirely to a discussion of the time and method of procedure.

The commission decided to begin its work next Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, the first days of the investigation to be devoted to a physical examination of the miners and the homes of the miners, starting in the vicinity of Scranton. The entire anthracite field will be covered.

There was considerable discussion over a proposition made by the commission to have expert accountants audit the statements of wages and classification of miners to be made by the operators for the use of the commission, but no result was reached beyond the announcement by the chairman of the commission's intention to appoint such an accountant in case his services should be found necessary.

Miners' Demands Presented.

Mitchell, as the representative of the miners, presented a copy of the original declaration of the miners as formulated by the Shamokin convention, as the basis of the demands of the miners. This demand is, first, for an increase of 20 per cent in wages of those not engaged by the day; second, a reduction of 20 per cent in working hours by those engaged by the day; third, the payment for coal mined by weight at a minimum rate of 60 cents a ton of 2,240 pounds; fourth, an agreement between the operators and the miners for an adjustment of wages.

Baer, on the part of the coal operators, took exception to Mitchell's appearance before the commission as a representative of the Mine Workers' union, and said that he had no objection to his presence as a representative of the strikers as such in their individual capacity. The commission made no attempt to settle the controversy, but it was made apparent that the recognition of the miners' union will be an important and knotty problem for the arbitrators.

Miners Considered Plaintiffs.

Judge Gray, as chairman, stated that, in accordance with the immemorial practice among English-speaking peoples, the commission would first receive the statements or demands of the miners, who are to be regarded for the purposes of this case as the prosecutors. The reply of the other side would then be heard.

President Mitchell said he had with him the formal demands made by the miners upon the operators, and at the suggestion of Judge Gray he read the statement of the miners' demands adopted by the Shamokin convention, the rejection of which resulted in the strike.

Walter Edward Weyl also was present as a representative of the miners. The hearing room was crowded with the people interested in the case and with spectators.

After Baer objected to the appearance of Mr. Mitchell as a representative of the United Mine Workers of America, Mr. Mitchell replied that was not involved in the case. He said he appeared as a representative of the anthracite coal miners, and distinctly refrained in his reply from mentioning the union.

Miners to File Detailed Claims.

Baer and Thomas suggested to the commission that it proceed at once to the coal fields in order that it might be informed at the outset as to conditions there.

It was agreed that Mitchell should file with the commission next Monday a detailed statement of the claims of the miners. The statement he read today was a preliminary statement of the case.

The representative of the operators announced that they would file an answer to the statement to be filed by Mitchell on Monday within three days of that time.

It was suggested that each side to the controversy appoint an expert to go through the books of the coal companies to secure data upon which to work, but Baer and other representatives of the companies immediately objected, and suggested that they would furnish whatever information is needed. This question precipitated a long discussion, in which the coal president and the miners' representatives took part.

Representation of Independents.

Baer said the operators would be prepared to meet the miners in the region and to assist in giving all information. Many of the individual operators are not represented, and they were not consulted and were not compromised by the letter he had written.

Judge Gray suggested that they could be represented. At the meeting next Monday they would determine which of the companies should be taken up first, and the place of meeting could be determined by the location of the coal company taken up.

Baer said the case of each coal company would be dealt with separately. He would contend for the sliding scale in the regulation of wages.

"I shall urge the adoption of that profit-sharing," he said, "which gave us peace formerly in our relations with our employes."

Thomas, of the Hillside Iron and Coal and the Pennsylvania Coal Company, said he noticed that the word "arbitration" had been applied to the commission's work, while he wanted it considered as an investigation.

Judge Gray said the president's instruction settled it as an arbitration.

Companies to Submit Payrolls.

The suggestion that both sides appoint experts to examine the books of the companies was made by Judge Gray. He said it would be a good plan for the opposing interests to agree that tabulated statements relative to existing rates of wages in different localities of the mining region

AN APPEAL TO MRS. SCHENLEY

Common Council Wants Her to Amend Her Park Grants.

THE "TECH" SCHOOL SITE

Park Property Decided On and Bond Issue Squelched—Women Offer Railroad Suggestions. Other Council Proceedings.

Pittsburgh common council last night adopted the report of the special joint committee recommending the selection of a 21-acre plot in Schenley park, near the Murdock entrance, as the site for the Carnegie polytechnic school, by a vote of 25 to 8. The machine members opposed the park site and followed the lead of Max G. Leslie, who advocated a bond issue of $1,500,000 or more to buy a site outside of the park.

The Citizens' leaders presented arguments showing that the city had too many drains upon its resources at the present time to permit it to increase its indebtedness.

"After thoroughly going over and considering the information at hand," so read the report, "and in view of the financial condition of the city, and its many immediate needs, this committee has decided that it would be ill-advised to submit a bond issue to the people at the present time; and while your committee appreciates the proposed gift of Mr. Carnegie and desires that Pittsburgh should reap the benefits of his generosity, it does not believe that the city is in a position to increase any further indebtedness for any purpose at the present time.

Wants Mrs. Schenley to Amend.

"Your committee would further recommend that councils take such action as they may deem right and proper for the purpose of having Mrs. Schenley so amend her deeds or grant of Schenley park that the proposed 21-acre site can be used for the purpose of the technical school."

The report further stated that it was not the purpose of the committee to diminish the area of Schenley park, but to use the $300,000 remaining in the bond fund for the extension of Schenley park by the purchase of adjacent property. W. H. Stevenson offered an amendment, which was incorporated in the report, authorizing the presidents of the two branches of councils to take steps to secure Mrs. Schenley's consent.

Leslie asserted that it was putting a humiliation upon the city to ask Mrs. Schenley for permission to use a part of her land.

D. F. Crawford, a member of the committee, claimed that it is doubtful if the city could buy a title for the school, as it was an educational institution and would be classed as school property.

Protests against the passage of the six railroad ordinances, introduced in councils at the previous meeting, were presented by W. H. Stevenson in behalf of the Twentieth Century club and the Allegheny County Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Accompanying the resolutions adopted by the Twentieth Century club were a series of recommendations which the club offers as a solution for the problems relating to downtown congestion, inadequate street railway transportation and railroad facilities. The club recommends that instead of the district desired by the railroad and asked for in the ordinances, the railroads use the district lying east of Eleventh street.

The papers from the Daughters of Revolution and the Twentieth Century club were referred to the corporations committee without debate.

Director Leslie Disappointed.

One of Director Leslie's pet projects was unexpectedly killed yesterday afternoon by select council. It was his ordinance providing for the appropriation of $30,000 for the construction of a repair shop for the public safety department. It was defeated by a vote of 13 to 12. The machine members voted for its passage, but they happened to be in the minority.

Director Leslie expressed keen disappointment over the failure. He stated that the $30,000 was to be taken out of the bond issue funds voted three years ago and that it was intended to build the repair shop on property owned by the city in the rear of the public safety building.

Controller Larkin stated that Director Leslie's plan was to pay for the repair shop out of the portion of the bond fund set aside for a municipal hospital, although Director Leslie, the controller said, referred to it as the general public safety fund. "I told Director Leslie that I would not sign the warrant if the ordinance was passed and I intended to keep my word," said the controller.

Among the bills passed by select and messaged to common was Councilman Zahnizer's automobile ordinance regulating the speed of self-propelling machines on the thoroughfares of the city. It was defeated in common.

MRS. ROGERS ON STAND IN MOLINEUX TRIAL

Witness Closely Questioned Regarding Her Relations With Harry Cornish.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Florence Rogers, daughter of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams, of whose murder Roland B. Molineux is accused, was the most conspicuous witness on the stand today. Her appearance attracted an unusual crowd of women, who followed the examination with the keenest attention.

Mrs. Rogers was subjected to a close examination regarding her relations with Harry Cornish, but little that was significant was elicited in this line of inquiry. Mrs. Rogers related the circumstances of her mother's death immediately after taking the poison and identified the glass in which the fatal draught was administered, and from which, she said, she afterward saw Cornish drink.

The greater part of the session was devoted to the examination of handwriting experts, who testified to the identity of specimens of Molineux's admitted handwriting with the address on the poison package and that of the disputed letters.

It was remarked in court after the adjournment that the case for the prosecution would close tomorrow, in which event the case may go to the jury by the end of the week.

Braddock Stable Burned.

The stable of Thomas James, master mechanic at the Edgar Thomson steel works, in Braddock, was destroyed by fire early this morning, with a considerable quantity of hay, feed and harness. Mr. James succeeded in rescuing three horses and one buggy. The horses were badly scorched and may have to be killed. The loss is about $2,000.

RING SCHEME WAS TO INDORSE PATTISON

Explanation That Clears Up Cause of Sunday Night Riot in Labor League.

The defeat of the intention of the Pittsburgh ring to commit the United Labor league to a policy of enmity to the Republican state ticket, was also instrumental on Sunday in showing that the United Labor league was not solid for the ring county ticket as had been asserted. The league, at a meeting at which there was a very small attendance, had declared for some of the candidates on the machine's county ticket, and it was intended to follow up this declaration last Sunday, by committing organized labor to the support of Robert E. Pattison.

It is charged that the preliminary work in this scheme was done by a candidate for the legislature on the machine ticket, one of William Flinn's most slavish adherents. The riot on Sunday precipitated by the machine crowd, put an end to that plan, for when the meeting broke up and the rival factions held separate meetings, the machine followers in the league did not dare to indorse Pattison. They had figured that if Pattison was indorsed at the general meeting, it could be heralded as the united action of the league, but to declare for Pattison at a "rump" meeting would have been too transparent a conspiracy.

It was when the machine's agents learned that any attempt to indorse Pattison would be successfully resisted, that they decided to break up the meeting and prevent the league from rescinding the minority action which had formerly indorsed a portion of the ring county ticket.

There is a good deal of opposition among organized labor to the political activity of some of the business agents. These men are selected for the position they fill on account of their supposed practical knowledge of how to deal with business men, but lately some of them have considered themselves so representative of union labor sentiment that they have tried to "swing" their unions to the Pittsburgh machine. A movement is now on foot among the unions to discipline these business agents and teach them that, while in supporting the machine they may show good knowledge of business beneficial to themselves, that they are not representative of union sentiment.

be taken from the books of the operators by two expert accountants, one to be named by each party, such accountants to be employes of the commission.

Baer, after expressing his disclination to accept this suggestion, said his company would submit their payrolls under oath of their accountant. He said they have 70 clerks who are working day and night in compiling data for the commission.

Mitchell said that it would facilitate the work of the commission if it would accept a general statement on those issues that affect all the companies and the mine workers alike, for instance, the question of shorter hours.

Truesdale said his company has a plan by which it was hoped to speedily adjust the differences between his company and the men. This plan is for the miners to appoint a committee to meet a committee of his company and discuss their grievances, and if there are any such that could not be settled, then those issues should go before the commission for final arbitration.

Miners Not Insistent on Figures.

Dr. Weyl, for the miners, said that if the suggestions of the chairman are accepted, Mitchell and himself would not present the statistics they had prepared, because they were ready to concede that these figures were not as full and correct as they would be if taken from the company's books. President Baer, however, thought that these statistics would be a check on the companies' pay roll and should be presented.

Mitchell responded that he would not be insistent on the subject, and turning to Baer said:

"If we are able to agree as to what rates are paid for different classes of workmen, their monthly and annual earnings, that would form a basis of any arguments that might be made on either side."

Judge Gray expressed the opinion that it would be a criminal waste of time to dispute over facts that could be veritably and accurately ascertained without dispute.

"When once ascertained," said he, "their interpretation is another thing."

Mitchell again said it was his desire to facilitate matters, and that there should be mutual agreement on the facts, and that controversies should be eliminated if possible.

Modified Suggestion Accepted.

"That is the only object we have in view," said he, "in asking that the rates of wages, as shown by the companies' books, be verified in advance."

Baer responded by saying that the men would know whether the companies' payrolls were right, and that no issue would arise on that subject.

After further controversy, Judge Gray modified his suggestion, this time presenting it in the shape of a proposition that only one expert accountant be appointed, who should analyze the statement made by both sides to the controversy and verify the facts for the consideration of the commission. Baer promptly accepted this suggestion, and Mitchell followed suit.

President Gray then announced that the commission for the present would proceed without appointing an expert, but that it would require that statements should be prepared, and then, he added, an accountant could be secured in case it was found his services were needed.

The question of the examination by the commission into the conditions under which the mining of anthracite coal is conducted, was then entered on. Watkins of the commission, suggested that a week or 10 days' time would be necessary. Baer also fell in with the suggestion.

Commission Rejects Free Ride.

Mitchell thought that not only should there be an inspection of the mines, but also of the homes of the miners.

President Gray announced that it would begin its inspection next Thursday, commencing its work in District No. 1, in which Scranton is located.

Baer said the operators would furnish all facilities at their command to enable the commission to make its investigation through, adding that they would place a special train at the disposal of the commission, providing also for the accommodation of a representative of the miners.

The public meeting of the commission then came to a close and the commissioners retired for private consultation. The commissioners decided to personally pay all of their expenses, accepting no favors and relying on the government to reimburse them if so disposed.

PROTEST TO ROOSEVELT.

Democrats Accuse Federal Officials of Political Activity.

PIEDMONT, W. VA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—It is learned from an authentic source that the Democratic congressional committee of this district has forwarded to President Roosevelt charges against the Hon. Thomas E. Davis of Parkersburg, collector of internal revenue for West Virginia, and Maj. Charles D. Elliott, United States marshal, for political activity.

The charges, it is understood, have been fortified by an affidavit that both officials have neglected the duties of their offices, and have been perniciously active in political affairs.

STILL ON THE MARKET.

WAS FATALLY SHOT IN DRUNKEN FIGHT

Intoxicated Miners Allowed Wounded Man to Lay Alone on Floor All Night.

During a drunken fight among Italians in a boarding house at Gascoale station, on the Bessemer railroad, Sunday night Michael Elziot, an Italian employed in the mines of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company, was fatally shot in the back. It is not known who did the shooting, as the room in which the men were fighting was crowded at the time and the miners refused to tell about the affair.

The shooting of Elziot stopped the trouble, but no one seemed to understand that he was dangerously wounded or did not care. Elziot was allowed to lie on the floor without any attention until yesterday morning, when Drs. W. F. Plattner and E. A. Hofman were called to dress Elziot's wounds.

When the physicians returned from Gascoale station they reported Elziot's condition critical and said that they had been compelled to leave him in his boarding house. The doctors said it was impossible to have the man removed to a hospital and that he would probably die.

SCHOEPF'S COMBINE SEEKS OTHER FIELDS

Story That It Proposes Trolley System Covering Indiana and Reaching Chicago.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—The organization of the Cincinnati Terminal Company, along lines similar to the Indianapolis Terminal Company, and the combination of the Ohio traction lines of the Mandelbaum-Pomeroy syndicate and the Widener-Elkins syndicate, is believed to indicate the approach of a great traction syndicate, comprising these lines and the Indiana properties of the Widener-Elkins people.

This, with proposed extensions, would give traction connections between Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Chicago and a network of lines throughout the country adjacent to Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

It is believed that the combination is trying quietly to obtain control of all the Indiana traction lines. If it succeeds it will be the largest traction system in the country.

AFRICAN CONFERENCE APPOINTMENTS MADE

Announced by Bishop Small—Hot Debate on State of Country—Lights Out.

The African Methodist Episcopal Zion conference, which has been in session in the John Wesley church in Arthur street, for the past few days, adjourned after midnight to meet on the third Wednesday in September, 1903, at Johnstown, Pa. The closing session was the liveliest held during the conference and before adjournment was taken the appointments were announced by Bishop J. B. Small.

During the session the lights went out, the slot meter in the cellar refusing to supply more gas until 25 cents had been placed in the machine. This caused an uproar for nearly half an hour, until the janitor could be found and the meter fed with the necessary cash.

At the night session the report of the committee on state of country was responsible for a fiery debate in which considerable feeling was shown. The report itself was of an exceedingly mild character.

At 12:15 this morning Bishop Small announced the following appointments:

Pennsylvania district—Presiding elder, W. H. Pringle; John Wesley church, the Rev. J. C. Temple; Homewood, H. S. Jones; West End and Oakmont, B. Hodge; Mt. Washington, M. Madden; Scottdale, S. H. Simmons; Mt. Pleasant, J. T. Moore; Uniontown, P. J. McIntosh; Johnstown, M. S. Kell; Bradford, J. E. Dishrone; Lewistown and Huntingdon, B. Dorsey; Hollidaysburg, J. W. Boyd; Blairsville, G. E. Burleigh; Meyersdale, R. Brown; Connellsville, C. H. Braxton; Apollo, T. W. Wyan; Altoona, B. F. Feidon; Smithfield and Fairchance, W. Rainey.

Ohio district—Presiding elder, G. W. Lewis; Avery Mission, Allegheny, J. H. Anderson; Sewickley, D. T. Bradley; Carnegie, H. S. Hicks; Franklin, T. H. Slater; New Castle, G. W. Kincaid; Bridgewater, G. J. Hawks; Washington, Pa., to be supplied; Lisbon, O., E. F. Cornbash; Salem, O., to be supplied; Massillon, J. S. Simpson; Youngstown, to be supplied; Oakdale, E. B. Smith; Cornopolis, J. H. Trimble; Akron, J. E. Little; Bellevue, Jane Goin; Mercer, E. P. Fleagonas; Cleveland, M. C. Brown; Sharon, A. B. Crockett.

"MUDDY WATER" MEETING FROSTY

Despite Presence of F. S. Monnett as Star Speaker, but Few Turn Out.

AVOIDED LOCAL ISSUES

Ohioan Spoke Mainly on Private Ownership of Public Property and Urged Enactment of Initiative and Referendum.

That standing joke of James F. Grimes', the Ballot Reform party, more popularly known as the "muddy water outfit," got reckless again last night and spent a lot of money for a brass band and red fire to help along a meeting in Old City hall. Frank S. Monnett, former attorney general of Ohio, was the "head liner," and he made a masterly address to about 300 men, who applauded at intervals on a signal given by W. J. Burke, who presided.

Mr. Monnett was plainly disappointed in his audience, both as to numbers and caliber, and it was evident that he had been brought from his home in Columbus under a misapprehension of what he was going to be up against.

The burden of Mr. Monnett's speech was against millionaires in general and Rockefeller, Morgan and Carnegie in particular. Mr. Monnett addressed himself to the gathering as follows: "Mr. Chairman, gentlemen of the federated labor associations of Pittsburgh, members of the Democratic party and independent voters generally."

Mr. Monnett attacked the granting of public franchises to the individual and said: "If a man or a company of men cross your domain without having the right to do so, you may take a man's life in protecting that property. But if they go to the secretary of state and sign a piece of paper they have a new power; they have the power to do something they could not do themselves; they have the power of the state and they take your property by right of eminent domain.

"We fled from the right of the concentration of property in the eldest son, and for fear that a man who had accumulated by the labor of 50 years a few thousand dollars might transmit that to his eldest son and thus concentrate property, we put into the constitution of the United States that no state could ever permit the right of inheritance of all the property to the eldest son. But there is a condition attached to this power that we have given to the state to take private property. It must take that property for public use and private gain. We have fled from King George and placed the power in the hands of Kings Morgan, Carnegie and Rockefeller."

In conclusion Mr. Monett said: "I have a telegram tonight from your candidate for governor, Robert E. Pattison. He says that he will sign any bill that the legislature elected by you will pass, giving to us that law of South Dakota that you know as the initiative and referendum, and if we have the initiative and referendum in Pittsburgh, and you are willing to give the 5-cent fare, and if you are willing to be robbed by one or two men, that is your business; but if you wish to build your own colleges and your own libraries and hospitals out of your own money, after you have the initiative and referendum, you can do so."

THE NEW J. & L. ROAD.

What Is Supposed to Be the Ohio End of the New Venture Organized.

A dispatch from Youngstown gives some information concerning what is said to be the organization of the Ohio end of the proposed Jones & Laughlin road from Pittsburgh to Lake Erie. It is to be known as the Ohio & Eastern Railroad Company and has a capital stock of $1,000. The incorporation of the company, it is said, was effected several days ago, but the fact was kept secret. The board of directors, it is said, will be: George I. Fordyce, W. B. Hall, A. E. Adams, O. U. Cassidy and David E. Davis, all Youngstown men. The officers said to have been elected are: George L. Fordyce president, W. E. Hall secretary. The meeting was held at Girard.

It was intimated after the meeting by one interested, that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company may never build the road, but has gone thus far with its organization for the purpose of influencing some of the roads entering Pittsburgh.

NAMES OF 138 HAVE BEEN STRICKEN OFF

Move of Citizens Party to Clear an Allegheny Registry List, Eminently Successful.

A hearing was held yesterday before Judge Robert S. Frazer in the matter of the petition of Andrew L. Robinson and others for the correction of the registry list of the First district, Fourth ward, Allegheny. The petitioners belong to the Citizens party and allege that the list contains the names of 150 persons who are not legal voters in the district.

J. A. Beemer, the register assessor and respondent, answered that when he made up his list last May the persons in question were residents of the ward, mostly living in boarding houses, but a recent investigation developed that all, excepting 12, had changed their residences. His counsel agreed to striking all but these 12 names from the disputed list.

Judge Frazer directed counsel to prepare an order removing all but 12 from the list and if any of the 12 are proved to be on incorrectly they will be included in the order. The matter will be taken up again this afternoon.

had not really been dissolved, and if it had, whether the heirs of the deceased members of those who had withdrawn from the society were not then entitled to a share of the property, should not have been considered by the court, notwithstanding the concurrence of the courts of Pennsylvania otherwise. He believed that point should have been considered and a decision rendered thereon.

CHARLES W. METZGAR.

Duss Hears the News.

BOSTON, MASS., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—News brought to Conductor John Duss last evening, during his first concert in this city, cannot but make him remember his debut in Boston with pleasure. During one of the intermissions he was told that the United States supreme court had decided in his favor. At the conclusion of his concert Mr. Duss said:

"I am not surprised to learn of the decision, but I know that the longer the fight goes on the less will be the funds left in the community. When the head trustee died and I was made administrator, the society was generally supposed to be worth some $4,000,000 or $5,000,000, but on investigation I ascertained that Father Henrici had engaged in every conceivable sort of speculation, and that the society really owned about $1,500,000.

"There is little in Economy now, and, if, as I say, this contention is kept up much longer, there won't be any."

Mr. Duss received a great many telegrams of congratulation on the outcome of the case from friends all over Pennsylvania.

One Killed, Two Injured.

Michael Cheniski, 23 years old, of Carnegie, had his skull crushed and John Madden, 40 years old, and Steve Linblast, both of Carnegie, were seriously injured in the Sheraden yards of the Panhandle railroad yesterday morning. It is alleged the accident resulted through carelessness on the part of a shifting crew while the three men were repairing a wrecked car.

LARGEST PIANO DEALER BETWEEN N. Y. AND CHICAGO

The Merchant Who Can Truthfully Claim This Distinction Is W. F. Frederick, 633 Smithfield St., Pittsburgh.

That we have the largest store and twice over the largest stock in this city means something to you, Mr. Buyer. It means that when you buy a piano here you buy from the dealer whose position in the mercantile world enables him to select for himself the pianos he will handle.

We have chosen the peerless, the supreme—the conceded premier of all pianos, the Chickering, as our leader. Of high grade pianos the highest—of pianos, the most of artistic and technical merit, the most noted. We have chosen the Hardman, the best value—the best all-round piano—the piano which actually grows better after years of service. We have chosen the Kroeger, the McPhail, the Haines & Co., and others, because they are the most worthy pianos made.

Buying here you have absolute assurance of the perfection of the instrument you select. If you feel that you must trust largely to the dealer, you cannot have greater assurance of getting your money's worth, than you have in the fact that one dealer controls the sale of Chickering, Hardman and all the other famous instruments that make up our list. To have the confidence of such manufacturers means not only reliability, but means we are known to have an outlet for pianos greater than any other dealer between New York and Chicago. Such manufacturers as Chickering Sons, who, by the way, originated the system of exclusive agencies, sell only through the largest dealers in the country.

Now we invite you to inspect our New Holiday Stock.

We invite you to inspect the largest collection of the most beautiful instruments ever produced. You are invited to come and view them, whether you are in the market for a piano or not. It is a pleasure to show these pianos, and we will esteem it a pleasure to have a continual stream of visitors. This show is worth going to see.

We await your coming. FREDERICK, 633 Smithfield st., entire building. G. Schroeder, Mgr.

Sole agency for Chickering, Hardman, Kroeger, Behr Bros., McPhail, Haines & Co., and other pianos. Estey and Mason & Hamlin Organs and Chase & Baker Piano Player. Bargains at all times in used pianos taken in exchange.

DUNCAN MAY BE LET OUT ON BAIL

Court Will Probably Be Asked to Fix Amount Today.

CARTER WILL FIGHT THIS

Bruce Head's Half-Brother Said to Have Hired Counsel to Protest Against Such Actions Until Victim Is Out of Danger.

An attempt will, in all probability, be made today to have Dr. Ellis Duncan, who shot Bruce Head at the Greentree camp of Kenefick & Co. last Tuesday night, released from jail on heavy bail.

John B. Carter, general manager of Kenefick & Co., and a half-brother of Head's, will fight every attempt that may be made to have Duncan released on bail until Dr. R. L. Walker, Jr., has pronounced his patient entirely out of danger.

When it became known at Greentree camp late last night that Dr. Louis Frank, a surgeon of Louisville, was in Pittsburgh there was some little excitement. Dr. Frank was expected to visit the camp last night, but he did not go out.

The Louisville surgeon was the authority for the statement last night that he would visit the camp early this morning, and if permitted the courtesy by Dr. Walker would make a thorough examination of Head.

Dr. Frank a Friend of Both Men.

Dr. Frank came to Pittsburgh yesterday from New York, where he has been on a professional mission. He stopped off to see both Duncan and Head, because he has known them for many years. Dr. Frank has charge of the medical and surgical departments of the Kentucky university at Louisville.

It is believed if Dr. Frank is permitted to make a thorough examination of Head he will be prepared to go on the stand when the application for Duncan's release is made and give expert testimony.

Dr. R. L. Walker, Jr., when informed late last night that Dr. Frank would probably ask to examine his patient, said: "We are always glad, at any time, to see any surgeon, and it will give me much pleasure to see Dr. Frank and have him examine Head. We have prominent physicians and surgeons in Pittsburgh who have examined my patient, and several of them are already well acquainted with the case."

Col. W. H. McClure, an uncle of Dr. Duncan, who came here from Louisville last week to help his nephew, stated last night that he was prepared to furnish any amount of bail from $5,000 to $50,000 for Dr. Duncan.

Duncan to Go to Louisville.

Col. McClure seemed perfectly confident that Head would be much better today and believes the courts will allow Duncan to be released. If Duncan is allowed to go on bail it is likely that he and Col. McClure will start for Louisville as soon after the release is granted as possible.

Bruce Head spent a very good day yesterday in his little hut at the Greentree camp. He slept much of the time and Dr. Walker was not with him as much as he has been on many other days since Head was shot.

W. W. Warren, one of the employes of Kenefick & Co., and one of Head's confidential friends, visited him for a half hour yesterday afternoon. After he came from his room he said Bruce seemed much better and he had strong hopes of his recovery.

Warren said Head did not attempt to talk to him, but when he asked him how he felt, he pointed his finger to his neck and intimated that quite a little pain was there. The bullet from Duncan's revolver is still located in Head's neck.

Head Gets Many Flowers.

Joe Brown Jones, Head's colored servant, spent the entire day with him. Only once did Head attempt to talk. It was when new bandages were being placed on his head and a fresh amount of absorbant cotton was being put into his mouth that he said:

"Joe, are you sorry I'm hurt?"

"Indeed I is, sah," was the colored man's reply and Head did not say anything further.

The little room in which Bruce Head lies is filled with fragrant, beautiful flowers. The first consignment came on Sunday and yesterday this was augmented by another lot. The flowers are of almost every variety and include American beauty roses, chrysanthemums and carnations. Several large potted plants have also been sent in.

All the bouquets are accompanied by little notes of sympathy for the injured man, with expressions that he will speedily recover. The donors are friends of Head in Crafton, the West End, Carnegie and Pittsburgh.

Several peculiar incidents have occurred near the camp in the past 24 hours. Late Sunday night as "El" Palm, A Swedish draughtsman, was returning to Greentree from Pittsburgh, he was held up and robbed at almost the same spot where Duncan shot his victim last Tuesday night.

Three Hold-Ups Near Greentree.

Palm, who can speak very little English, was walking at a rapid rate toward camp when three burly colored men held him up and relieved him of $14 in money, his silver watch, gold chain and fountain pen, and then kicked him.

An hour after Palm's hold-up J. W. Leak, a prominent farmer of the Greentree section, was held up in the same spot and by the same gang and relieved of $40 in cash. A West End butcher was also the victim of a gang on the Washington plank road Sunday night and lost between $22 and $30 and his watch and chain.

LIGHT ON THE JURY WHEEL APPRECIATED

Strong Demand Made for the Report of Citizens Party's Exposures.

"The interest taken by the people in the exposures by the Citizens committee of the stuffing of the jury wheel is very gratifying," said Dr. Cadwallader Evans, chairman of the Citizens party executive committee, last night. "Various reasons have been given for the state of affairs disclosed, but the one most generally assigned, is that the wheel is used to pay small political debts in ring wards, a man not influential enough to get a permanent job being rewarded with two weeks on the jury.

"This is shown by the fact that the excess jurors in the wheel are all taken up by ring wards, the first 14 wards having 357 more jurors than they are entitled to on average of 25 to every ward. They then skip to the Nineteenth ward, Flinn's own, which has an excess of 33 jurors; then to the Twenty-third, with an excess of 40; the Twenty-fourth, excess 27, and the Twenty-ninth, excess 17, an average excess of 29 for each of these wards.

"Here are 18 wards evidently selected to be favored, for they have 503 jurors more than entitled to, or an average of 28 to each ward. While these wards fare well, nine other wards are 127 jurors short of their quota, and by a singular coincidence they are independent wards.

Among the nine the great Twentieth is short 34, the Twenty-first 27, and the Twenty-seventh 23.

"Having started out to hold office by brute force the ring naturally ransacked, like the midnight burglar, every nook and corner for places to put the persons they have obligated to them under pay, and the search naturally revealed the jury wheel and the pittance of jurors pay to use with needy adherents not figured, nor estimated, nor labelled to be worth more.

ST. LOUIS DELEGATES ASK CHANGE OF VENUE

Col. Ed Butler Also Objects to Being Tried by Judge Ryan.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—The cases of 16 former members of the house of delegates indicted jointly on the charge of bribery in connection with the passage of the suburban franchise bill, were called for trial in criminal court today.

Circuit Attorney Folk announced that the state was ready. Separate trials were asked for by the majority of the defendants. The case of Edward Bersch was called. Attorney Krum, for the defense, made a motion to disqualify Judge Douglass, and the special jury was sent to Judge Ryan of the circuit court. Bersch's attorneys filed a motion for a change of venue. Judge Ryan announced that he would hear arguments in regard to the application tomorrow.

The case of Col. Edward Butler, charged with bribery, was also called in the circuit court. The defense stated that a change of venue, outside of St. Louis was desired. Judge Ryan ordered the defense to file formal application for change of venue and passed the case, saying he would set the date later.

As Old Age Creeps On

Men and Women Can Keep Themselves Hale, Vigorous and Happy by Using

Paine's Celery Compound

The human system in old age must have a sufficient store of nervous energy, and rich, nourishing blood, so that the liver and kidneys may be kept in perfect action, and the body free from pain. Paine's Celery Compound is the true invigorator when old age creeps on and the vital powers commence to fail. Paine's Celery Compound gives the needed stimulus to digestion and assimilation that the system requires; it maintains a regular supply of pure blood, and removes such troubles as rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous weakness, heart palpitation, liver complaint and digestive disturbances, that make the lives of old people miserable. Rev. John Rice, Scotch Grove, Iowa, says—

"My wife and I have used two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound with great advantage to our general health. It cured her rheumatism and proved a good regulator of the system in general and a tonic for the nerves. In my own case I have found it a cure for kidney trouble arising from old age, as I am now in my 75th year. In this trouble it has given me almost instant relief."

GUTHRIE'S VOICE IS AGAIN LIFTED

East End Partisans Gave Him Welcoming Cheers Last Night.

BRIBERY CHARGES MADE

Young Philadelphian Makes Indefinite Reply to Quay's Challenge, but Is Hazy on Important Point.

George W. Guthrie, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, addressed a meeting of the Democracy at Kenwood lawn last night. The meeting was purely in the interest of the state Democracy, and there was, therefore, considerable difference between that gathering and the recent meeting held in the interest of the Citizens ticket, when Democrats and Republicans spoke from the same platform. Mr. Guthrie's audience of Democrats numbered just 333. The meeting made up in enthusiasm for what it lacked in numbers.

Mr. Guthrie got an enthusiastic reception. Every time his name was mentioned the audience broke into applause, and when Mr. Guthrie stepped forward to speak he was applauded and cheered heartily for several minutes.

The occasion was marked by sensational utterances by J. Burwood Daly, a young Philadelphian, who not only made the charge that legislators had been bribed to vote for Marshall for speaker, and Quay for senator at the last session of the legislature, but named a man who, he said, was bribed. Although Mr. Daly said he was willing to answer in any court of law, he was somewhat hazy as to the name of the alleged bribetaker he referred to.

Daly Mixed Upon Names.

In his speech he uttered the name plainly and emphatically, but when asked about it after he sat down, he wavered between two names, not being positive which was the right one, although he was certain as to the politics of the man, who, he said, was a Democrat. His name is either Galvin or Garvin, Mr. Daly does not know which, but he comes from the southern district of Schuylkill county, so he says.

These are the words in which Daly made his charge: "A few days ago Senator Quay made a speech in Carnegie hall, Pittsburgh, in which he challenged anyone to name a member of the legislature who had been bribed to vote for Marshall for speaker of the house, and Quay for senator. Now, I want the newspaper men to pay particular attention to what I am about to say, for I am going to answer Senator Quay and name a man who was bribed. The member from the southern district of Schuylkill county, a Democrat, Garvin is his name, was promised $10,000 to vote for Marshall for speaker and Quay for senator. He voted for Marshall, and because he had not yet got all the money and to get the other $5,000, although Senator Quay asked him not to vote for him, he voted for Quay for senator on the roll call, which the records will show.

Talked Like a Man With Money.

"I know whereof I am talking, and if Senator Quay desires I will confront him with the man who can prove the truth of the charge I have just made. I know what it means to make this charge, and I am ready at any time to answer for it and back up my words and prove it in any court in the commonwealth."

In Smull's Legislative Handbook for 1902 there is only one Garvin named as a member of the legislature. His name is Madison A. Garvin, and he represents Adams county. William J. Garvin represents the First district of Schuylkill county.

The meeting last night was called to order by R. W. Guthrie, the chairman of the East End Democratic association. Thomas B. Alcorn, the Democratic county chairman, was named as chairman of the meeting. John B. Head of Greensburg was the first speaker. He said that Robert E. Pattison had "acquired the habit of being an honest governor."

Guthrie's Voice Is Good.

Mr. Guthrie was in good voice, his arduous speaking tour through 56 counties of the state not having affected him in the least. He said he was glad to be back in Pittsburgh and to bring to his hearers the information that the people of the state had become aroused over the wrongs done them, and had deep in their hearts the resolution to free themselves and the state from the "corrupt and corrupting rule" of the Republicans. The Republicans had done several bad things, Mr. Guthrie said, having even "tampered with the administration of justice." He declared that Republican rule in the state contrasted very unfavorably with the government founded by "our fathers."

He repeated the burden of the sad refrain he has been voicing all over the state that John P. Elkin had the majority of the delegates to the Republican state convention. He spoke of "election frauds" in Philadelphia, and replied to an inquisitive auditor that the election laws would be enforced in Philadelphia at the coming election. Mr. Guthrie declared that under Pattison's administration there had been the greatest reduction of the state debt ever known, and that since Pattison went out of office only $18,000 of the remaining state debt had been paid, and that if the sinking fund had not been kept in cash the debt would have been absolutely wiped out.

QUAY RETURNS EAST AND GOES TO NEW YORK

Pattison People Concede Defeat, but Prepare to Cry "Fraud" as Usual.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 27.

Chairman Quay returned from Pittsburgh this morning. On the Allegheny county situation he said: "Pennypacker's majority will be very satisfactory to the Republicans."

There were many callers but few saw the senator, he being too busy to discuss matters not of pressing importance. At 1 o'clock he left for New York.

Privately the Pattison people concede the election of the Republican state ticket by majorities ranging from 75,000 to 100,000. They will not wager that the judge will not carry the state by more than the maximum estimate given, but, as usual, predicate this result upon "fraud." Semi-annually for seven years the Wanamaker outfit has met defeat. The only excuse ever offered was "fraud."

City Treasurer Moore, the newly-elected president, has issued a circular to the officers and members of the National Republican league urging every effort to bring about the election of Republican members of congress. The appeal of Mr. Moore is the result of his recent visits to President Roosevelt and Chairman Babcock of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

It was rumored here tonight that Senator Flinn of Pittsburgh had decided to support Judge Pennypacker. No confirmation could be had.

Secretary Andrews, who has been ill for a week, returned to his work at state headquarters.

Senator Quay and other political leaders probably will go to Florida soon after election, perhaps next week. Commissioner Durham, Senator Penrose, James P. McNichol, Senator John M. Scott, Councilman Charles Seger and Harbormaster Klemmer will compose the local party. They have a new club house near Quay's bungalow on the Indian river.

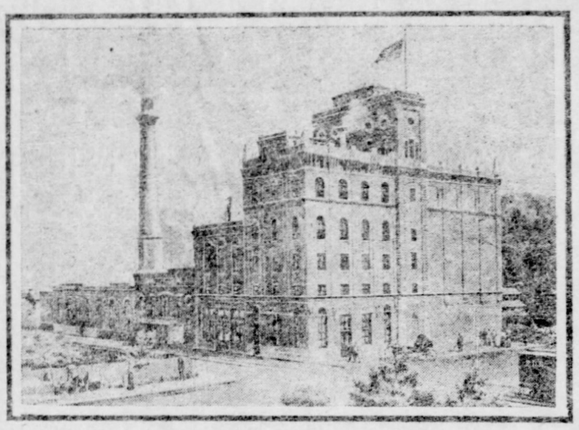
MODERN, WELL EQUIPPED BREWERY TO BE OPERATED SOON AT CARNEGIE



New Plant of the Chartiers Valley Brewing Company.

Carnegie is soon to have one of the most modern and best equipped breweries in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. It will belong to the Chartiers Valley Brewing Company and will cost $350,000. The illustration gives an excellent idea of the building, the main portion of which is five stories high with a tower seven stories high. The dimensions are 140x250 feet. The building has a steel frame and the walls are of pressed brick with stone trimmings. It is strictly fireproof throughout. In addition to having its own heat, light, power and ice plants, the brewery will have a splendid supply of water from four artesian wells drilled within its walls. The latest and most approved machinery is being installed and when the brewery is ready for operation, about January 1, it will have an annual capacity of 85,000 barrels.

As soon as the brewery proper is completed the company expects to put up an office building and stables, at a cost of $50,000. The brewery building was designed by Architect Oscar Beyer of Chicago and was built by Contractors Dushane & Lewis of Carnegie, under the personal supervision of Architect Max Bruening of this city. It will be operated independent of the trust.

The officers of the company are: President, Cyrus Ferguson, McDonald; vice president, A. W. McMillen, Carnegie; secretary and treasurer, W. F. Sossong, Carnegie; manager, William Borgman, Carnegie.

AGED BLIND MAN WAS MURDERED

John P. Schafer, a Mt. Oliver Brush Maker, Shot by His Brother-in-Law.

ENVY LED TO TRAGEDY

John Peter Schafer, aged 60, a blind brushmaker of Mt. Oliver, died at 8 o'clock last night at the South Side hospital from bullet wounds inflicted by his brother-in-law, George Meyer, a glassblower.

A fancied debt believed by Meyer to be due him was the cause of the shooting, which occurred at Schafer's home in Arlington avenue, Mt. Oliver, at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The blind man had recognized his brother-in-law's voice and was in the act of extending his hand in greeting when he was shot twice in the stomach.

Meyer attempted to escape. A messenger boy witnessed the deed and followed him down Arlington avenue. The man still flourished his revolver and had gained some distance when the boy hailed a Hill Top traction car and Meyer was soon overtaken. He was captured by Conductor James Slattery and taken before Justice G. A. Conrad, who committed him to jail.

Story of the Shooting.

Schafer was one of the best known German residents of the South Side. Forty years ago he was stricken blind by a fever, and since that time supported himself by making brushes. He was unmarried and made his home with his brother, George Schafer. A sister of the Schafers married Meyer. They lived in Carey alley, near South Twenty-second street.

George Schafer, who was a witness of the tragedy, said that Meyer was seen in front of his house early yesterday morning. He had not been on good terms with the family for many years, and his appearance caused surprise. Schafer said that jealousy of his brother-in-law's good name undoubtedly caused Meyer to plot against the blind man's life. After passing the house Meyer went to a saloon and remained until after 10 o'clock.

"He came into the yard," said Schafer, "and advanced to the spot where my brother stood. The sound of footsteps caused my blind brother to halt and turn around, thinking that some of the neighbors had come to call upon him. 'How about the money?' said Meyer. My brother recognized the voice and advanced to greet Meyer. The next moment I heard a shot and Peter fell.

Two Witnessed the Murder.

"When I turned around Meyer held me at bay with his drawn revolver. I ran toward the rear of the yard to get an ax, when Meyer fired again. My brother was suffering terrible agony, and I ran to his aid, letting the murderer escape."

Dr. W. H. McCombs, who was standing in front of the house, waiting for a street car, also witnessed the shooting and assisted the wounded man into the house. The physician saw that there was little hope for Shafer and called a carriage to take him to the hospital.

Meyer manifested the most absolute indifference after his arrest and refused to tell what prompted the crime. George Schafer said last night that his brother was in debt to no one, and that Meyer could have been prompted by no motive than that of envy. Meyer has a family of several small children. Mrs. Meyer was prostrated by her brother's murder.

WHAT A SAMPLE BOTTLE OF SWAMP-ROOT DID.

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will do for YOU, Every Reader of "The Gazette" May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Free by Mail.

W. F. Lohnes, a prominent business man of Springfield, Ohio, writes the following strong indorsement of the great kidney remedy, Swamp-Root, to the Editor of the Springfield, Ohio, Republic:

Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 21st, 1901.

"Having heard that you could procure a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, I wrote to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle and it was promptly sent. I was so pleased after trying the sample bottle that I sent to the drug store and procured a supply. I have used Swamp-Root regularly for some time, and consider it unsurpassed as a remedy for torpid liver, loss of appetite and general derangement of the digestive functions. I think my trouble was due to too close confinement in my business. I can recommend it highly for all liver and kidney complaints. I am not in the habit of indorsing any medicine, but in this case I cannot speak too much in praise of what Swamp Root has done for me."

(W. F. Lohnes.)
43½ West High Street. W. F. Lohnes.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

EDITORIAL NOTE.—If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the wonderful discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful remedy, Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root, and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women who owe their good health, in fact their very lives, to the great curative properties of Swamp-Root. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read this generous offer in The Pittsburgh "Daily Gazette."

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Don't Forget That Chrismas Piano—It's Best to Select It at Once

Though Indian summer lingers, prudent people have not forgotten that the Christmas season is not far away—only a few short weeks—and with wise forethought they have begun to select the gifts with which to gladden the hearts of their friends. At Hamilton's old reliable music house the tide of Christmas shoppers has already set in. They appreciate the advantage of having a large stock to select from and time to examine and compare the merits of the various instruments.

Pianos are naturally receiving the greater share of attention, but there is also a big demand for music boxes and the smaller musical instruments of all kinds. The display at Hamilton's was never more attractive nor the number of early Christmas shoppers so great.

Among the pianos the one that attracts the most attention is, of course, the A. B. Chase. This magnificent instrument at once captures the hearts of all who see and hear it. It represents the highest pinnacle yet reached in the art of piano making. It is scientifically and artistically perfect. The supremacy of the A. B. Chase is never questioned by competent judges. Because of its recognized position the place of honor is given it at Hamilton's, the largest music house in the state.

Hamilton's stock includes a number of other worthy and popular pianos. Among these none is better known or more favorably regarded than the great Fischer piano, of which there are now over 115,000 in use. The Schumann is another favorite and the Smith & Barnes and the Hamilton are justly popular.

Every instrument in this splendid stock is guaranteed. The prices range from $175 up. And no matter whether you buy one of the lowest priced instruments or the most elegant piano in the stock you will be delighted with your purchase and can feel assured that you have obtained the greatest possible value for your outlay.

Easy terms of payment for those who prefer to buy on time.

In Reading of All Kinds of Under-Priced Goods in this series of special sales with which we close October, be pleased to remember it these times when many people want the best that money can buy, that that best is here no matter in what shape it is desirable to have it—the best from the Old World, the best this country produces.

And always at lower prices.

The Manufacturer's Remnants of Dress Goods that went on sale yesterday morning was the biggest kind of an event for this time of year. And women appreciated it. Because pieces happen to be short ends of what a manufacturer had left does not suggest that quality has been taken out of the goods. They are just as perfect as if they had been cut from the full piece, and just as new and good.

The short ends of new suitings and the plainer fabrics have been reinforced today by remnants of Crepe and Voiles, many of these pieces just the right length for the smart waists.

$1.50 a yard ends of Crepes and Voiles, 75c a yard.

$1.25 a yard ends of plain weave dress goods, 62½c a yard.

$1 and 85c a yard ends of Suitings—many patterns—50c a yard.

In the above there is about every color that women can call for, and, of course, the always popular black is present.

Women's Dressing Sacques.

Cold weather lurking 'round the corner brings thoughts of eiderdown—warm and light. Dressing Sacques of two kinds of eiderdown—plain and rippled.

Mention of the lowest priced:

Dressing Sacques of plain eiderdown—pink, blue, red and gray—crochet edge and ribbon ties, 75c. Unless you wanted to kill time you would hardly undertake to make a Dressing Sacque like this for the price.

Dressing Sacques of rippled eiderdown, crochet edge, collar finished with satin ribbon ties. All colors, $1.

If your notion runs to finer and costlier Dressing Sacques you will find them—up to those exquisite Paris productions.

Dandy Shoe Shiners.

Save you $50 a year and lots of time, besides avoiding the friction of a hot temper. Attach it to the wall—anywhere out of the way—no dust or dirt. On sale in the Basement Department of household sundries.

One Shiner, 3 Lasts, one box Blacking, complete, 75c.

More News of Cotton Waists.

Every day we welcome new arrivals in Flannel, Mohair, Wool Crash, Silk and Cotton, but none of them are we so glad to see as the new Cotton Waists. Never was there such demand for this sensibly designed Waist. The wonder is Cotton materials were never before used—in Fall and Winter.

Heavy Cotton Waists in Bedford Cloth, besprinkled with polka dots of red, blue and black—pleated front and back—stock collar of pique—Bishop sleeves—$2.

Pique Cotton Waists of a fancy weave—finished with 6 wide pleats and one large box pleat—French back—pretty stock and tie of same material—two-button cuff—special at $3.

Waists of Vesting in dark colors—red, blue and tan—double-breasted front, ornamented with white pique shield—stock and black silk tie—large jeweled buttons—$3.

Men's Raincoats.

It is natural to talk of Raincoats when it rains as it is to associate furs with snow. The evolution of the Raincoat is quite a study. First, the genuine Raincoat was mixed with rubber, and while it was all right to look at, it was horrid for the odor it emitted. Then some bright mind thought of treating cloth with chemicals so that it would turn rain just like feathers, and that is the Raincoat of today—dressy, full of style, usable either as top coat or a Raincoat.

Ours are for sale in the Men's Furnishing Department, first floor of the annex. None but the best. $18 to $30.

The Special Prices on Silks and Velvets.

Only yesterday, while this sale was in progress, makers brought us Silks to see whose wholesale price was no lower than we are asking for the single retail yard. They went away amazed. But that is neither here nor there. The interesting point about this Silk sale to continue throughout the last days of this month is the fact that you are buying seasonable Silks and Velvets, just the kind that are wanted, for prices very far from what these Silks sell for all around us.

Some of the underprices.

At 50c, 58c and 65c a yard—fancy Silks that retail regularly for 75c and $1. And in the collection are Moire Velour, as well as striped Silks, figured Silks and Plaid Silks.

At 35c a yard—White Silks known as Wash Cords, a grade that sells for 45c a yard regularly.

At 50c a yard—Fancy Black Silks, stripes and figures, that we have not the least doubt you have often paid 75c for.

At 75c a yard—dressy Black Grenadines, the favorite of women, that sell most everywhere for $1.25 a yard.

At 65c a yard—Black Moire Velour, a fine Silk in every way, that should be sold for 20c more.

At 50c and 65c a yard, Velvets that usually retail for 75c and $1. The collection includes fancy Paons, Pannes and Velveteens.

It is scarcely probable that you will find Silks suitable for the making of Christmas Bags and other suitable Christmas novelties any lower in price this season. That is a good hint to make your selections now.

Velvet in everything these days, and photo. frames made of velvet are just the prettiest things imaginable. Inexpensive.

We have a lot that are ornamented with highly polished German silver finish, exact duplication of the old English sterling Frames.

They are sold exclusively by us and are our own direct importation.

Miniature size, 25c each.

Card d'Visite, 35c each.

Cabinet size, 50c.

Halloween Specials

At the Silverware Department, main floor, last aisle, near elevator.

Nut Pick Sets, 40c and 50c a set.

Extra Picks, 20c a set.

Extra Cracks, 25c each.

Fruit Knives, 25c each.

Triple silver plated.

Velvet Hats at Half Prices

$2.50, were $5.

They are trimmed with pompons, breasts, wings and bows.

And that is not all of the reductions, not by a great deal. Take the first paragraph following and notice the underprices on the Phipps & Atchison Hats.

A sample line of Outing and Golf Hats and some of the Phipps & Atchison latest styles, reduced $2 from $5, $3.50 from $7.50, and $5 from $10. Just the right colors, of course, and the right style.

Special tables of handsomely trimmed Hats, $3.50, $5, $7.50, $10 and $12, and each of these model Hats or Toques expresses the highest type of beauty, as well as worthiness, and have heretofore sold for fully 25 per cent more.

New arrival of grown-up untrimmed Hats, such as Shepherdess, Sorrante, Sailors and many dress shapes. All colors. The usual kind that sell for $1, today 50c each.

Paris Hats and Toques.

You have set your seal of approval on what we personally selected and brought over from Paris. You have told us what you like and what you don't like, and today we can safely say that our additional importations are sure to meet with a hearty reception. They are many times larger than usual. They were selected especially for their beauty in coloring and their effective styles. $22 to $65.

Children's Hats.

The sugary remarks we hear made by the young people over our collection of Hats is high praise for our gathering of many becoming styles for Boys and Girls. Materials to match all kinds of boys' top coats and girls' top coats. Everything that is smart and up to date. 25c to $5.50.

Mill-End Handkerchiefs.

There was great business yesterday in the women's Handkerchief Department—or rather on the special table under the dome—where we sold Handkerchiefs made of mill-ends for 18c each, 6 for $1. Lots of them for today.

These same Handkerchiefs in regular retail sell for 25c, 35c and 50c.

All pure linen, a generous size, all hemstitched and all having hand-embroidered initial. Two weights of cloth, sheer and medium.

Don't read mill-end awry—it does not mean anything so far as the quality of the Handkerchief goes. Simply short ends of excellent linen that the manufacturer ofttimes has left in a big run, and when he gets a lot of these he lets them go for a trifling price. It was simply our luck to get hold of a nice big lot of these mill-end Handkerchiefs.

Fine Kid-Finished Note Paper.

15c a Box.

This is something quite special. There are only 2,000 boxes of this fine Note Paper in the popular square size. White, blue and heliotrope.

The regular price of the Paper is 25c a box, but the spirit of the special occasion for seeing the close of October calls for a concession. You have it in the reduced price.

On the Mezzanine Floor

there will be found today a lot of imported Pictures—photographic reproductions on celluloid in pretty water color effects.

These are artistically framed in decorative mahogany frames. 25c, 35c, 50c each.

PENN AND FIFTH.

NEW MISSION IS DR. BARNES' WORK

Fourth Avenue Baptist Church Preparing for East End Move.

FAREWELL TO PASTOR

Handsome Tributes Paid Dr. and Mrs. Barnes—The Growth of the Past Nine Years Has Been Phenomenal.

The congregation of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church last night held a farewell reception in the church parlors for the retiring pastor, the Rev. Dr. Lemuel Call Barnes, who goes from here to the Worcester (Mass.) Baptist church. The large gathering was a tribute to the esteem in which Dr. Barnes and his good wife are held by the Christian people of this vicinity.

The Rev. Dr. J. Crockar White, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, made the opening address. He spoke of the earnestness displayed by Dr. Barnes in all his church duties and of the wide influence he has wielded in all departments of church work.

The Rev. Dr. H. C. Mabie of Boston, president of the American Baptist Missionary union, told of the power Dr. Barnes has been during 20 years in the Baptist church.

H. Kirke Porter made an address on behalf of the congregation, expressing regret at the departure of Dr. Barnes and wishing him every success in his new work. Dr. Barnes then made a short address. He was visibly touched by the spirit of the occasion. He said he appreciated the hearty co-operation he had been given by the congregation during the past nine years. The Rev. Dr. Frank S. Dobbins pronounced the benediction.

Dr. and Mrs. Barnes left on the 10 o'clock train last night for Boston. He assumes his new duties at the Worcester church on November 1.

New Mission Established.

The establishment of a new Baptist mission in Bellefield was the final act of Dr. Barnes before closing his pastorate of nine years with the Fourth Avenue Baptist church. The mission will be on a lot in Center avenue, opposite Millvale street and the Bradley estate plan of lots, the site having been purchased at a cost of $17,500. This amount was raised among a comparatively few men and women, all but $570 having been subscribed previous to last Sunday. Sunday morning Dr. Barnes asked that small subscriptions be made by members of the congregation covering the amount needed. And his appeal met hearty response. Of the $17,500 $16,350 was contributed by 26 members of the church; six gave $595 and the remainder, $570, was raised Sunday morning in smaller subscriptions. A chapel will be erected upon the lot and a Sunday school started and services conducted Sundays and week days.

When the Church Has to Move.

The Fourth Avenue Baptist church has had under consideration for some months the necessity of having to move from its downtown location within the next few years, and the purchase of the Center avenue lot, the establishment of a mission Sunday school and the conducting of religious services there is but the forerunner of the removal of the church from the heart of the city to Bellefield, right in the midst of one of the most rapidly growing resident sections of Pittsburgh.

The Gazette a few months ago outlined the plans which have since been carried out by the church and announced the ultimate removal of the church from Fourth avenue to Bellefield.

The church property in Fourth avenue and Ross valued at $1,000,000. When the encroachment of business interests forces the congregation to sell its property, a handsome church building will be erected on the mission site just purchased. At the same time the Baptists will not abandon the downtown district. A Baptist headquarters will be established, the idea being to erect or purchase a building which will contain offices, rooms for the various Baptist denominational societies, an assembly room for the meeting of the ministers' conference and the holding of services every Sunday, the building to be the headquarters of interests in Western Pennsylvania.

HERBERT NO PLAGIARIST

Walter Damrosch and Two Composers Testify Quite Emphatically on That Point.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Walter Damrosch offered to hum several selections from the great masters to show similarities in their compositions, at the trial of Victor Herbert's suit for $50,000 for libel against the Musical Courier, which was resumed this morning, but Justice Truax forbade this when Abe Hummel for the defense objected.

"Do you find, from your musical experience and knowledge," asked the plaintiff's counsel, "that any part of Herbert's 'Wizard of the Nile' was taken from Offenbach's 'Paquirette'?"

"Not one line," responded Mr. Damrosch.

"Do you know of any of the old masters writing music to order?"

"I do. Mozart wrote his 'Magic Flute' to order for a bankrupt theatrical manager in a suburb of Vienna, who had the scenery for which he wanted an opera written. Mozart's 'Requiem' was written to order for an Austrian nobleman and was not performed until after the composer's death."

"Do you consider Mr. Herbert an excellent musician?"

"Yes."

"And an excellent composer?"

"Yes," came the answer, emphatically.

The plaintiff resumed the stand and declared he had not consciously taken any music from any other composer.

Julian Edwards, composer, testified that Mr. Herbert had a style of his own. He was followed by Herman Cesley, another composer, who testified in the same strain.

Counsel for the defendant and the plaintiff summed up and an adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning, when Judge Truax will charge the jury.

POPE IS DISTRESSED.

His Private Physician Is Suffering from Appendicitis.

ROME, Oct. 27.—Dr. Lapponi, the pope's private physician, is suffering from appendicitis and the pontiff is much distressed. Dr. Mazzoni, who operated on the pope for a cyst about two years ago, is attending Dr. Lapponi and may operate on him tomorrow.

In referring to his physician's illness, the pope exclaimed: "I hope that Dr. Lapponi's constant prediction that he would die before me will not be fulfilled."

Tremont Temple Robbed.

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Seven of the silver plates used in the communion service at Tremont temple have been stolen. The police are at work on the theory that the robbery was committed by someone familiar with the building.

New Church Named.

The recently formed Catholic congregation in Hays, held a meeting yesterday and decided to name the new church, work on which will be started soon, the Church of the Holy Name. A pastor will be assigned soon.

ANOTHER REPORT ON CANDIDATES TO COME

German-American Alliance Will Tell Its 42,000 Members of Candidates, Records.

The German-American alliance of Pennsylvania has been engaged in obtaining a record of each candidate for public office. Prior to the election this record will be furnished to all the members, comprising 42,000 votes, all of whom are under the jurisdiction of the western branch, the headquarters of which is in Pittsburgh.

The object of the alliance is to bring about a unification of all German-American organizations and so bring their combined strength and influence to bear in securing a recognition of rights and demands. It is independent, non-partisan and non-sectarian.

It purposes exercising a beneficial supervision over public affairs, and so secure an honest, efficient and economic government of municipality and state; ascertaining the fitness and character of candidates for office, and when elected keeping a record of their official actions; to safeguard the principles of representative government and protect the civil and political rights of its members.

STUDY OF LITERARY SIDE OF THE BIBLE

A Course of Lectures to Be Delivered Before the University Extension Society.

The Pittsburgh University Extension society is planning a departure in its work for the coming year. It will consist of a six-weeks' course of study of the Bible from a literary standpoint. The lecturer will be Prof. Richard Green Moulton of the University of Chicago, whose books on the Bible as a literary production have been accepted as high authority. Beginning November 10, Dr. Moulton will deliver six lectures on successive Monday evenings before the Extension society in the Pittsburgh Carnegie library.

Dr. Moulton states that his course of lectures is concerned only with the literary side of scripture in contradistinction to theology and historical criticism. The first lecture will be devoted to an elaboration of the "Literary Study of the Bible." In other lectures he will discuss Job, Deuteronomy and Ecclesiastes. The fifth lecture will be on "Zion Redeemed, or the Unity of All History," while the final lecture will be on the Book of Revelation.

The University Extension society will present immediately after the holidays six lectures on "Problems of Democracy," by Prof. Albion W. Small of the University of Chicago, and a series of lectures on "Great Moral Leaders," by Prof. Edward Howard Griggs, the well-known Philadelphia lecturer.

KNIGHTS FROM THE EAST.

Prominent Members of Grand Commandery, Knights Templar Coming for Two Big Events.

A large delegation from the grand commandery of Pennsylvania, Knights Templar, will reach Pittsburgh this morning. The party will include Ezra S. Bartlett of Philadelphia, Wilson I. Fleming, Bellefonte; William M. Donaldson, Harrisburg; Frank McSparren, Erie; Robert J. Knote, Chester; William W. Allen, Edward B. Spencer, William J. Milligan, Frank P. Mason, A. Howard Thomas, Henry W. Smith, Alexander McCune, Fred Munch, George Eller, Robert Mustin, Jr., and Stephen H. Appleton, all of Philadelphia.

They will be joined here by William J. Diehl, and after breakfast will go to Charleroi, where at noon today a new commandery will be instituted. It will be known as McKean commandery No. 80, named in honor of the late James S. McKean of Pittsburgh. The party will remain here to take part in the Knights Templar field day at Schenley park tomorrow afternoon.

A large delegation of Pittsburgh Knights will go to Charleroi on the special train leaving at 9 a. m. The ceremonies are open to all members of the order, the only requirement being that those desiring to enter the asylum must wear the full dress Templar uniform and arms.

At the banquet to be given to the grand commandery officers at the Hotel Schenley tomorrow night the uniform without swords will be worn.

FOUND THE MOTHER.

Police Discover in Allegheny an Unfortunate Who Abandoned Her Child.

The mother of a 2-year-old infant abandoned at the Rescue mission in Third avenue last Friday was found at No. 512 Lacock street, Allegheny, yesterday by Special Officer Hugh Hinchcliffe. At the place where she was found she was known as Ella Armstrong.

The woman and her youngest child, an infant 3 months old, were locked up and will be disposed of today. She is 23 years old and a small, delicate-looking woman. It is said she made an effort to leave the older child at a Smithfield street store last Friday, before she took it to the Rescue mission.

TWO OFFICERS INJURED.

Had a Desperate Struggle on a Homestead Sidewalk With a Negro.

Thomas Alexander was arrested at Homestead yesterday after a fierce struggle in which he injured two officers. He was in an unruly crowd on the sidewalk, and when ordered to move by Policeman William Brown, pulled a revolver and attempted to use it.

Policeman William Shinton, in taking the weapon from Alexander, was bitten on the hand by the negro. Brown was also injured. The negro was fined $25 and costs by Burgess Miller for disorderly conduct. A charge of carrying concealed weapons was entered before Justice Giles.

Three Wrecks in 48 Hours.

Three freight wrecks on the Allegheny Valley railroad, inside of 48 hours, resulted in the loss of 19 freight cars, a lot of merchandise and the blockading of the railroad for 24 hours. The wrecks occurred at Winterburn, Phillipsburg and Mahoning. None of the trainmen were injured.

FURNACE COKE IS FIXED AT $3

United States Steel Corporation Reaches an Important Decision.

ASSURE STEADY MARKET

Furnace Interests Can Now Fix Reasonable Price for the 1903 Product—Disturbing Reports Put to Rest.

Another instance of the far-seeing policy of the United States Steel Corporation in maintaining comparatively low and fair prices for their products is shown in the fact that a decision has been made by that company, so far as their interests are concerned to fix the price for furnace coke, dating January next at $3 per ton. It is stated authoritatively that this course was finally arranged last Saturday.

Although coke in the open market has been selling at $4, $5 and $6 per ton, the large interests prefer a steady, regular market at the above named price. This action should give steadiness to the market and enable the furnace interests to fix a reasonable price for the 1903 product.

The H. C. Frick Coke Company, the constituent coke interest of the United States Steel Corporation, controls two-thirds of the product of the Connellsville region. The remaining companies, the Hostetter company, W. J. Rainey & Co., Oliver Coke Company, Brown & Cochran, Heela Company and Humphrey Stewart Company produce nearly all the remainder of the output. W. J. Rainey & Co. send the most of their product to furnaces east of the Alleghany mountains. The other companies supply the Pittsburgh districts, and the Shenango and Mahoning valley furnaces.

It is supposed that all the coke producers will now settle on the $3 rate to be charged their furnace consumers for coke. This important settlement of price puts to rest the reports for some time past current, that on account of the great demand caused by the anthracite strike, the Connellsville coke producers would exact exorbitant and uncalled-for prices for coke from their consumers.

Burglars in the Suburbs.

The home of George Denniston, at Turtle Creek, was robbed of $75 worth of silverware Sunday night. Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider of the Continental hotel, Millvale, yesterday reported that an attempt was made to rob the hotel Sunday evening. While Officer Samuel Gator, of the Braddock police, was absent from his home yesterday, some person forced open a rear window and stole $50 in money and a large amount of clothing.

We Are Overshadowing all Previous Efforts in the Ladies' Made-Up Garment and Millinery Departments.

Every department of this great store has met with the sharpest price-cutting in its history. We're determined to keep up the wonderful sales-records of the past week and have brought prices into play that will do it! Make comparison with the offerings other dealers are heralding so loudly—then you'll understand why thousands of the shrewdest buyers crowd this store every minute of the day!

The buying excitement in the Ladies' Suit, Skirt, Jacket and Waist department is at its zenith. Happy, satisfied shoppers in throngs are paying tribute to this week's grand offerings. We made the BEST of our purchasing opportunities this year in the wholesale fields, and, as usual, are dividing our gains with the public. Don't expect to match our offerings in the uptown stores. Their tremendous expenses forbid the marvelously low prices we name!

Ladies' and Children's elegant, exclusive Trimmed Hats are going at a sacrifice outranking all precedent. Bear in mind that you have ten times the opportunity for choosing here you get elsewhere! Although our prices are less than half what other stores are asking, you get IDENTICAL STYLE AND QUALITY. You'll not wonder that we do in ONE DAY the same amount of business other houses do in a week when you see our inducements for purchasing.

Every woman who enters our Dry Goods department says our prices are marvels for cheapness. Big new shipments just received make the opportunity for selection as complete as at the first of our wonderful sales! We urge you to compare the offerings in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishings with uptown dealers—then get here quick as you possibly can.

SLANDER ON HIS STATE

Hensel's Draft of Senatorial Apportionment Bill a Constitutional Failure—Reeder Denounces Katydid Politicans.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BETHLEHEM, PA., Oct. 27.—Rain had no more effect tonight on the Republican voters of Northampton county than have the boasts of the Democratic campaigners. Notwithstanding inclement weather, an enthusiastic crowd packed the big Market hall to overflowing. The orators included Republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, Gen. Frank Reeder, Dr. P. A. Lambert of Lehigh university and ex-District Attorney Schaffer.

There were delegations from South Bethlehem and West Bethlehem, including the Washington Republican club of the former place and McKinley club of the latter place.

Judge Pennypacker came in during the afternoon from Allentown, where he was met by a committee including George D. Dobbins, Abraham S. Schropp, Fred Ulrich, J. Samuel Krause, A. C. Huff, Harry J. Myers, Dr. H. D. Heller, W. P. Laubach and William C. Coyle. Ex-Senator Brown arrived tonight from Philadelphia.

The meeting was called to order by County Chairman William Coyle and Prof. P. A. Lambert of Lehigh university was chosen as presiding officer.

Rebuke for Wanamaker.

The next governor caused an outburst of applause by saying:

"These virtues which have ever characterized the people of Pennsylvania from the very beginning of its settlement, and continued down to the present time, throw a halo around the hilltops of this goodly old town of Bethlehem; and foul fall the man, traitor in instinct and in spirit, if impotent in influence, who, because of disappointment in failure to get undeserved reward, is willing to soil the fair fame of this great state."

This hit, evidently aimed at John Wanamaker's alleged interview in a New York newspaper referring to Pennsylvania in most disgraceful terms, was received with prolonged applause.

Judge Pennypacker then went on to show how the maligners of Pennsylvania were avoiding the real issues of the campaign, and illustrated his remarks with notable evidences of the great prosperity which had followed the election of William McKinley and had been advancing with rapid strides ever since, and compared it to the sad years of financial depression which followed the election of Mr. Cleveland in 1892.

Gen. Reeder scathingly denounced the action of the Democratic campaigners, whom he christened "katy-did" politicians, noisy little harmless creatures, who would be laid away for the rest of the winter when the frosts of November 4 strike them.

"To hear those katy-dids talk," said he, "you'd think all the intelligence and all the virtues of the nation exist in the Democratic party."

Wanamaker Hit Again.

Ex-Senator Brown also severely criticised Mr. Wanamaker for his alleged statement in a New York paper that Pennsylvania is below the map line.

"Out upon all such slanderous and malignant statements as those given to mendacity," said he. "Out upon a man who employed newspaper reporters from New York to interview a man who tells you that the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania is below the map line! The inference from that statement is that Pennsylvania is inferior to all the states. Shame! Shame! Ten thousand times shame upon a man, who after being so highly honored by this state, would thus malign and traduce her fair name! It is not true that Pennsylvania is below the map line. She stands today away above it."

Mr. Brown also vigorously replied to ex-Attorney General Hensel's statement that a constitutional senatorial reapportionment bill could be drafted. Said he:

"I offered to give $1,000 to any state charity if my competitor, Mr. Guthrie, would produce a constitutional senatorial apportionment bill. That gentleman made no reply, except to refer me to a bill prepared by Senator Henry of Philadelphia; but now, like a spavined nightmare after a pleasant dream, comes ex-Attorney General Hensel, who has published a draft of a bill that he claims is constitutional.

Very First District Illegal.

"The first district he makes is composed of the county of Lebanon, with 35,000 people. Yet the constitution plainly says that no county shall comprise a separate senatorial district unless it has four-fifths of a ratio and is surrounded by counties that within themselves have a senatorial ratio. It may be a separate district if its population exceeds one-half of a ratio. On the present basis, a ratio is 126,000. It is, therefore, impossible, under the plain words of the constitution, to construct Lebanon into a senatorial district by itself.

"But this is not the only defect in this attempt by this great constitutional lawyer to plan an apportionment in defiance of the constitution. A glance at his bill shows he has left out of it entirely the county of Lawrence, with its nearly 60,000 population. Of course, anybody can make an illegal apportionment, and one that ignores the existence of a great county like Lawrence; but no legislator could vote for it and respect his oath to obey the constitution."

The meeting closed with addresses by ex-District Attorney Schaffer of Delaware county and Congressional Candidate Fred Nesbitt.

The candidates will meet the voters of Lehigh county at Allentown tomorrow night.

POISONED AT DOG SHOW.

Several New England Animals Fall Victims to an Unknown Miscreant in New York.

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—L. L. Brooks of Newton, a member of the firm of Pearmain & Brooks, is mourning the loss of two of the best known and valuable Irish terriers in his famous prize-winning string, through having them sent to the New York dog show. The stomachs of the two animals, whose bodies are now in Boston, have been submitted to George Fose, official veterinarian of the Kennel club of Boston, and he declares there is every evidence of slow poisoning.

The Boston man thinks the same culprit who administered the fatal doses to Lady Ellen and Trib of Ashfield, gave poison also to the terriers of the Iroquois kennels, and he has wired Supt. Oldman of the show and the officers of the New York club that he is willing to do anything in his power toward the identification and punishment of the malefactor. There is little doubt that strychnine, administered in meat, did the business.

Question Now Up to Moody.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—The differences in the naval board on construction over the question as to whether speed or power is to predominate in the big armored cruisers, took official form today when Admirals O'Neil, Bradford and Bowles and Capt. Sigsbee submitted a majority report favorable to power on the new cruisers, and Engineer-in-Chief Melville a minority report, contemplating less power and more speed.

COMMISSIONERS NAMED TO TAKE TROOPS' VOTE

Soldiers May Cast Ballots While on Duty in Coal Region.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—Gov. Stone appointed commissioners today to take the vote of the First, Second, Thirteenth and Sixteenth regiments; the First and Second City troops of Philadelphia, the Governor's troop of Harrisburg, and the Sheridan troop of Tyrone, although it is expected that all or nearly all of the troops in the mining regions will be withdrawn before election day, November 4.

If any of the organizations are to remain in the field it will be those for whom commissioners have been appointed to take the vote. Stone has arranged with Maj. Miller to withdraw the troops gradually, and it is expected the Eighth regiment will be ordered home tomorrow.

The appointment of commissioners is done under authority of the act of August, 1864. The machinery is intricate and cumbersome. The ballots furnished the soldiers will not contain the names of the candidate son the various tickets, but will have blank spaces under the names of the offices to be filled so that each voter will have to write in the blanks the names of the candidates for whom he desires to vote.

As the men come from all over the state and some companies are recruited from two or three counties, the commissioners will have to see that the county commissioners and sheriffs of the various counties furnish the soldiers with copies of the ballots and lists of candidates. A separate poll book will be provided for the voters of each county in a company or regiment. It is presumed that the various candidates and county committees will aid the commissioners appointed by the governor in giving the soldiers every opportunity to exercise their right of franchise.

The commissioners and the organizations whose vote they will take follows: First regiment, Robert Brannan, Philadelphia; Third regiment, Joseph P. Rogers, Philadelphia; Sixteenth regiment, Col. W. J. Hulings, Oil City; Thirteenth regiment, Col. H. A. Coursen, Scranton; First City troop, Charles E. Bartlett, Philadelphia; Second City troop, Albert B. Kelley, Philadelphia; Governor's troop, Capt. F. M. Ott, Harrisburg; Sheridan troop, Capt. C. S. W. Jones, Altoona.

WARNING COMES FROM CHICAGO TO GOEHRING

Candidate for Senate Advised That Charges Are to Be Circulated Against Him.

"A sensational feature developed in the local political campaign yesterday in the shape of a telegraphic warning of a libelous attack to be made upon John M. Goehring, president of Allegheny common council and the Citizens Democrat candidate for state senator from the Forty-second district. The telegram read as follows:

"Chicago, Oct. 26, 1902.

"John M. Goehring, President of Common Council, Allegheny.

"Two hundred thousand lithograph circulars, your photograph and all kinds of charges, shipped Pittsburgh, from here yesterday.

"THOMAS L. BIXBY."

Mr. Goehring last night laughed over the resort of the ring to such an old 11th hour trick. He said:

"I received this telegram Sunday afternoon. I do not know the sender. I know nothing about the contents of the circulars. It is the old and common dodge of candidates who find defeat staring them in the face to resort to slander and libel at the 11th hour, allowing no chance of a reply. My acts as councilman, the only office I ever held, appear upon the records of Allegheny city. They are open to the public and I invite inspection. That the matter is libelous is evidenced by the fact that the parties behind the scheme have gone to a distant city for publication. As to my profession and private life I am content to leave that with those who know me best."

The receipt of the telegram created quite a stir among the active workers of the Citizens party. Mr. Goehring stated most positively that he stood ready and anxious to meet any charges that these circulars might contain.

Allegheny Bids Accepted.

The high school committee of the Allegheny board of school controllers, last night accepted the bid of J. and W. Seligman & Co. of New York, at 101.41 per cent for the $125,000 annex to the high school building bonds. The bid of William G. Lee & Co. for coal, at 5½ cents per bushel, was also accepted, as was the bid of Weldon, Kelly & Co. for the Scaife filters, at $926. The Grimes-Watson Company was awarded the contract for furnishing the electric light apparatus in the boiler and engine rooms at $135.

Horse, Trap and Stable Burned.

A fire at the stable of Edwin Mullen, in Stanton avenue, started last night by the overturning of a lamp. A valuable horse and trap were burned and the stable completely destroyed. The damage is about $900. Mullen, in attempting to rescue the horse, was slightly burned about the face.

COFFEE FLYERS.

Can Be One if You Stick to It.

The coffee habit is as injurious as other drug habits of the same nature. Don't think so? Well, dig in and see. The system craves a stimulant more and more until finally the victim wakes up.

When we are as fortunate as Mr. James D. Kimble of Northampton, Mass., to realize that we have got to stop or the penalty will be severe, it is a little startling at first to consider. He says, "I was an inveterate coffee drinker during 20 years of my life.

"The first 10 years I experienced no ill effects from the coffee, but its insidious working brought forth a train of evils later on. I became very nervous and irritable, in fact, felt all the time as if I should 'fly to pieces.' My nerves were all unstrung and I craved coffee as a toper does liquor; in truth I was a 'coffee toper.'

"My appetite became very poor and solid food repugnant to the sight; dyspepsia and indigestion were my inseparable companions and food did me but little good. About four years ago a friend advised me to try Postum Cereal Food Coffee. I was loath to believe that coffee was the cause of my trouble, therefor I did not have much faith in Postum; nevertheless I commenced its use and from the very first I experienced a decided benefit. My appetite returned, food began to taste natural and did me good. My nervousness gradually disappeared; the brain became clear; the loss of strength and flesh arrested and the stomach gradually strengthened. Life seemed once more worth living and the continued use of Postum has not disappointed me. To me coffee proved slow poison. I have found Postum to be a builder and sustainer of the system and I heartily recommend it to the slaves of coffee, without a single reservation."

Mr. Kimble mentions in his letter many of his friends in Northampton who have recovered health and strength from using Postum on his recommendation.

NOLAN JUNIOR MADE BAD BREAK

Abused Elkin Where Pattison Wished to Win Votes from Elkinites.

DAY IN CHESTER COUNTY

Larry Eyre Says the Republicans Are Safe There—Ex-Governor Expects 150,000 Republican Votes—He Misses Guthrie.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

WEST CHESTER, PA., Oct. 27.—Robert E. Pattison stumped Chester county today in the hope of winning to his side many of the numerous friends of John P. Elkin. He will get some of them, but not enough. Chester can be counted upon for a Republican majority of 1,200.

There were undoubtedly a few serious moments for J. Benton Nolan tonight after the meeting here. Pattison's only hope of decreasing the Pennypacker majority in this county is by catering to the Elkinites and inflaming them against the Republican ticket. The ex-governor worked at this in his speeches at Kennett Square and Oxford, but young Nolan did much tonight to spoil the plans of the gubernatorial nominee. The elder Nolan prefers to sit in his library at Reading and sends his son out to do the family stumping. The boy is bright and a good talker, but needs coaching. Young Nolan was put on to make the opening address to about 1,200 people at the opera house. Among other things, he characterized Elkin as a "tool of the machine," "subservient to bosses," etc., and talked about the henchmen and heelers of the machine supporting him. This is the home of T. Larry Eyre, who is Elkin's close political and personal friend, and there are many in West Chester who wanted the attorney general nominated for governor, but they will not enjoy being called "heelers" or having their friend spoken of in an unsavory manner. The speech annoyed Pattison.

This is the second time the thing has happened, the other offender being John Marron of Pittsburgh, who spoke slightingly of Elkin before a Kittanning audience.

Eyre says that the whole Republican ticket will go through, but the majority will be somewhat reduced, as it is difficult to get the voters interested. Saturday night Elkin will make a speech at Phoenixville in this county.

The Oxford meeting was held in the fair grounds, and about 1,200 people listened to Pattison. The ex-governor is beginning to think that he has a chance of winning, and so told his Oxford audience. He is figuring upon getting 150,000 Republican votes in the state, and thinks that 100,000 Democratic votes can be polled in Philadelphia. The ex-governor endeavored to convince his hearers that Elkin should have had the nomination instead of Pennypacker and blamed his defeat on Quay.

Pattison misses Guthrie, for in the absence of the candidate for lieutenant-governor he has more work to do. When he spoke tonight he was quite hoarse, and his appearance showed that the strenuous life he has been leading for six weeks is telling upon him. He will make his first appearance in the coal regions at Pottsville, tomorrow night.

REED FAVORS PATTISON.

State Librarian Resigns to Support Democratic Nominees.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The Rev. Dr. George Edward Reed, president of Dickinson college, Carlisle, followed the announcement of his resignation from the office of state librarian of Pennsylvania today with a statement pledging his support to Pattison and Guthrie and the regular Republican ticket in Cumberland county.

Dr. Reed says that while his retirement from office has long been in contemplation, because of the great pressure of other duties, the immediate step has been taken because of his conviction that as a Republican he "could not conscientiously support the candidacy of men, however worthy personally, whose nominations were secured by means abhorrent, in his estimation, to the principles of genuine Republicanism."

The Pianola

Plays Any Make of Piano, and Is the Only Perfect Piano Player

"Why should I learn to play a piano?" said a gentleman the other day, as he stood contemplating a Pianola after a particularly choice rendering of one of Mozart's most pleasing compositions.

A great many persons are asking similar questions nowadays. For it is a fact that since the Pianola came into such general use piano playing by human hands has lost something of the "mystery," so to speak, which formerly attended it. Any person can now "play" the piano. The Pianola is the medium by means of which they do it. And what makes this invention so attractive is the fact that the music produced by the Pianola is absolutely perfect in expression. There is no possible way by which you can distinguish it from the music produced in the usual way by a talented musician. If you make the experiment you can readily convince yourself of this fact.

Say a musician sits at a piano in a room in which there is also a Pianola. The musician plays something after which the Pianola reproduces the same piece. The music is practically identical in all particulars. If there is any difference it is in the more delicate shadings, which you would readily concede to be in favor of the Pianola.

Any person can operate the Pianola and it plays any make of piano. You don't fasten the Pianola to the piano—it is merely placed in front of the instrument. When you wish to use the piano in the ordinary way, for hand playing, the Pianola is simply shoved to one side.

Musicians everywhere acknowledge the perfection of the Pianola, which is generally conceded to be the only perfect piano player.

ORATORS' VOICES HEARD EVERYWHERE

Meetings Are Held in All Sections of the County by Political Factions.

A large crowd of voters from the Seventeenth ward attended a Citizens party mass meeting at Forty-second street and Penn avenue last evening. There was a fine showing of voters at the Citizens party meeting at Bakerstown. One of the largest mass meetings the Citizens party has yet held in the country districts was that held last night at Imperial. The subject of reform in the conduct of municipal and county offices was also discussed at a Citizens mass meeting at Springdale. Among the speakers was George Shiras III. A Citizens meeting was held in Kramer's hall, Climax street, Thirty-eighth ward, J. W. Brown, candidate for congress from the Thirty-second district, was one of the speakers. Hundreds of voters attended the Citizens meeting in the Second ward school, Sherman avenue, Allegheny.

Citizens party meetings will be held tonight as follows: Aspinwall, McKenzie hall; Glenshaw hall, Glenshaw; No. 2 Commandary hall, Stella street, Twenty-seventh ward; Greenock hall, Greenock; Penn hall, Wilkinsburg; Blythesdale school; Blue Run school house; Greentree school house; Orangemen's hall, Hite station; Schiller-Glocke hall, Twenty-fifth ward; Weaver's hall, East Pittsburgh; Groetzinger hall, Leetsdale; Tecopia hall, Pike street, Third ward, Allegheny; Turner hall, Overlook street, Twelfth ward, Allegheny; East street school, Tenth ward, Allegheny.

The Allegheny managers of the Citizens party are making extensive preparations for another grand rally at Carnegie hall, Allegheny, next Friday evening.

The Rev. Philip Andreen, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of Lawrenceville, will preside at the machine mass meeting to be held in Keane's auditorium, Forty-fourth and Butler streets, tonight.

BERLIN APPLAUDS BERNHARDT.

French Actress' First Visit to Germany in Thirty-Two Years.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Sara Bernhardt, for the first time since 1870, played in Germany tonight. She appeared in "Fedora" at the Royal theater before members of the nobility and the first social personages of Berlin. Emperor William and the empress sent a huge wreath. It is understood that their majesties will attend a matinee before the conclusion of Mme. Bernhardt's engagement.

The actress was tumultuously applauded. At the end of each act she was recalled four or five times and at the close of the performance, after her sixth recall, and surrounded by a mass of flowers and wreaths, Mme. Bernhardt said: "If statesmen can forget, so can I."

Julia Marlowe Ill.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Miss Julia Marlowe was to have appeared at the Academy of Music tonight in "Queen Fiametta," but because of her sudden illness the engagement in this city has been cancelled and the theater will be dark the rest of the week. Miss Marlowe is at her home in New York and is said to be threatened with typhoid.

MILITARY AMENABLE TO THE CIVIL COURTS

United States Judge Holds Courts-Martial Are Only for Army Laws.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The United States circuit court of appeals today decided that the military of the United States army are amenable in the civil courts of the country for offenses other than those committed solely in violation of army rules.

The decision was delivered in the case of Lieut. John N. Neall, a Presidio officer, convicted of forgery in 1898 before a jury and sentenced to serve two years in prison.

Neall's attorneys appealed from the lower court's findings, claiming that as Neali and all the parties concerned in his alleged offense were of the United States army Neall's trial should have been a court-martial under the articles of war.

Buy Furs Right.

There's Furs and Furs

and probably there's no other line of goods that the average buyer knows so little about—not the styles particularly—one can keep in touch with the styles—but the skins, their putting together and linings, and workmanship—the distinguishing between genuine and imitation, etc.

Our experience is worth much to the buyer in this way—we are experts—and you know our record.

There are many popular and stylish Furs used this season, among them the following are leaders: Siberian Squirrel, Natural Lynx, Russian and Hudson Bay Sables, Blended Baum Marten, Mink Sables, Blue and Black Lynx, and the various Foxes.

We cannot specialize the many styles, but want you to see the elegant Long Stoles we're showing in the different furs—they are certainly beautiful and withal very moderately priced.

outerwear for women

The elaborate variety we consider necessary for a satisfactory showing makes a collection of enormous proportions.

We not only feel under obligation to start the season well, but to maintain the variety throughout, adding day after day such new things as deserve approval.

Today the Cloak Store concisely mirrors the modish world.

So much to see we must ask those who come to take time to see it.

Not to expect to find all out on forms for display, for that would be impossible.

Some idea of the general range is given below, with a few items in particular, any of which will amply repay your critical investigation.

siberian squirrel furs

Of all this immense collection of Fine Furs we tell today only of the Squirrel and Ermine Combination.

Imperial Siberian Squirrel with Ermine Insertion, $35.00, $45.00, $50.00.

Siberian Squirrel Muffs with Ermine Insertion, $25.00 and $35.00.

Siberian Squirrel Coat with Ermine Collar, Reveres and Cuffs, $150.00.

These are ultra fashionable and, as you see, attractively priced—a fact you will appreciate more keenly when you see the Furs.

ladies' suits

The collection of ready tailored Gowns, ranging all the way from $10.00 to $100.00, is distinctly comprehensive, embracing every modification of cut, color, material, trimming or other detail which tends to enhance effect.

Between $18.50 and $40.00 the variety is something unusual, not only in number, but in design, and the emphatic values so clearly evident.

is a price you'll wonder at—not at the figures, but what you get.

Brown, Blue or Black Cheviot Suits, $20.00.

Brown, Blue or Black Venetian Suits, $20.00.

Brown, Blue, Black, Green or Tan Zibeline Suits, $20.00

—all splendid fabric, fine work and trim'd most attractively.

dress skirts.

Fine ones—fine Cloth—fine tailoring, $20.00.

Peau de Soie and Taffeta Silk Monte Carlo Coats, $20.00, $22.50, $25.00 to $50.00.

rain coats $10.00 to $35.00

—all nice ones. Don't want to sell you any less than that—don't want to sell you anything we can't recommend.

Swagger Tan or Oxford Rain Coats with Velvet collar, bell sleeves, belted box back—$13.50.

Tan, Oxford or Black Rain Coat—double-breasted front, pleated back, belt effect, new full sleeve with turn-back cuff, $16.50.

Quite a notable showing of New Waists—all the fashionable fabrics and many models.

Silk Petticoats—a great feature grown greater.

Millinery of the highest class.

All of these lines and others equally interesting to women now at their best and all are invited.

woolens—56 inches wide—50c such as buyers of this community never had a chance to buy.

Genuine extra good Dollar and $1.25 checks and stripes at 50c—light and dark.

There was a time when people would not buy light woolens except in summer, but that time is past. A good many people buy light woolens for skirts or gowns any time of year—more stylish, not only for ladies' skirts, but for girls' suits and children's winter or school dresses these wide (56-inch)—fine woolens are a great opportunity. Such an opportunity as will interest and pay everybody in town or out of town to come and see or send for.

Sheer and semi-sheer Paris fabrics for dressy dresses, 75c to $2.00.

Fine London Tailorings, $4.00, $5.00, $7.00.

Novelty Skirtings, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 yard.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

Republicans who might be inclined to vote for Mr. Kennedy in the Twenty-third district for personal reasons because he is a good man for public office, should ask themselves whether they want to defeat Mr. Dalzell for the speakership. Pennsylvania has a chance to get an office which stands next to the presidency in influence. The speaker of the house is the controlling factor in the shaping of legislative policy, and because of his ability and experience and also because of his relations with President Roosevelt, Mr. Dalzell is likely to be chosen speaker if the Republicans have a majority. But the contest is so close that every district is of the greatest importance. Will Mr. Kennedy vote for Mr. Dalzell to be speaker? Will he support President Roosevelt? Not much. He is a Democrat, and as a true man he will support the Democratic caucus nominee for speaker and be a part of the Democratic opposition to President Roosevelt's administration. No man has a right to vote for Kennedy unless he approves of these consequences.

The same considerations apply in the Twenty-fourth district and, moreover, Republican voters have a special incentive to support Mr. Acheson, because in so doing they will uphold party regularity and fair play. We hope that the Republican voters of Beaver county will resent the dog-in-the-manger attitude in which they have been placed by a local faction by rolling up a strong vote for Acheson. It would be an act of treachery toward national party interests and a slap at President Roosevelt to allow a Democrat to slip into congress from a Republican district because of a faction mutiny against majority control in party procedure.

The agitation which the women's clubs are carrying in regard to the Pennsylvania railroad ordinances is a gratifying evidence of public spirit. While we do not concur in some of the objections they make, yet scrutiny and criticism of the railroad proposals cannot be too thorough. The railroad is asking large privileges and should make corresponding compensation for them. The idea that the public shall bear, either directly or indirectly, any part of the cost is inadmissible, and the efforts of the women's clubs will promote an equitable settlement. If the main idea of the contention is that the Point can be withdrawn from commercial use because of its historic associations, that is doomed to disappointment, but the agitation of the subject will be on the whole beneficial.

The sentiments expressed by President Mitchell in receiving a testimonial of regard from the foreign members of the anthracite miners' union indicate a spirit that will promote the peaceful adjustment of relations between capital and labor. He said: "I look forward to the time when strikes shall be no more; when peace and justice and right shall be secured for those who toil; when labor and capital, each recognizing its rights and obligations to society, shall work in harmony for the common welfare of our country and the general good of all our people." The expectation is not unreasonable, for the interests of capital and labor are really reciprocal. Sound policy on the part of employers would suggest that this attitude of labor should be met in a sympathetic spirit. The time has passed when such an arrogant policy as that adopted by the anthracite mine operators can be maintained. Senator Hanna, himself a mine operator, and whose personal interest is on the side of capital, concurs with President Mitchell in his views. In a speech Saturday night he declared: "The best efforts of my life will be devoted to the establishment of a cordial relationship between capital and labor, and to the cause of bringing the interests of the laboring man to a higher plane of citizenship."

The press regulations issued by the Russian government have a thoroughly medieval quality, but in passing judgment it should be remembered that not much over a century ago it was considered highly improper both in England and this country for a newspaper to comment upon public affairs. Andrew Bradford, a Philadelphia publisher, once got himself into serious trouble by an editorial paragraph expressing a hope that the general assembly would devise measures of relief for the distressed condition of the province of Pennsylvania. Russia is passing through stages of thought and development which our own civilization has had to traverse. The press regulations are not to be taken as signs of an obscurantist policy, for really the Russians are doing a great deal for the cause of education, and the schools which they establish all through Siberia and Central Asia as fast as their jurisdiction extends commands the admiration of competent observers. The Russians do not encourage popular discussion of politics, but they are doing great work in founding schools for technical instruction. There is at present a strong reaction in Russia against parliamentary institutions and all the apparatus of party government, whose final outcome they hold to be anarchy and revolution. The condition of European politics at present gives point to their argument. A favorite aphorism of the statesman whose influence is now predominant in educational methods is that "democracy is a decaying form of the state." People who would like to know what can be said from a point of view so diametrically opposite to our own will be interested in a little book which can be obtained at Carnegie library, entitled "Reflections of a Russian Statesman."

President Roosevelt's intervention in the coal strike has been of far-reaching influence. The settlement here had hardly been effected until Premier Combes of France was appealed to for intervention in the French miners' trouble. The miners agreed yesterday to an arbitration of the questions at issue by a commission to be appointed by the premier, but the consent of the operators has not yet been obtained. They may be as obdurate as were the presidents of the anthracite roads, and it remains to be seen whether Premier Combes can or will bring as effective pressure to bear upon them as President Roosevelt did upon Baer and his crowd. In any event, Premier Combes' acceptance of the position of mediator proves international recognition of President Roosevelt's precedent.

HENSEL AND THE CONSTITUTION.

In a speech at Philadelphia on Saturday night William Ihler Hensel, who was attorney general of Pennsylvania when Pattison was last governor, declared concerning a senatorial apportionment of Pennsylvania, that "with a map, census table, lead pencil and sheet of paper a constitutional apportionment can be drawn by any fair-minded man in an hour that will conform to every constitutional requirement, except in the single case of Lebanon county, in which particular locality the special obstacle must yield to the general intent of the fundamental law."

It is easy to say things in a political speech, and for no one is it easier than for Mr. Hensel, who has a good flow of language and never permits facts to interfere with the scoring of a good point. George W. Guthrie is at least as well grounded a lawyer as Mr. Hensel and as familiar with the state constitution. In declaring how easy it is to make a senatorial apportionment Mr. Hensel reflects on Mr. Guthrie, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, who declined an opportunity to earn $1,000 for charitable uses because he held two weeks to be too short a time in which to do the job that Mr. Hensel says can be done in an hour with a lead pencil and a few other things—except, of course, that Lebanon county is an obstacle to which the constitution must yield. But, unfortunately for the reputation of Mr. Hensel, the constitution does not yield. Where senatorial apportionment is concerned it is rigid. "The senatorial ratio shall be ascertained by dividing the whole population of the state by the number of 50." The ratio thereby established is 126,042. The population of Lebanon by the census of 1900 is 53,827. It has not half a ratio of population and no county may be made a senatorial district unless its population exceeds half a ratio, and as the counties adjoining are each entitled to a senator it cannot be joined to any one of them. And "no county shall be divided unless entitled to two or more senators." There is no "general intent of the fundamental law" that can surmount this first obstacle to a senatorial apportionment, notwithstanding Mr. Hensel's view of it. The framers of the constitution aimed to provide specific conditions that could not be evaded by any considerations of "general intent," and they succeeded.

But Mr. Hensel blunders along. Giving "eight senators to Philadelphia, to which it is entitled," he would make Delaware, Chester and Bucks each a separate district. But Bucks has less than four-fifths of a ratio, and "no county shall form a separate district unless it contains four-fifths of a ratio, except where the adjoining counties are each entitled to one or more senators, when such county may be assigned a senator on less than four-fifths and exceeding half a ratio." Lehigh, with less than the required population to constitute it a separate district, and Northampton in the same fix, adjoins Bucks. They are almost, but not quite, in the separate district class. Therefore, Bucks, which has not four-fifths of a ratio, cannot get in as a half ratio district, unless the "general intent of the fundamental law" is stretched again. Delaware and Chester each have the same sort of a difficulty because neither has the full four-fifths of a ratio, and they are barred from the half-ratio class by the circumstance that they border each other. Neither Bucks, Chester nor Delaware is entitled to be a separate district, first because neither has four-fifths of a ratio, and because in the case of each "the adjoining counties" are not "each entitled to one or more senators."

It is time to leave Mr. Hensel here. He rambles along over the whole state in his apportionment effort, but it isn't worth while to follow him beyond these starting points. Plainly there are other difficulties than Lebanon. In the short journey we have gone with him he is right only with regard to Philadelphia, and Philadelphia is placed in a class by itself. True, we might argue with him as to the constitutionality of his proposition, not hitherto referred to, to detach a part of Philadelphia to be added to other counties for senatorial district butchering purposes, but it isn't worth while.

The best thing for Mr. Hensel to do with regard to a senatorial apportionment is to put away his map, his census table, his lead pencil and his sheet of paper and consult a lawyer. He might try Guthrie.

WHAT PENNYPACKER WILL DO.

What would Pennypacker do? The answer is easy. He would make up his mind for himself and do what he believed to be right. Judging his future by his past, no influence could swerve him from the line of duty.

A speech in favor of Pennypacker's election, made by former Mayor Warwick of Philadelphia reminds the Record that during Warwick's term a bill "passed the machine legislature" intended to transfer the power of appointment from the mayor to councils, "and Senators Quay and Penrose went to the executive chamber with a demand on Gov. Hastings for his approval." It was vetoed, however, in spite of this alleged demand, and the Record concludes:

Whether Judge Pennypacker in the office of governor would veto a measure like that must be left to such reasonable conjecture as is afforded by his unconcealed sympathy for the machine in every speech in which he has alluded to state questions.

It need not be left to "reasonable conjecture." What Pennypacker would do can be foretold with certainty. Whether the attitude of Quay and Penrose toward the Philadelphia bill was what the Record says, or whether it was not, it is unquestioned that they favored the Pittsburgh "ripper" bill. Furthermore, the people of Pittsburgh also favored it, as was shown at the first municipal election following its passage. But Judge Pennypacker, as Republican candidate for governor, came to Pittsburgh and made a speech declaring such legislation bad all through. Persons with him on his campaign tour who knew his sentiments and intentions urged him not to make such a speech, or, if he must make it, not to make it in Pittsburgh. But in spite of all persuasion, notwithstanding that the ripper legislation had been urged by the United States senators and by the Republican organization on demand of the reform sentiment of Pittsburgh, and, notwithstanding that the people of Pittsburgh indorsed it as a measure of relief from machine government, Judge Pennypacker made his speech against "ripper" legislation, and he made it at the mass meeting in Old City hall, in Pittsburgh.

This ought to be convincing that Pennypacker will do Pennypacker's duty as Pennypacker sees it, and not as some one else sees it, and that neither machine influence nor reform sentiment will be permitted by Pennypacker to interfere with Pennypacker in hewing a straight line. Pennypacker will be the governor, let the chips fall where they may.

A WISE POLICY.

By fixing the price of furnace coke at $3 a ton, dating from the first of January, the United States Steel Corporation has again declared its policy to resist all temptation toward the inflation of prices. No doubt its lead will be followed by all the other companies operating in the Connellsville district. Coke has been selling in the open market at $4, $5, and even $6. Much higher bids were made for it in the east during the continuance of the anthracite strike. The ability of the railroads to move the product is materially below the demand, yet the United States Steel Corporation, through the H. C. Frick Company, declines to advance its product.

This is wise policy. Inflation is but the preliminary to depression. Abnormal prices always tend to restrict consumption, and a general "boom" speedily brings violent reaction. In its resistance against inflation the United States Steel Corporation justifies the policy of combination. Standing for stability of prices, its influence is all on the side of equalized production and steady employment of labor. Coke consumers can make their calculations far into the future with the assurance that they will not be compelled to revise their fuel cost, and consumers of their products, in turn, may proceed in full confidence that contracts will not turn unprofitable on their hands through sudden fluctuations in the price of material. This is one of the surest guarantees that the era of prosperity will continue.

WITHDRAWAL OF ADDICKS.

Nothing in J. Edward Addicks' candidacy for the United States senate from Delaware so became him as his leaving of it. The announcement that he will abandon the fight for control of the Delaware legislature is good news, since it carries with it the probability that Delaware will again secure representation in the upper branch of congress and the Republican party there be freed from an incubus.

The Addicks influence has been unwholesome. It was first felt in Delaware just as that little commonwealth was leaving its Democratic moorings and preparing to enroll permanently in the Republican column. It has operated to prevent the complete transformation, and if longer exerted might have driven the state back to Democracy. In fact, the belief is general that Delaware would have gone back to its old love during the Addicks years had it not been for the more powerfully repellant influence of the Bryan Populistic doctrines.

Now, with Addicks out of the consideration, there is a cheerful prospect for electing a Republican legislature this fall and later two Republican senators, who will go to Washington in full sympathy with President Roosevelt and his program. Men like that were needed in the senate during the last session, and they will be needed in the sessions of the next congress no less. For these reasons the people of Delaware who have not felt kindly toward J. Edward Addicks may thank him heartily for his belated decision to remove himself as an issue from the political arena.

At the meeting of the tuberculosis congress yesterday, the controversy over the transferability of bovine tuberculosis to the human subject was resumed. Prof. Koch read a paper, by request, in which he maintained his previous opinion that milk from tuberculous cows is non-infectious to the human family, his investigations during the year having all tended to confirm that opinion. M. Nocard, a veterinarian of Paris, contended hotly for the contrary opinion, adducing experiments upon monkeys in proof of his position. The public and the medical profession are quite certain to side with Prof. Koch in this matter. He it was who discovered the bacillus of consumption and later noted the difference between the bovine and human bacilli. He is the highest authority. Our own Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, even before Dr. Koch, declared his belief that the milk and flesh of tuberculous cattle were innocuous. But the certain proof is to be found by extensive observation along the lines followed by Prof. Koch of persons who have long used milk from tuberculous cows. He has found no case in which tuberculosis followed such diet. Nothing is to be gained from sensational injections of bacilli subcutaneously, as in the case recently of a French medical fanatic. There is a vast difference between drinking milk and making hypodermic injections of poison.

Notwithstanding the dreadful consequences, the outbreak in the Genesee river, reported from Rochester, N. Y., will be regarded as a remedy which sooner or later was certain to be applied to the hunting fever that confuses human beings as game. It seems amazing that a hunter should mistake a man and his son in a boat for a flock of wild geese. The son was badly wounded and the enraged father chased the impetuous hunter, peppering him with shot that he may die. It is manslaughter for people to go hunting who cannot make out their proper game before they shoot.

Orders issued for the return home of the Tenth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments will gladden many hearts in Southwestern Pennsylvania, without regard to possible political effects from their voting at home. The "boys" will be glad to get back and their families and friends will be glad to see them. But the troops left to more arduous duty are not likely to look upon the selection as an unmixed blessing.

A local cotemporary told a story in its headlines yesterday of an "Australian railroad into far off Patagonia." The article, however, did not describe how the Pacific ocean is to be bridged, nor, in fact, did it go farther than to say the road is to start at Adelaide "as far south as Patagonia."

An increase of $12,000,000 in the surplus reserve of the New York banks ought to make bankers feel more cheerful. It is a nice thing to have one dollar rub against another, but it is nicer to have one million of them to rub against another million.

With no trouble in sight to interfere with the mining of bituminous coal, and with an abundant supply of gas, the reported coal shortage in Pittsburgh is statistical rather than acute.

The people who some years ago declared the era of railroad building in the United States to be at an end are not coming to the front to declare they told you so.

It was very inconsiderate for the president to settle the coal strike and thus muss up the political plans of the Hon. David Bennett Hill.

The William Tell business is much more picturesque in romance and opera than in stage realism, and considerably less dangerous.

The sudden shut down in the supply of political hot air at the end of the week is bound to cause a change in the weather.

The muddy water party is stepping off to its own funeral to the tune of a dead march.

Why leave the federation of Europe to the kaiser, Mr. Carnegie? Do it yourself.

LOTS OF RED FIRE AND MUD SLINGING

Tammany Indulges in Both of These Strenuous Styles of Campaigning.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.

Madison Square Garden is the political storm center tonight. There is a Democratic rally which equals in noise and confusion, if not in eloquence, anything that was seen and heard there even in the last presidential campaign. It was cleverly advertised—what a showman would call "circused." David B. Hill had permitted it to be sent abroad that he had "something up his sleeve" for Odell in the way of questions that could not be answered, and that there would be other sensations sprung in the course of the meeting. There was plenty of mud-slinging. That has become a feature of the Democratic campaign, and it proved a strong enough attraction to draw an immense audience to the garden. While many in the assemblage were Democrats, it was noticed that Republican listeners were by no means few, and that the words of Hill and other orators were absorbed with as much attention by one element as by the other. Every night now we have fireworks in different parts of the city, but the disposition is to make more of a pyrotechnical showing in Madison square than anywhere else. The fact that the headquarters of the parties, the Fifth Avenue hotel and the Hoffman house, are side by side, has much to do with this. As election day draws nearer managers of the campaign recognize the value of lycopedium and gunpowder, and there is a perpetual popping and banging, with red fire, along Broadway from Union square to the fork of Seventh avenue and Broadway. Word was passed around today that the Democratic dough-bag, which has already been depleted to some extent, was to be opened this week, and that the faithful would do well to keep their eyes on the treasury as early as tomorrow. It is true that the disbursing of funds will be ostensibly for farmers, but your Tammany heeler can be a "farmer" in a minute, if necessary, for business purposes, and the up-state Democrat must keep wide awake if he expects to get a satisfactory dip into the campaign fund. Aside from this sordid aspect of the matter, there is no doubt that politics is booming here tonight.

Actress Mabel Bouton Dying.

It is said that Mabel Bouton, only a few years ago one of the most dashing of young actresses in New York and elsewhere, is dying of consumption in Bellevue hospital. She is only 24 years of age, but is so feeble that she cannot speak above a whisper. Pittsburghers will remember her with Della Fox in "The Little Host" and in "A Normandy Wedding," a few years ago.

Fishing for Princes.

New York's weakness for princes seems to be increasing. With the heir of Siam's throne still with us, we are throwing out lines to draw to us the prince of Wales and the crown prince of Germany. It is true that the objective point of these two distinguished young men, if they come at all, will be St. Louis, and that they are expected to go into spasms of admiration of that far western and none too handsome city; but that is only by the way. Every stranger from foreign lands is bound to spend a decent time in New York, and everyone does it, too. So New York feels that the suggested visit of the two European princes concerns it as much as St. Louis, and it will use all its powers of persuasion to get the consent of King Edward and the kaiser to the arrangement. Pittsburgh must be interested, too, for when did a royalty or statesman or distinguished personage of any kind come to America without a few days of sight-seeing in Pittsburgh?

Croker Spectator of a Lawyers' Row.

Two of the counsel in the trial of Fire Chief Croker today fell away from the main business in hand to tell each other that he (each speaker) knew more law than the other fellow. There was an edifying little row in the trial room at fire headquarters for a few minutes, which ended in one of the counsel for the defense being ignominiously turned out of the room. The calmest person present was Croker, the person on trial. He seems to be entirely satisfied with the way his cause is going, and it is a common opinion that he has had the better of it all the way through; but the row between the lawyers certainly was funny.

Evening Dress Reigns in Gotham.

The good English lady, who has been writing in the Queen about the American invasion, evidently has not been in New York of late. She says that one indication in London of the American invasion is that men from this side do not wear evening clothes at theaters, fashionable restaurants and other resorts of the kind-do after dark. She opines that not many Americans have such garments. In New York one of the recognized dicta is, "Everything in evening dress after 6 o'clock." Walk along Broadway any evening, particularly at this time of year, and you will see little else than evening dress among men who are presumed to belong to the moneyed class. In the Broadway theaters evening dress is the rule and not the exception. In any of the swell up-town hotels you will see the swallow-tail or the "Tuxedo" on four out of every six men, and later, at the restaurants, where money is of little account, every man will show the expansive shirt front and every woman the gorgeous gown that bespeak "full dress." The London writer may invelgh against the "American invasion" to her heart's content; but when she says American men wear tweeds and red neckties at evening functions, she touches the carefully-dressed, well-groomed New Yorker in a tender spot.

A Molineux Case Incident.

Harry Cornish made a scene in the court house this afternoon at the end of the Molineux trial session. He was escorting Mrs. Rogers to a car when he saw a number of newspaper photographers and reporters waiting to interview her. Cornish resented the attentions of the newspaper men and threatened to assault them. The trouble ended bloodlessly, but there was much excitement, in the midst of which Mrs. Rogers contrived to escape. The incident is worth mentioning only as illustrating the kind of excitement that exists perpetually outside the court room in which Molineux is fighting for his life.

Clyde Fitch Too Busy to Be Sick.

Clyde Fitch, the playwright, who was reported so ill in Europe a short time ago that he was not likely to do any more work for a year or two, is in New York, apparently as well as ever. He is busy, too. For weeks he has been working hard every day at the New Savoy theater, rehearsing his new comedy for Mary Mannering, "The Stubbornness of Geraldine." Fitch loves work and he is insistent that his ideas shall be followed at all rehearsals of his plays. To hear him giving peremptory orders on the stage as he licks his play into shape, you would not regard him as a sick man.

Deadly Insult to Rival Animal Show.

A tall man with a blonde beard went into one of the two big animal shows now holding forth in New York and offered for sale a three-legged chicken. The manager looked the creature over and gently told the blonde man that he had come to the wrong place. "Take it to Blank's, and they will, perhaps, give you $100 for it. They deal in such tame creatures there." The stranger took his chicken away and waited on Mr. Blank, telling him what his rival had said. Then there was an explosion, in the midst of which the country man picked up his three-legged chicken and got out in a hurry, wondering what was the matter. Competition is strong between the two animal concerns, but the three-legged chicken, with what it implied as to the insignificance of the rival show, was the unkindest cut of all.

A Precocious Star-Gazer.

Hoboken has a "boy astrologer," and some of his predictions are weird, indeed. The young gentleman believes in himself and is desirous of saving trouble to mariners, for he has issued an official warning to sailors not to put to sea next Thursday or Friday. He adds that, if his advice is disregarded, "we shall hear of some of the largest catastrophies on the ocean in history." He predicts a serious earthquake here about 1 o'clock in the afternoon of Friday, with floods and tidal waves in the south. He gets his information from the stars, he says. He also says he predicted President McKinley's assassination, and that he warned President Roosevelt of impending danger just before his carriage was struck by a trolley car a few weks ago. Among other phenomenas predicted for this fateful Friday is an eclipse of the sun.

Col. Ochiltree Well Enough to Joke.

Col. Tom Ochiltree is sick in a Broadway hotel, but manages to keep up his spirits, notwithstanding. His ailment is not serious enough to keep friends from his bedside, and he tells yarns with his old-time gusto as they sit around him, and leads the laughter which follows. His latest yarn is that he was caught by some poker sharps on an Atlantic liner the last time he crossed. "And what action did you take when you landed?" asked one listener. "I lent them a dollar apiece for car fare," was the characteristic answer, with a regular Tom Ochiltree twinkle in the eye.

Poisonous Plants in a Park.

A splendid sensation fell apart this afternoon. Two boys in Morningside park were found unconscious on Saturday and there were gruesome tales of their having been poisoned by a tall man of sinister aspect who had given them belladonna. The police were hot on the trail of this tall man, when the boys recovered consciousness and confessed that they had eaten some weeds in the park. While this explains the illness of the lads, who are brothers, it has frightened parents living near the park, because it shows that there are deadly growths there which the enterprising small boy would rather eat than let alone, even when he knows their nature.

A Cosmopolitan Yellow Row.

"The Tower of Babel" is one of the picturesque tenements in Lower New York. It is in the Syrian quarter, and the confusion of tongues in the house gives it its name. Among the hundreds of lodgers are Turks, Armenians, Croatians, Bulgarians, Greeks, Italians, Syrians, Algerians, Corsicans, Spaniards, French and other nationalities, and they all talk and fight in their own languages. A man was stabbed there early this morning so badly that he may die; but that is only a social incident in the "Tower of Babel."

Hopes of Molineux's Counsel.

At this stage of the Molineux murder trial it looks as if the defense has great hopes that its demand for the dismissal of the case at the end of the prosecution's attempt to show the defendant's guilt will be granted. The plea will be that the state has not connected Molineux with the case, and that the court should take it out of the jury's hands. If the court does not agree to this, Molineux's counsel will put in a complete defense and express their belief that they can obtain an acquittal. The general feeling here is that the outcome will be a disagreement if the case goes to the jury.

Old Markets Likely to Go.

There may be a general sweeping away of some of the historic old markets of Manhattan. The department of finance, through its chief engineer, reported today to the comptroller that five of the markets—Center, Clinton, Union, Tompkins and Catherine—are so dilapidated and unsanitary that they should be destroyed forthwith. He thinks the site of Center market should be used for a police headquarters. No. 200 Mulberry street, the present headquarters, has long since been declared unworthy of the dignity of a big city, but the probabilities are that it will have to do for some years to come, unless Tammany should get in, with its liberal sentiments as to the use of other people's money.

Pattison and His Record.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

"On all sides the fires of good government are kindled," shouted Candidate Pattison in a burst of Democratic oratory at a Norristown meeting. And then he referred to his former administration and added: "My record during those terms is written in history. I could not change it if I would and I would not if I could."

But what did he do? Can any one remember that he left the state better, happier, more prosperous? He left it covered with debt, a debt which has been swept away under Republican rule. His success led up to Democratic success in the nation and an era of unexampled disaster and bankruptcy. For that he is best remembered. If he accomplished anything else of moment it has been forgotten.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

A Democratic victory on November 4 would make it much harder for Republican success in 1904, when a Republican president will be needed to continue present prosperity.—Altoona Gazette.

Don't forget that in years of great prosperity the Republican party is inclined to suffer from apathy. Therefore it is the duty of every Republican to go to the polls and take a neighbor along.—Scranton Tribune.

The only thing necessary for Republican success by a large majority in Pennsylvania and McKean county, is to get out the vote. Most men will vote for Pennypacker and the Republican candidates in preference to Democracy, if they vote at all.—Bradford Era.

The election is near at hand and the outlook is that Westmoreland county will give its usual large majority for the Republican ticket, and especially the county ticket. The latter is headed by the Hon. George F. Huff, for congress, and he is bound to lead by a big margin. It will simply be an indorsement of his standing and worth as a citizen and representative of our great county.—Irwin Republican-Standard.

The futility of the so-called "Ballot Reform" party that is seeking to delude voters is evidenced by the fact that both the large parties have given their assent to the principles of ballot reform enunciated by the joint committee for promotion of electoral reforms in Pennsylvania. Democratic and Republican leaders alike have declared adherence to the proposed measure, and there is neither wisdom nor propriety in seeking to make the ballot a party question.—Sharon Telegraph.

PERSONALS.

J. H. O'Brien, one of the successful prospectors in the gold fields of Alaska, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday, accompanied by his uncle, W. H. O'Brien, who went to the far north to meet his nephew. Mr. O'Brien is a native of Pittsburgh, but for 20 years has made his home on the Pacific coast. Four years ago he went to Alaska and his claims on Candle creek are among the best in the district. His trip to Pittsburgh is to visit relatives, among whom is Samuel F. O'Brien of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society.

"The United States is the leading rubber industrial center of the world," remarked W. P. Colvell of the Ohio Rubber Company, Cleveland, as he passed through the city last night. "We are now manufacturing all kinds of rubber goods, from waterproof cloth to garden hose. Orders are coming in so rapidly that we are unable to take care of our customers."

Miller Elliott, superintendent of the Indianapolis Street Railway Company, who formerly held a similar position here on the Penn avenue and South Side lines, is in the city to do a little election work. Mr. Elliott at one time represented the Seventeenth ward in councils.

THE DEATH ROLL.

William W. Grier.

Word was received in Oakmont last evening of the sudden death of William W. Grier, a former prominent resident, at Sheboygan, Wis. The cause of death was apoplexy, which overtook him while on a business trip. He was the founder of the Dexter spring works and for 25 years was the owner and manager. Ten years ago the works were sold to a local syndicate and since that time Mr. Grier was engaged in the manufacture of ingraining machinery. For the past three years his works were located at Goshen, Ind. His wife arrived at his bedside just before he expired. Mr. Grier was born in Pittsburgh about 70 years ago. Early in life he moved to Oakmont. At one time his family owned a large tract of land embracing almost all of the southern end of what is now known as Oakmont borough. The district still has the name of Grier's Hill. Mr. Grier was largely responsible for the growth and development of the town. Mr. Grier was a member of the United Presbyterian church and was one of the founders of the Oakmont United Presbyterian church, and many years he was an elder. Mr. Grier was always a prominent temperance worker. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Swartwood of New York, and two daughters, Miss Eva Grier of Jamestown, N. Y., and a married daughter residing in Buffalo. The remains will be brought to Pittsburgh for burial. Services will be held at Samson's chapel.

P. S. Blodgett.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27.—P. S. Blodgett, aged 59, general manager of the Lake Shore railway, died today at his residence, No. 39 Vienna street, this city, of dropsy. He began his railroad career as a clerk at Adrian, Mich., with the Michigan Southern & Northern Indiana line, which afterward became a part of the Lake Shore system. In 1890 Mr. Blodgett was advanced to superintendent of the eastern division of the Lake Shore, with headquarters at Cleveland. In May, 1896, he secured the office of general superintendent. In June, 1901, he accepted the general superintendency of the New York Central, with headquarters at New York city. In a little less than a year he was made general manager of the Lake Shore.

Thomas E. Osmun (Alfred Ayres.)

Thomas E. Osmun, the author, editor and critic, known in public life as "Alfred Ayres," died on Sunday in the Bellevue hospital, New York, of paralysis. He was born in Montrose, O., on February 26, 1834. He was an editor in Cleveland and then went to Berlin and Paris, where he studied for several years, returning to this country in 1870. He was one of the editors of the Standard Dictionary. Some of his books were "The Orthoepist," "The Verbalist," "Acting and Actors," "The Mentor," "The Essentials of Elocution" and "Some Illused Words."

Mrs. William McCracken's Funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Aiken McCracken, wife of the Rev. William McCracken, who died suddenly Saturday afternoon, aged 75 years, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family home, No. 5312 Howe street, East End. The interment will take place later at the Allegheny cemetery. Besides her husband, Mrs. McCracken is survived by five children: William McCracken, Jr., James A. McCracken, Mrs. William A. Bole, Mrs. Thomas F. Ford of Toledo, O., and Miss Bertha Wallace McCracken.

Obituary Notes.

Charles Batten, a glassworker of New Castle, Pa., formerly of Pittsburgh, died Sunday night of lung trouble, aged 50.

Alexander Cassidy, aged 80, is dead at Plymouth, O., where he went two years ago from Allegheny. He had lived in the vicinity of Pittsburgh nearly his whole life.

Henry C. Anderson, a well known citizen of Cross Creek, Washington county, Pa., died Sunday of paralysis, aged 67. He was a farmer and an elder in the Presbyterian church.

Eliza, widow of James F. Daily, died at Irwin yesterday of cancer, aged 70. Four children, J. Frank of Altoona, W. S. of East Liverpool, O.; Mrs. Helder Davis and James G. of Irwin, survive.

Mrs. Catherine Sharp, for many years a resident of Monaca, Pa., died at Clarksburg, W. Va., at the home of her nephew, Edward McGahan. She was a prominent member of the First Presbyterian church at Monaca.

James Jones, 78 years old, father of the Rev. W. A. Jones, pastor of the Knoxville Presbyterian church, and of H. M. Jones, a South Side contractor, is dead at his home near Washington, Pa.

Mrs. Maria Berger, 72 years old, widow of Michael Berger, is dead at her home, No. 5236 Wickliff street. She is survived by one daughter and four sons. George Berger of the bureau of fire is a son.

James Horne, a well known resident of Beaver Falls, Pa., and an employe of the American Axe & Tool Company, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Zell, College Hill, aged 49. His widow and two daughters survive.

The Rev. J. N. Williams, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, Allegheny, has received word of the death of his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Wehner, in Lost Angeles, Cal. She will be buried from the home of her father, No. 12 Alpine street.

Col. E. J. Sanford, one of the wealthiest citizens of Knoxville, Tenn., died yesterday of heart affection. He was president of the Knoxville & Ohio railroad, having held the position for 16 years. He was also one of the organizers of the Virginia Iron & Coal & Coke Company.

Popularity of Hanna.

From the Indianapolis News.

No man in public life has grown more in public appreciation than Senator Hanna. At the outset of his political career he was supposed to be a self-seeking, arrogant political boss, who depended largely on money to win his ends. He was pursued by the cartoonist and his character misrepresented and maligned. Gradually, by reason largely of his position on labor questions and his interest in the civic federation, men have come to hold a juster view of his character. He is now generally recognized as one of the intellectual leaders of the Republican party, and no one is more eagerly listened to.

Will Worry Along, Somehow.

From the Baltimore American.

Even should Senator Mason depart, the Republican party will continue to do business at the old stand.

RAVAGES OF WAR IN COLOMBIA

The Country Desolated and Fully a Hundred Thousand Men Killed in Battle.

"There was never a more lamentable war than the civil strife that has been going on in Colombia for the past three years, and which has well nigh ruined that unhappy country," said J. T. Ford to a reporter of the Washington Post.

Mr. Ford, who has lately been on the isthmus of Panama, has lived in Colombia for many years. He is a civil engineer of high professional repute, and built the railroad running from Cartagena, on the seacoast, to the Magdalena river. He is also consulting engineer to the Colombian government. Continuing his remarks on the present situation there, Mr. Ford said:

"This three years' conflict has desolated one of the finest countries on the globe. It is no exaggeration to say that within that period, counting the losses on both sides, fully 100,000 men have been slain in battle. Business has been completely paralyzed, progress has been checked in every department of industry, agriculture has been abandoned, homes have been ruined, and the financial condition has been rendered so desperate that the money of the country is worth now only one cent on the dollar—that is, $1 of United States currency is worth $100 of the money of Colombia.

"That the United States possesses a vital interest in what is going on down there is but natural, since Colombia is owner of the isthmus of Panama, through which the interoceanic canal authorized by congress is to be cut. The prolongation of the rebellion is a most unfortunate matter, since in the present chaotic condition it is difficult to get the Colombian government to act with reference to the canal. Since the breaking out of the trouble there has been no s

Men Who Handled Miners' Relief Fund Are Ordered to Vacate Houses.

MORE MINES WORKING

Individual Operators Alone Still at Loggerheads With Employes. Big Companies Have All but 13 of Their Collieries Going.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAZLETON, PA., Oct. 27.—Charles Helferty, president; James Gallagher, secretary; Paul Dunleavy, treasurer, and Henry Shovelin, a member of the relief committee of the Jeddo local union of the United Mine Workers, are among the eight employes occupying company houses of G. B. Markle & Co. at Japan, Oakdale and Foundryville, who were served with notices by the firm this afternoon to vacate their premises within six days. Henry Coll, one of the remaining four, was until recently on the relief committee of the local. The three other men are foreigners. The company announces that these men will not be re-employed at any of its four collieries.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 27.—More coal was mined and more men were employed today than any day since the mines in the anthracite region resumed work. The only districts that lag behind in the output are Lehigh and Mahanoy. The individual operators and their employes in those districts are still at loggerheads.

In the Wyoming and Lackawanna regions all the collieries are in operation except a few which are still under water. The miners and laborers, who left the region during the strike are returning in large numbers. Passenger traffic on the Pennsylvania railroad between Pittsburgh and the hard coal region points is especially heavy.

At the Exeter mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company today eight men were discharged because they would not do the work of a driver boy who was refused his place when he applied for it.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 27.—Of the 108 collieries operated by the five big companies having headquarters here, only 13 are still idle.

The individual operators are rapidly getting into line, and before many more days all of them except a very few will be in operation. About 80 per cent of the old employes of the collieries in the Lackawanna region are back at work. By Wednesday the companies expect to be getting out 70 per cent of their normal output.

During the strike the National washery was operated with 40 imports. They have been quitting daily since the strike ended, and today Manager Sharkey stated that there is not one of them remaining. The old employes have all been taken back.

MORE MEN AT WORK.

Fully Three-Fourths of Miners Around Shamokin Are in Old Places.

SHAMOKIN, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Three-fourths of all the mine workers in this vicinity are now re-employed. The Thickery Swamp and Luke Fidler collieries resumed this morning and all the Pennsylvania collieries are in operation. Reading collieries, with the exception of the Henry Clay, are in operation with 40 per cent of the number of men employed before the strike.

The trouble at the mines is not over yet and this is caused by the refusal of the companies to reinstate fire bosses and some steam men. At various operations men have been requested to take the places of the discharged fire bosses, but in many instances they have refused and are threatened with dismissal.

Benjamin Hossan and Walter Jasper, non-union men, returned from Schuylkill county today and entered a saloon where they were recognized by strikers. A quarrel ensued. The non-unionists were badly injured and thrown out of the saloon.

MINISTER WU CALLED TO A HIGHER OFFICE

Ordered Home to Be Minister of Commerce and to Head Commercial Treaty Commission.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Wu Ting Fang has been recalled to China by an edict of the emperor. The edict is peremptory. Mr. Wu being directed to return to China as soon as possible, ever the route by which he is to make his voyage being indicated. The edict informs Mr. Wu that he has been appointed minister of commerce in association with Chang Chi Tung.

Mr. Wu said today that he might be able to leave this country in about three weeks, but the precise date has not been determined.

Mr. Wu also received a cable dispatch announcing that he had been appointed as one of the members of the commission to negotiate commercial treaties with foreign powers. He will be be at the head of this commission.

Whether he will leave his son in this country has not been determined. He desires that his son should have a good American education.

APPLIED FOR A CHARTER.

New Pittsburgh Trust Company Preparing to Start Business.

The incorporators of the Merchants' Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh yesterday made application for a charter at Harrisburg. The organization intends to locate its business place in Fifth avenue, near Stevenson street, as announced by The Gazette at the time the site for the company's new building was purchased some weeks ago. The company is capitalized at $500,000. The directors are: William M. Laird, Thomas Hannah, U. Z. Hichman, Thomas Walker, Xavier Wittmer, James Cohen, Arthur Pew, Charles A. Schlagel, Richard Laird, A. H. Burchfield, Robert Hogue, Earl R. Marvin, Thomas R. Moreland, Pittsburgh; Theodore A. Motheral, Allegheny; H. M. Vancourt, Philadelphia.

STOCKHOLDERS BRING SUIT.

Effort to Restrain Steel Company from Declaring Dividends.

READING, PA., Oct. 27.—Stockholders owning 5,000 shares this afternoon brought an equity suit against the American Iron and Steel Company, alleging that its capital is impaired and asking that it be restrained from declaring any dividends except out of net earnings.

The allegations are that dividends have been paid which were never earned.

American Arraigned for Murder.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—George Chapman, who came from America in 1893, and who is landlord of a Southwark saloon, was arraigned in police court today charged with having poisoned a young woman who had lived with him. It transpired that this was the third woman who had died within five years in houses owned by the prisoner. The other women were his wives.

BOAT OVERTURNS WITH 13 MEN AND ONE IS DEAD

Prospective Bride Will Attend Funeral Instead of Wedding.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LORAIN, O., Oct. 27.—Fatality overtook a party of 13 workmen employed by Gaynor Bros. on the government contract work this morning. The men set out from shore in a small flat bottomed boat for a stone scow 50 feet from shore. A heavy sea overturned the boat. There was a lively scramble, and in their frantic effort to reach shore the men clung to each other.

All but Alexander Flor reached shore. He sank before assistance could be rendered him and his body was recovered half an hour later by grappling hooks.

Steven C. Sonton was going down the third time when rescued by J. W. Winn, a government inspector.

Miss Louise Homala, the dead man's betrothed, is on her way here from New York, and their marriage was to take place soon after her arrival. Flor had sent money to the old country to pay her passage. She will reach her in time to attend the man's funeral.

Probably Murdered for Money.

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Last Thursday evening a strange man was in the city and in several saloons flashed a large roll of money. In one saloon he tried to make a deal for the purchase of the place. Today the same man's dead body was found under a culvert half buried in mud, with the right side of his head crushed. No money was found in his clothing.

Two Bitten by a Dog.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Great excitement was created in West Washington today by a mad dog which bit Mrs. Matthew Erwin and her daughter, Mary. A crowd of 200 pursued the animal over the streets. It was finally shot, but not until several other dogs had been bitten, and several of them were also killed.

To Prevent Accidents.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The Republic Iron and Steel Company will make a thorough inspection of all its plants with a view of preventing accidents. This action was taken at the annual meeting of the company and the plans will be carried out at once.

Kanawha Mines Resume.

MONTGOMERY, W. VA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Every coal miner of the Kanawha mines resumed work this morning. An early resumption in the New River district where the men are still out, on account of local differences, is expected.

HORSE DEALER GETS INTO MUCH TROUBLE

E. M. Stone of Steubenville Charged With False Pretense and Other Suits Promised.

E. M. Stone, a dealer in horses from Steubenville, was arrested yesterday on a charge of false pretense made before Magistrate McMasters by C. D. Shields, representing the Fourth avenue brokerage firm of John Mulholland. Shields accused Stone of a long series of bogus transactions.

Two weeks ago Stone brought 16 horses and a mule to Pittsburgh and sold them to Mulholland. The animals were valued at $4,500, and $1,800 was advanced to Stone. With the bill of sale obtained from Mulholland it is alleged that $2,000 worth of feed was secured from M. E. Coleman of No. 611a Center avenue. Next Stone presented a copy of the old bill of sale, it is alleged, and was given $800 by Mulholland. According to the story of Shields, the depuicate of the bill of sale was passed upon the firm by Stone cutting off the line on which was marked the word "copy."

Coleman, in order to make himself secure for the amount of the feed bill, according to Shields' story, took the horses that had been sold to Mulholland and the latter will enter another suit to recover his animals.

Stone is also accused of passing worthless checks upon Policeman John Hodges and a Sixth avenue saloonkeeper. Stone is well known in Steubenville, and is connected with some good families in Ohio.

CHAMPION'S NARROW ESCAPE.

A New York Player Almost Bested the Great Lasker.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Lasker, the world's champion chess player, narrowly escaped being beaten by the local expert, Lipschuetz, in a match game at the Manhattan Chess club last night. Lipschuetz started the game with a Vienna opening and had a chance of administering a mate in five moves, beginning with his 26th move. He, however, allowed Lasker to escape, as he did not see the mate. The game was adjourned at an early hour this morning, to be resumed on Wednesday afternoon.

Showalter sent a dispatch to Lasker yesterday, resigning the adjourned game from Monday evening.

KING PRAISES TROOPS.

Edward VII. Regrets That He Has Never Seen Active Service.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—King Edward reviewed today nearly 4,000 guardsmen recently returned from South Africa. The king afterward addressed the troops, saying:

"You have upheld the great name which has made everybody who has served in the guards a proud man. I myself feel proud to have, as a young man served in your ranks, though I regret I never had the opportunity, like my brother, of seeing active service. A finer body of men it is impossible to wish to see. It is a proud day for me to have inspected the guards brigade."

MUST STAY OUT OF FRANCE.

Expelled American Horseman Gets Second Walking Papers.

PARIS, Oct. 27.—Le Soir this evening says that Burns, an American horseman, who was recently expelled from France after investigation on the part of the authorities of the alleged turf scandal, having returned to this country in the expectation that his case would be reheard, the minister of the interior directed that he be at once expelled again. Burns was arrested this afternoon and will be conducted to the frontier.

Injuries Make Death Certain.

Frank Capinck, an Italian laborer, employed at the Schoen Pressed Steel Company's plant at McKees Rocks, was fatally injured last night as the Turner crossing by being struck by a passenger train on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. He was removed to West Penn hospital, where it was found he has a fractured skull, both legs broken, right arm dislocated and three ribs broken. The physicians say he will die.

H. MONTGOMERY.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 27.—Special.)—The Hon. R. Montgomery is president of the Youngstown and Sharon Power and Electric Company. The company owns the Youngstown & Sharon electric line, the Sharon & New Castle, the Valley Street Railway Company and the gas and electric companies of Youngstown, Sharon and Sharpesville, Pa. He was mayor of Youngstown for two terms, representative from this county for two terms and resigned the office of city commissioner to accept his present position.

POLANDER SHOT DEAD IN DRUNKEN CAROUSAL

Alleged Assailant Threatens Fayette County Officer and Escapes.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 27.—The usual Sunday carousal at Buffington coke works yesterday added another fatal shooting to Fayette county's long roll. House No. 33, occupied by Joe Stolzer, was the scene, and an unknown Polander from the Lamont works, who had just come to Buffington hunting work, was the victim. His alleged assailant, Marshall Daugherty, escaped. Daugherty was the boss hauler at the works. He had been drinking, it is said, with the foreigners at Stolzer's house, and got into a fight with them and they put him out.

Crazed with drink and rage, it is alleged, Daugherty pulled his revolver and fired into the crowd on the porch. Two shots struck the Polander in the breast, one in the head and another went wild.

Daugherty at once ran away, and Constable Allamon, who was notified of the shooting, took his trail and came within hailing distance of the fleeing man at Finley's farm. Daugherty turned around, leveled his revolver at Allamon and told him to stand where he was or he would kill him. The constable was unarmed, and had to obey, while Daugherty dashed on.

Discussed Labor Problems.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—A labor meeting was held here tonight in the opera house under the auspices of the Central Trades and Labor council. Speeches were made by Thomas Haggerty and Thomas L. Lewis, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America. The object of the meeting was to discuss the benefits business men derived from organized labor.

Refused to Reinstate Students.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The faculty of Lehigh University this afternoon refused the petition signed by 500 students to reinstate P. F. Butler, president of the sophomore class, and A. W. Zahniser, another sophomore. Both collegians were suspended last week for a year for having participated in the disorder at the freshmen's banquet.

Murder Is Suspected.

LEBANON, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The badly decomposed body of William Shuey, a well-to-do and eccentric Swatara township farmer, was found last evening by boys on the Shuey farm. Everything points to his having been murdered for his money, of which he was known to carry a large amount.

Women's Mission Conference.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—The preliminary meeting of the secretaries of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church was held today in Wesley church. A memorial testimonial was offered for Mrs. Philip Achard, whose death occurred last month at her home in St. Louis.

Batted Ball Drove Knife Into Young Man's Heart.

ZANESVILLE, O., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—News of a tragedy, probably without a parallel, reached here from Morristown, Belmont county, this evening. During a ball game near the village on Sunday Stanton Walker, with others, was seated on a nearby fence watching the contest.

Walker had asked a companion for a knife, which had just been handed him with the blade pointing toward his body, when a batted ball struck Walker's head and the end of the knife handle with such force that the blade was driven into the young man's heart. He fell from the fence and died without a word.

WILD MAN CAPTURED NEAR CUMBERLAND, MD.

Had Been Frightening Farmers and Children for a Month.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—A wild man that has been frightening farmers and their children near here for a month until the latter were afraid to attend school was captured this afternoon. He was almost nude and had been staying in a mountain shack which he constructed of slicks.

He refused to give any account of himself, further than to say that the mountains were his home and wild animals his associates. He is not more than 25 years of age and a giant. He was taken to jail, given a bath and supplied with clothing, after which he was tried before a magistrate, who committed him to the house of correction for six months.

OPPOSING FEDERAL SITE.

Oil City Councils Find Way to Change Postoffice Location.

OIL CITY, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—At a joint session of councils tonight a resolution was passed declining to accept "Steck avenue," which citizens proposed to open and donate to the city. As the location of the new federal building was conditional upon the opening of the street the action of the councils will necessitate the government re-advertising for bids for land.

The objection to the proposed site was its distance from the business center. A committee of city officials is in Washington consulting with the department.

Old Soldier Stopped Runaway.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Joseph Trax attempted to stop a runaway horse here today when he lost his feet and was dragged beneath the horse, but he held on until the animal was stopped. His clothing was torn to shreds and spectators took up a collection to furnish a new suit of clothes for his bravery. Trax was orderly for Gen. Custer throughout the civil war. The horse was being driven by a woman.

Suffocated by Steam.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Paul Reese, night watchman at the Standard oilcloth works of this city, and one of the best-known men of Girard, was suffocated last night by escaping steam at the plant. He had gone into a room to shut off the steam when the pipe burst. His brother John rescued him, but he died soon after. He was married and had three children.

Branch Railroad Opened.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The Wolf Creek branch of the Pennsylvania lines, between Leesburg and the coal and limestone fields of Butler county, has been opened and about 50 cars of material are being taken from the new fields daily. The road is 12 miles long and was built at heavy expense. Three long bridges and many deep cuts and heavy fills were required.

To Build a Town.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The Newport Land Company, just formed here, intends to establish another industrial town near Newport. The incorporators are Capt. M. S. Marquis, W. H. Grove, Matthew Gunton, J. H. Kaufman and Richard Dana. A charter will be applied for at once and the new town will be laid out along the proposed line of the Wabash.

Unitarian Conference Meets.

SALEM, O., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The central states conference met for a two days' session in Unity church this evening and was opened by a sermon by the Rev. Minot O. Simons of Cleveland. A reception was given to about 50 delegates from Unitarian churches in various parts of Ohio.

Officer Apologized for Arrest.

LATROBE, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The investigation into the conduct of Officer J. Milton Osborne in arresting Justice Alexander M. White for forcible ejectment, came to a sudden ending tonight when the policeman signed a written apology to the justice.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—The Rev. William R. Lloyd, pastor of the First Christian church, has resigned.

NEWARK, O.—Christobal Woods, a section man on the Panhandle railroad, was killed by an express train near Hanover.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Nellie Halman, aged 5, died in terrible agony of lockjaw. She had been vaccinated three weeks ago.

TORONTO, O.—Ash Cambis of New Cumberland, W. Va., was held up by four negroes at that place and almost killed by a blow on the head.

EASTON, PA.—The Hon. W. S. Kirkpatrick, acting president of Lafayette college, is seriously ill at the Easton hospital. He underwent an operation.

JOHNSTOWN, PA.—Fred Bewne, aged 16, is at the hospital fatally injured as a result of a premature explosion of powder. He was getting ready to celebrate Hallowe'en.

JEANNETTE, PA.—Burglars entered the office of the West End hotel, conducted by Jacob F. Beck, and blew open the safe, taking about $30 and all of Mr. Beck's valuable papers.

FOGHESTEP, PA.—The Hon. John F. Drake of Beaver has been secured to address the Men's club of the First Congregational church on Thursday evening, November 6, on the subject of the improvement of the Ohio river.

ERIE, PA.—The body of the man who was found at Nason's mill, Miles Grove, has been identified as that of John Mila, 28 years of age, an Austrian laborer employed on the new trolley line at that place. The man had been murdered.

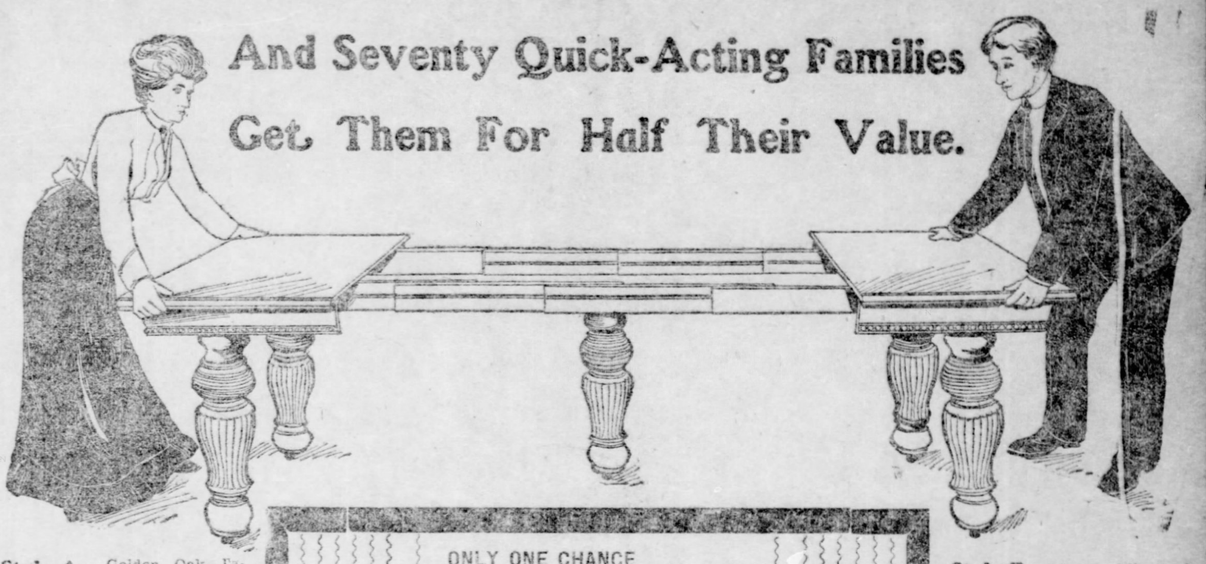
WARREN—The Geauga Lake Oil, Gas & Fuel Company was organized here with $25,000 capital to drill near Geauga lake. Dr. C. A. Archer is president; George W. Taylor, vice president, and M. M. Padgett, secretary and treasurer.

ALTOONA, PA.—Samuel Moffit, Joseph Espenlaub and Joseph Gallagher were arrested for setting fire to Brush mountain, south of the city. The fire is consuming valuable timber, and threatens the home of William Creighton, who made the charges.

BEAVER, PA.—The Beaver Valley Presbytery will meet in the United Presbyterian church of this place Tuesday. Sessions will be held morning and afternoon, and the Rev. Robert B. Miller, pastor-elect, will be ordained and installed in the evening.

SEVENTY EXTENSION TABLES

And Seventy Quick-Acting Families Get Them For Half Their Value.



Style A— Golden Oak Table, 8-ft. extension, 42-in. top, with fluted legs, worth $7.25, for $3.62.

Style B— Sold out completely from the show window display.

Style C— Quartered oak, polished top, fluted pillar legs, 44-in. top, 6-ft. extension, worth $18, for $9.00. 8-ft. extension, worth $20, for $10.

Style D— Quartered Oak Table, round top, with fluted turned legs, 6-ft. extension, worth $20, for $10. 8-ft. extension, worth $25, for $12.50.

ONLY ONE CHANCE IN TEN THOUSAND

If You Want an Extension Table at Half Value, Be Lively.

At Campbell's today there are seventy extension tables, while in Allegheny county there are more than 700,000 people. That's only one table for every 1,000 inhabitants.

Well, what of it? There are other tables in Pittsburgh!

True! But how many of them are on sale at prices that would not pay for the wood and the wages of the cabinet maker?

That's why these seventy extension tables at Campbell's mean a great deal to a many families not already provided with suitable festive boards—and Thanksgiving only a month away.

Here's how it happened: The Keystone Manufacturing Company of Allegheny, who make beds, etc., had such financial relations with a table-maker that in a certain contingency they became the unwilling owners of seventy extension tables—and no outlet for them through their regular channels of trade. Deeming a rapid riddance the best policy they turned the whole lot over to William Campbell for spot cash, at half the usual manufacturers' prices. And Mr. Campbell in turn is going to let seventy quick-acting families of Allegheny county have them at half the usual furniture prices, because as each table standing on its legs occupies 16 square feet of floor space the entire seventy would take up too much valuable room for a considerable time if retained to sell in the regular way.

These tables come in nine patterns, all golden oak, the finer ones quarter-sawed and superbly polished, all with massive pillar legs, some with giant frames, some with beaded molding, and every one a creditable piece of cabinet work. Seven patterns are square, measuring 42, 44 and 48 inches. Two patterns are round and measure 45 and 48 inches. The lengths extended are 6, 8 and 10 feet. Prices range from $3.62 to $17.50, while the least among them is worth $7.25, and the finest would be good value at $35.

Samples of each style are ready for inspection now in Campbell's furniture floor.

—From the Chronicle Telegraph.

Style E— Quartered oak, 48-in. square top, fluted turned legs, 8-ft. extension, worth $24, for $12. 10-ft. extension, worth $28, for $14.

Style F— Quartered oak, square top, giant box frame, 46-in. top, massive fluted and turned legs, 8-ft. extension, worth $28, for $14. 10-ft. extension, worth $32, for $16.

Style G— Quartered oak, 48-in. square top, 8-ft. extension, 6⅝-in. fluted legs, worth $33, for $16.50.

Style H— Quartered oak, 48-in. round top, 8-ft. extension, with massive fluted legs, worth $33, for $16.50.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 27.—C. E. Rafferty of Pittsburg, who played on the Yale 'varsity elevens in 1900 and 1901, joined the Yale football squad this afternoon after having been on probation since the opening of the present college term. Rafferty is a special student in the scientific school. Last June in the annual exhibition he was conditioned. Owing to Yale's strict rules this disqualified him for the football team until he had passed off all of these conditions.

Rafferty has been working ever since college opened to get rid of his conditions. He did not succeed in doing this until Saturday and his return to the football team will materially strengthen the eleven, as Yale has been weak all the fall in end material. He is the fourth Pittsburgh boy who is now playing on the Yale team. The others are Shevlin, the tackle; Moorhead, the end rush, and McClintock, the full back.

Yale coachers made a wholesale shift this afternoon in the team. Cofin, who has been right tackle all the year, was deposed. Charley Rafferty taking his place. Tom Shevlin of Minneapolis, the high school freshman who was tried out as end but made a poor impression, and was shifted back to tackle. Hamlin was given center, after having been tried at guard and tackle all the fall. Gordon Brown, captain in 1900, arrived to stay two weeks. He took charge of Kinney, a freshman who has been making a grand fight for tackle. Practically all of the regular players were given a day off because of their hard work against Syracuse on Saturday. Wilhelm and Shevlin were the only men who played Saturday who lined up today.

Tigers Suffered Bad Loss

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The Tigers practice today consisted of a long signal and formation drill and a half hour's lineup against the scrubs. All the regular line men were given a rest except Short, but the regular set of backs were used and none of the players seemed to feel the effect of the hard game with Columbia on Saturday.

The loss of Burke and Kafer from the back field will be keenly felt. After the game on Saturday Capt. Davis remarked that he would almost rather have lost the game than these two men. There is a slight possibility of the former being able to play, as his injury is not so serious as Kafer's, but it is now up to the Princeton coaches to develop another quarterback and fullback who will be of as great value behind the line as these two men were.

Harvard Does Secret Work.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Harvard's football players began secret practice this afternoon in preparation for the Carlisle game next Saturday. The coaches recognize the fact that the Indians are likely to put up a stiff argument and will be likely to spring a few trick plays so the crimson team will be drilled all week in new formations with a view of giving the red men a surprise or two.

Today's lineup was very short because of the hard game played with Brown Saturday. But the 'varsity had no difficulty in making gains through the second team. The second team had the ball most of the time, the coaches desiring to drill the 'varsity thoroughly in defensive work.

Getting Ready for Columbia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—That the University of Pennsylvania football team is especially anxious to defeat Columbia in the annual game with the blue-and-white on Saturday next was demonstrated when the squad resumed practice on Franklin field today. Coach Williams was assisted by Messrs. Bull, Hedges and Wharton in looking after the 'varsity and second 'varsity, while "By" Dickson drilled about 20 candidates on the west field in football rudiments.

Wharton, who was in street clothes, gave the line men another sharp lesson, and, although inappropriately dressed, got into the practice with considerable vim and vigor. The concentrated work of the coaches on the squad seemed to be in perfecting a formation which is sure to play havoc with Columbia's tackles and ends, notably weak positions on the blue-and-white eleven.

Practiced in a Downpour.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—"Jupiter Pluvius" reigned on the Cornell gridiron today and the field was a perfect sea of mud; nevertheless Cornell's football candidates were given one of the hardest scrimmages of the season, the rain falling in torrents all of the time. For 20 minutes the candidates wallowed, and when they left the field for the club house every man was covered from head to foot, while eyes and mouths were full of mud.

Hunt, who played full back in the game Saturday, was displaced by Shepard, although the big fellow took part in the signal work.

RUBE PLAYED FOOTBALL.

Waddell Got in the Game, But Had No Chance for Fine Work.

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The football season was opened here today with a game between the Scandale Athletic club and the Slippery Rock state normal school eleven. Rube Waddell, the big baseball pitcher, was in the second half of the game for the Scandales, but had no opportunity to display his finesse. The Normal boys were outclassed and were never in the hunt. Three of the visitors, Watkins, Christley and McDonald, were disabled and compelled to retire from the game.

Bowling Congress to Be Postponed to Give Workers Use of Hall.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27.—Mayor Bookwalter is trying to arrange a postponement of the annual tournament of the American bowling congress, which was to have been held the week of February 2. The mayor is president of the congress.

If the congress were held at the time originally set, the city would have to refuse the United Mine Workers of America the use of Tomlinson hall for their annual convention, which will begin January 19, and last three weeks, because of the conference with the operators that follows. It is believed that the week beginning February 29 will be selected for the bowling congress.

WESTMINSTER WON BY CLEVER PLAYING

Defeated Grove City Team in an Exciting Game—Tennent and Elliot Had a Fight.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Oct. 27.—Westminster had no trouble this afternoon in defeating Grove City college in a game of football by the score of 17 to 5. It was exciting throughout and Westminster scored after three minutes' play, and again in the first half and once in the second. Grove City made a touchdown in the first half.

Save for an altercation between Tennent and Elliott, for which they were at once disqualified, the game was sharp and clean throughout. Tennent scored the first touchdown, making a 55-yard run. He was replaced by Scott, who put up a strong defensive game. Grove City was forced again and again to punt, in which feature Locks appeared to good advantage. A large crowd saw the game and good feeling prevailed.

The game was fairly won and bravely lost. Tonight the Westminster boys and their friends are celebrating the victory with red fire and a jollification. Score and line up:

SETTLING THE WAR.

Minor League Officials Trying to Straighten Matters Out in the West.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A meeting of the national board of arbitration of the National Association of Baseball clubs began here today to consider the trouble between the Western league and the American association.

President Brice of Columbus and Watkins of Indianapolis of the American association, and President M. H. Sexton of the Western league and T. W. Van Brunt of St. Joseph, also of the Western league, are here. The scheme of settlement calls for the abandonment of Kansas City and Milwaukee by the Western league and the giving up of these two cities entirely to the American association.

President Powers announced tonight that all the members of the board would have Mr. Van Brunt and Presidents Brice of Columbus and Watkins of Indianapolis before them tomorrow. "The whole matter will then be thrashed out," said Mr. Powers, "and efforts will be made to straighten out the difficulty."

Mr. Powers said that the members of the American association would be treated with the greatest fairness in the negotiations in the hope that the trouble would be settled.

FOR THE M'VAY CUP.

In the first round of match play on the Edgeworth course at Sewickley yesterday for the cup offered by W. P. McVey, the results were as follows: P. M. Hutchinson beat Joseph Rohrbacher by 7 up and 5 to play; Ray Murray defeated R. Elliott by 4 up and 3 to play; W. N. Kerr won by default from A. L. George; R. P. Nevin, Jr., won by default from J. W. Dix; David Hays won by default from E. O. Robinson; F. C. Ewart defeated Harold Stanton by 2 up and 1 to play; C. L. Shannon defeated J. S. George by 2 up and 1 to play; W. H. Haines beat S. S. Liggett by one up in 19 holes. The second round of match play will be decided this afternoon.

PRINCE ALERT WON MATCH RACE

World's Record Created, but Race Unsatisfactory.

LORD DERBY WON

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 27.—The special match race for $12,000 a side between the pacers Prince Alert and Sir Albert S., one heat, at half a mile, resulted in an easy victory for the former at the Memphis Driving park this afternoon in the remarkable time of 57¾ seconds. This establishes a new world's record for this distance in a race, beating the former time by 2½ seconds.

The contest was not satisfactory in all of its details. After scoring several times the horses got away from the half pole in perfect alignment. Sanders immediately sent Sir Albert S. forward and he led Prince Alert by two lengths. At the quarter pole Sanders increased his lead by three lengths and the timers hung out 28½ for the quarter. Making the turn for home Sir Albert S., still in a commanding lead, broke badly and Prince Alert forged to the front and won by three lengths.

Many horsemen expressed the opinion that had Sir Albert S. kept his feet the result would have been different and the time reduced at least a quarter of a second. The former record for half a mile was 1:00½, held by Audubon Boy.

Fast time was the order in the Mazuma stake, Maxine the winner, trotting the second heat in 2:08¾. The free-for-all pace for mares was won easily by Fanny Dillard. Fereno annexed the 2:09 trot in straight heats, while Lord Derby, after two game finishes, won the Memphis gold cup from The Monk. Summaries:

Brookville Defeated Clairon.

BROOKVILLE, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Brookville High school defeated Clarion here today in a lively game by a score of 16 to 0. Clarion outweighed the local team 10 pounds to the man, but superior team work brought victory to the High school.

CHARLEY COMISKEY THINKS HE IS VICTIM OF A CURSE.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Charley Comiskey, owner of the White Stockings, twice pennant winners in the American league, is wondering whether a strange prophecy made many years ago is going to prove true. He was reminded of it by the injuries his brother Edward received Friday night.

Many years ago he threw a ball and accidentally it bounded against an old woman who was picking rags on the dump at the other end of the lot. It didn't have sufficient force to hurt her, and Charley immediately apologized, but she was angry.

"May you live to see all your kith and kin die!" exclaimed the woman, in a melodramatic manner.

Comiskey was not much given to belief in spells and fortune telling, so the incident was forgotten.

Recently, however, the strange fatality which seems to have pursued the Comiskey family brought the old woman's curse to his mind. He doesn't place any faith in it, but still is compelled to admit it is a strange circumstance that all his brothers, except the one who was hurt Friday night, and all of them younger than he, have died within the last year, as well as his father. Ignatius Comiskey died in Chicago; Patrick in St. Paul and James in Kansas City. Then came the injury to Edward.

STAYED THE LIMIT BUT BADLY BEATEN

Tommy Erne Knocked Down Fourteen Times and Ran from Champion Corbett.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27.—"Young Corbett," the featherweight champion of the world, while he outclassed "Young" Erne of this city in a six-round contest before the Washington Sporting club tonight, he failed to knock the nimble little featherweight out. Corbett started in with a rush to end the bout right in the first round, but Erne was a past master of the art of sprinting in a 20-foot ring, and the champion failed in his purpose.

The crowd of 3,000 spectators of course a partisan one, went wild when Erne began jabbing Corbett with cleverly timed left-hand blows, which sent the champion's head back with astonishing regularity. After the second round, however, Corbett got his opponent's measure and forced Erne to take the count 14 times in the succeeding four rounds, but he was wild in some of his swings. His counters were ill timed, and the local man managed to hug out the contest.

There was a large amount of money wagered on the result odds being given that Corbett would win within six rounds. Erne evidently had the glittering gold shining in his mind's eye after the second round and was wary of mixing it up. Once he dropped to the stage without being struck, but the referee cautioned him and refused to allow him to take the count.

Corbett's short arm work was a revelation to the local sports, while his poor defense on left-hand jabs excited considerable comment. Erne took an awful gruelling in body blows, which seem to be Corbett's strong forte, and several times the local man was almost doubled up by vicious right-hand blows aimed for abdominal regions.

M'GRAW NAMES HIS MEN.

Johnson's Bluffs Force Maggay to Give His Players for Next Season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Possibly if it had not been reported that the president of the American league was in this city making public names of players he had signed, the management of the New York National league club would have felt it incumbent to protect longer the names of the players who have positively signed contracts to play here in 1903. A statement, purporting to come from Ban Johnson, stirred McGraw into action, and today he gave out the official list of men signed for the New Yorks, and, in addition to that, added positive proof confirming the contracts they have made.

The list does not varry, but one name from that published some time ago. The catchers are Bowerman, Warner, Bresnahan and Robinson. The latter is the college youngster who played with the New Yorks during the latter part of the season and whom McGraw thinks worthy of a trial. The pitchers are Cronin, Miller, Taylor, Matthewson and McGinnity. McGann, Smith, Lauder, George Davis, Elberfeld, Dunn and McGraw are the infielders. Browne, Van Haltren, Mertes and Fultz are the outfielders. The latter has not signed a contract, but has accepted terms.

Negotiations have also been entered into with Burkett, who has not signed a contract, but who has given assurances that he will be with New York in 1903.

NOT EVEN GOOD PRACTICE

Shadyside Team Run Up an Awful Score Against the Elders Ridge Eleven.

The strong Shadyside academy kickers completely smothered the ambitious Elders Ridge eleven yesterday afternoon on the Shadyside grounds, rolling up the overwhelming score of 93 points to a goose egg for the visitors.

This victory gives the Shadyside boys a total of 334 points scored against opponents in six games played this season, while not once has the academy's goal line been crossed. Nearly all of the scoring was done on steady work up the field, though Price and Aul distinguished themselves, as usual, by long runs.

Shadyside's next game will be on Friday with Pittsburgh High school on the latter's field at Friendship park. It will be the first meeting of the season for the old rivals. Line-up:

Shadyside—93.		Elders Ridge—0.
Miller	L. E.	Eshelman
Scutchfield	L. T.	Fisher
Kaufmann	L. G.	King
Cowan	Center	Fisher
Donnelly	R. G.	King
McCutcheon	R. T.	Adams
Brooks	R. E.	P. Grinder
Sloan	Q. B.	F. Grinder
Price	L. H.	Sefton
Aul	R. H.	Dixon
Williams	F. B.	Wilson

Touchdowns—Donnelly 3, Williams 6, Aul 5. Price 2. Goals kicked by Williams 13. Goals missed by Williams 3.

Coach Nip of the Flavels requests all players to report for practice Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock sharp. Owing to a cancellation Flavels is without a game for Saturday and would like to hear from some good 90-pound team with grounds. Address G. A. Tierney, No. 512 Carnegie building, city.

The manager's address is 150 Allegheny market.

STANDING BY THE TEAM.

Wash.-Jeff. Rooters Get a Little Solace Out of Defeat.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Anthusiasm over the football team of Washington and Jefferson does not seem to have been dampened by the defeat at the hands of the Ohio Medical university Saturday. There were several cripples in the Washington and Jefferson line-up, while the Ohio team was in fine fettle and admitted that they had been saving up their men for the contest.

The game developed a new halfback in Longwell, a freshman, who weighs 180 and carries the ball like a veteran. He was not played in the whole game, but enough of his work was seen to prove that he is a good one. Eckles was also given his first trial behind the line and did good work. There is more action in the back field now than at any time this season and ginger is the thing that has been lacking in the playing. It is likely that the team to go against Waynesburg Wednesday will be composed largely of subs.

Manager W. R. Craig of the W. and J. football team today announced that he was trying to arrange a return game with the O. M. U. team of Columbus. This game will be one to take the place of the game previously arranged with State college, and the date is November 15. Manager W. M. Hutchmore of the O. M. U. team will complete arrangements and let Craig know by Wednesday if possible.

STARS PLAYED PING PONG BASKET BALL

Coach Richardson Has a New Scheme to Get Work Out of His Players.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 27.—Almost every member of the Pittsburgh squad is feeling the effects of Saturday's game with the East End Athletics. On several players there are evidences of "Slugger" Lentz's fists, and "Davey" Sheehan's force of rubbers are kept busy. The work this afternoon was hard, nevertheless.

The first part of the practice was devoted to ping-pong basketball, an invention of Coach Richardson. The players were divided into two teams, captained by Shirring and Barney. Barney's team won by the score of 14 to 6. The game resembles basketball in many respects, the players not being allowed to kick the ball or run toward the goal their opponents were guarding. The game was a diversion for the squad, and all entered heartily into it.

Almost an hour's signal practice followed the game, and it was a tired lot of players that got to the training quarters shortly before dark. Kirkhoff, it is thought, will be in shape to play in Saturday's game with the Baltimore Medical college at the Colosseum. On Wednesday the eleven will play the Cottage team at Latrobe. This is Manager Berry's old home, and his neighbors are anxious to see the eleven he has collected this season.

HOW THE HUMP MAY BE MOVED

Dirt Excavated to Be Used for Filling in the Point Lowlands.

TRACTION GRAVEL CARS

Reported That the Third Avenue Line Will Be Utilized for This Purpose—A Plan Has Been Arranged.

To move the hump to the Point is the latest real estate proposition beginning to take tangible form. It is regarded as a feasible plan of killing two birds with one stone, for it would not only reduce the big hill, but would make the Point property available for business purposes by putting the ground level out of the reach of high water. That the move will be started within a year is the opinion of many shrewd business men.

The fact that H. C. Frick is the prime mover in the hump removal and is using every effort to hasten it, added to the fact that he was the buyer of the Schenley holdings at the Point, which he is about to turn over the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, has given rise to the impression that he had a double object in view. What to do with the hump dirt has been a puzzle.

It was learned yesterday that a well-defined plan is arranged for the removal of the dirt to the Point and that as soon as the hump removal is acted upon favorably by the city councils it will be announced in detail. In brief, it is to take the dirt to that portion of the Point lying between Penn avenue and Duquesne way and extending from Water to Fourth streets.

It is proposed to put a line of traction gravel cars in Third avenue to effect the removal in the most speedy and convenient manner. This would necessitate the tafing off for several weeks of the passenger street car traffic on this avenue and taking it over some other line. The string of gravel cars running constantly night and day would make short work of the hump bugbear.

The Point property is at least six feet below high water mark. In a flood such as that of last March, when the water rose to 32 feet, the damage to property amounts to thousands of dollars. Wholesale merchants predicted last spring that no set of hard-headed business men would ever build a system of warehouses at the Point, unless the ground was raised and a stone retaining wall built along the Allegheny river.

BAPTIST FOREIGN MISSIONS GROWING

Address by the Rev. Henry C. Mabie—Reports from the Christian Convention.

The Rev. Henry Clay Mabie of Boston, home secretary of the Baptist Missionary union, delivered a statistical address before the Baptist Ministers' meeting yesterday morning. "Today," he said, "there are 478 missionaries laboring in seven heathen countries and preaching the gospel in more than 25 languages. Our heathen converts number 111,630 and are organized into 1,003 churches."

The ministers of the Christian church heard reports from their delegates to the national Christian convention in Omaha. The Rev. William J. Russell made the leading address. He said that the present membership of the church is considerably over 1,500,000 and is increasing fast.

The Methodist Episcopal Ministerial association elected officers for the coming six months as follows: President, the Rev. William C. Weaver; vice president, the Rev. D. L. Johnson; secretary, the Rev. J. M. Pascoe. A business committee was appointed, consisting of the Rev. W. E. E. Barkus, the Rev. John Calvert Bert and the Rev. J. P. Moriat.

The Rev. J. M. Wallace spoke on "The Present Political Situation in Pennsylvania" before the United Presbyterians.

The Rev. Leroy W. Warren created a mild sensation at the meeting of the Presbyterian ministers in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh yesterday morning. He read a paper on "Music to Christian Worship" and declared that many hymns used are out of place and that ministers are careless in selection.

THE REV. H. E. BERKEY WILL NOT RESIGN

This Decision Was Announced Yesterday by the Sharpsburg Lutheran Minister.

The Rev. H. E. Berkey, pastor of the St. Lutheran church of Sharpsburg, who created a sensation on Sunday night by tendering his resignation and trying to preach his farewell sermon, has reconsidered his action. He announced yesterday before the meeting of the Lutheran Ministerial association that he would not resign his charge, but would remain and prove to the people that they were wrong in the charges they made against him. He said that he would call a meeting of the church council and put the matter before it, but emphatically stated that while he had been asked to resign he would not do so.

Secretary Larrick of the Sharpsburg Y. M. C. A. sided with Mr. Berkey. He said that the disturbing member should be put out of the church. The ministers present thought it would be proper for Mr. Berkey to stay in his charge, but to have an immediate probing of the affair by the church council. This Mr. Berkey said he would do.

Dead Body of Edward Hogan Found in Bed Yesterday.

Edward Hogan, a hack driver, aged 40, was found dead in bed at his boarding house, No. 8 Fourth avenue, at noon yesterday. Death was caused by a hemorrhage of the lungs. He had been dead several days.

Last Friday Hogan was seen entering the boarding house by George Ward, who conducts a china store in the basement of the building. He appeared to be ill and staggered. Mrs. Adolph Goldberger, proprietress of the boarding house, returned yesterday from Cleveland and noticed the door of Hogan's room standing ajar. She called to the man several times, and receiving no reply walked into the room and found him dead.

A NIGHT OF INTEREST IN LOCAL THEATERS

Alvin—Mansfield as Brutus.

It would be an altogether futile task to attempt within the time allotted for the preparation of the Tuesday dramatic review, to give a satisfactory criticism and review of the imposing and splendid revival of Shakespeare's tragedy, "Julius Caesar," which Mr. Richard Mansfield presented for the first time in Pittsburgh at the Alvin theater last night. To decide at once while under the spell of the actor's forceful portrayal of the central role, or while enthused over the truly comprehensive and beautiful scenic investiture of the tragedy, that the revival marks a surpassing epoch in Shakespearean production, would doubtless do violence to the calmer judgment of those who, seeing the Mansfield revival, will recall the dignity, the intellectual gradeur and overpowering effect of other presentations of the play in the past history of the stage. To deny to Mr. Mansfield a genuine artistic triumph, both as an actor of versatility and power and a manager of rare generosity and courage, would be an equally unfair treatment of the performance that last night held a large audience until midnight by its charm, its singularity, graceful interpretation of the lines and spirit of the master bard and by, above everything else, the subtle portrayal of the role of Marcus Brutus by Richard Mansfield.

With these difficulties in his way the conscientious critic is shut up to a brief consideration of two points concerning this important dramatic offering. First, in what degree does Mr. Mansfield meet the popular demand for lavish stage accessories and appropriate and artistically accurate ensemble effects in his "Julius Caesar;" and second, are there points of real and striking difference between Mr. Mansfield's conception and interpretation of the role of Brutus and the traditional school of acting art which found its highest example in the late Edwin Booth, whose enactment of this same role 15 years ago will be recalled as an event of no small moment in the theatrical world. There can hardly be time or space for a careful review of the production as a whole. It is too big and too new in its appeal to the mind and eye to have an adequate impression of its interesting minor details.

Though not first in the order of importance the beauty and fine artistic ensemble of this Shakespearean revival is the first thing that strikes the beholder. There has possibly never before been seen a finer pictorial mounting than that in which Mr. Mansfield has equipped his revival of the Roman tragedy. From the first striking and realistic scene in a public space in Rome, through the eight massive settings that follow, there is not a one of them that does not reflect with fine artistic sense and accurate historical finish, the spirit of the play and its time, manners and customs. The audience last evening again and again broke into spontaneous applause, a tribute to the perfection and elegance of the appointments. Especially was this aproval manifest over the splendid reproduction of the garden of Brutus. The semi-darkness, the silver sheen of the moon, the dimly lighted galleries seen under the shadow of the trees, were evidences of scenic and stage excellence rarely witnessed. The senate scene, and later the scene in the forum, were likewise models of the highest art and the most generous liberality in the mounting of a play.

In the handling of the supernumeries there was also an impressive evidence of the fine care and effort that had been expending upon the production. This was notably so in the forum scene, which thorugh excellent pictoral effect aided not a little by the fine work of Arthur Forrest as Antony, came near being the high tide of interest and dramatic force in the entire performance. These excellences of detail and lavishness of pictoral embellishments are referred to at this length for the reason that they constitute no small part of the worthiness that marks Mr. Mansfield's latest essay into classic realms. The scenery, armorial trappings, costumes and Roman weapons and utensils were designed by Sir Alma Tadema, the celebrated English artist, and they bespeak his artistic skill as well as his informed historical intelligence. Seemingly Mansfield's "Julius Caesar" is a notable achievement, lothing the great tragedy worthily and with a beauty and dignity that, of itself, makes it a stage triumph, modern impressive and generous.

In answering the second and most important question concerning the Mansfield Caesar, the task is harder. Mr. Mansfield has given us a subtle and progressively interesting study of Brutus. The tragedy does not lend itself to continuity or concentration of interest. Caesar, Antony, Cassius, are all figures that alternate with Brutus the interest and attention of the audience. Mr. Mansfield evidently falls into this necessity and does not attempt, either by oratory or action, to interfere with this divided development. In the early scenes his impersonation lacks somewhat in dominancy. His intellectual grasp of the role is never uncertain, but there is a palpable failure to give vivid psychic expression to the moods that fill the mind and heart of Brutus. His first entrance upon the scene and his early conversation with Cassius give too much the impression of conspiracy. The noblest Roman of them all is made too soon the saddened victim of the fell conspiracy, whose black shadows ended in death at Philippi. In struggling with the subtleties of Brutus' early and untrained mind, upon which the seductions of Cassius wrought such havoc, Mr. Mansfield seems to enthuse his auditors. Then, too, in these early scenes, the reading is absolutely without the oratorical effect, not in itself an evil, but with Mr. Mansfield there is also a loss of meiffluent quality that does not win the sympathy or enlist the enthusiasm. His reading lacks tone fire and at times is even harsh and unyielding. And then, too, in the name of histrionic art and in defense of artistic smoothness, why will Mr. Mansfield insist upon jerking his words out by shrugs of the shoulders? He is by far too polished and informed an actor to lend himself to blemishes acquired in broad character portrayal.

But from the time of the assassination of Caesar until his tragic death at Philippi, the Mansfield Brutus grows in dignity and in dramatic and intellectual force. The revelations of his honesty and the purity of his purpose, his speech in the senate, by the dead body of Caesar, strikes a new note of strength and clearness of interpretation. He has ceased to struggle with the subtleties of a Mansfieldian Brutus, has thrown his progressive development of psychology to the winds, and from that moment onward, gives us a Brutus that, if not marking a new step forward in his own artistic career, at least reveals to us the latent possibilities that lie within the power of this vigorous young representative of the best impulses on the American stage today. His oration in the forum is still better, while his scene with Cassius and his vision of Caesar's ghost in the tent at Sardis, are marked by fine acting and a reading of the lines that is thrilling and impressive. Indeed, the ghost scene is magnificently done, and with its splendid pictorial accessories, becomes the focal point of interest in the production.

Mr. Arthur Forrest, who plays Marc Antony, deserves a hearty word of praise. His oration was delivered with fine judgment as to its meaning, and with an elocution that drew a storm of applause by reason of its fine manliness and intelligence. The company is strong only in one or two instances. Mr. Greenway's Cassar, Mr. Barry Johnstone's Cassius, Mr. Denny's Caesar and Mr. Warde's Decimus Brutus, together with the Calpernia of Miss Hoffman and the Portia of Miss Hamond, may be mentioned as among those who commended themselves to favor. The audience was an unusually large and brilliant one, but only at times demonstrative. Owing to the length of the performance the curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock.

Avenue—Vaudeville.

There is an exceptionally pleasing and interesting bill of vaudeville at the Avenue theater this week, showing that Manager Davis has kept his promise and in raising the prices has raised the standard of his attractions to a point that more than meets the difference. By far the most interesting novelty on the bill is the act of Zancigs, husband and wife, who do a truly marvelous mind reading feat. The writer of this review was present at a special exhibition of the work of these wonderful people, and confesses that at close range to be entirely mystified by mind reading that is absolutely without the aid of cues, signs or collusion of any kind. Zancig is shown a line in a book, any book, and his wife across the room and with her back turned reads the line audibly. You take a letter from your pocket, allowing the husband only to see the postmark and superscription. His wife can immediately read the address and tell you the day and the hour when the letter was mailed. These are but simple tests but they reveal somewhat the powers of these wonderful people. It is a clean and unequivocal case of telepathy without trick or device apparent to the beholder. Francesca Redding & Co. present an amusing little farce that is one of the best things this clever comedienne has ever done. Richard Harlowe captures the audience with his artistic "feminine" impersonations. The 4 Cuttys do a really artistic and refined musical act. James Cullen kept the audience in a roar with his parodies and witticisms. Besides these there are Le Paige, the jumping marvel; the National trio, Wilson and Leicester, Dacey and McCabe and Kelly and Kent.

Empire—"Mam'selle 'Awkins."

The name "Mam'selle 'Awkins" is enough to insure a good attendance at the Empire, where the play has made a host of friends. Last night was no exception and the well-filled house that greeted the initial performance was proof that Manager McCullough's selection of the week's entertainment had been a most satisfactory one. Very few in the house went away without having their risibles tickled with the new jokes and "drives" in a way that brought out hearty and continued applause. The play is enlivened this year by new costumes and several new songs that are bound to be favorites. The choruses are good and the crowd of chorus girls that form one of the chief attractions, are above the average. Miss Amy Lee in the role of Honorah Hawkins, the ridiculous, affected, disappointed heiress in search of a title, is a witty type. The adventures of "Bobby" Belford and his wife, Lady Janet Belford, on their borrowed money honeymoon, not on the real honeymoon of many deadbeat couples and cause much amusement. A little bit the liveliest contributor to the fun is Miss Carolyn M. Heustis, who as Daley Hawkins, capers over the stage in a way that bewilders her audience. The lean, cadaverous looking crank on physical culture, J. J. Cluxton, and Gus Bruno, the Macgregor, add much to the merriment of the occasion by their grotesque makeups and awkward attempts to appear at ease.

Bijou—"The Man Who Dared."

Howard Wall and his capable company were given an ovation on their return to the Bijou yesterday. The piece and the people made an impression when seen here last season, which has not readily been forgotten. Like the "Count of Monte Cristo" it may be seen a dozen times by those who enjoy that sort of thing without palling. Mr. Wall's company is equally as good as that of last year, containing nearly all of the important people of the last production here. Some of the rough edges have been taken off, and the audiences, which packed the big theater of Manager R. M. Gulick yesterday afternoon and night, were thoroughly appreciative of the legitimate acting and the thrilling situations which crowd upon each other in Mr. Wall's own story. While probably everyone in the audience had before had such a daring entrance into a cage of lions, the audience was keyed last night from the circumstances of the play leading to Mr. Hall's daring feat as Count Lorraine Martineau, that half the people were on their feet from the time he entered till he came away bearing the slave of Rita, countess de Martineau. Miss Nina Morris bears the difficult part of the countess even better than last year. Howard Wall's work is excellent. With a more robust physique he would be nearly perfect. Henry C. Lewis does one of the most finished acting of any stage in his natural portrayal of the part of Grissart, Martineau's honest secretary. George D. Mackey takes no second place in his despicable work as the false friend of Martineau. Will H. Vedder is a favorite as Provence Henry de Brissac, the poet. The entire company is one of the highest standard, probably made possible by the limited membership.

Grand—"The Great Ruby."

The size of yesterday's audiences at the Grand opera house indicates that the theater-going puolic has found in "The Great Ruby" a play greatly to its liking. The piece after a week's run has increased wonderfully in smoothness and interest. The big scenes are handled like clock work and from curtain rise to the last act the piece affords a panorama of startling and sensational incidents, following one another in rapid succession. Crowds yesterday and last night followed the fortunes of the characters through the vivid and exciting plot, including its tally-ho party, the sleep walking act and the thrilling balloon ascension and fight in mid-air, with breathless interest. A feature of yesterday's performance was the reappearance with the stock company of Mr. William Beach. This popular actor received a regular ovation, and played the part of the villian, Morris Longman, with acceptable skill, if not the requisite amount of spirit and vigor.

Duquesne—Vaudeville.

A more entertaining bill than the one offered by the Duquesne theater this week is seldom seen on any vaudeville stage. The entire performance, even to the kinetograph pictures, is above the average. Rosair performs some excellent balancing feats on a slack wire, and McPhee and Hill's work on the horizontal bars deserved even more than the generous applause they received. The loop the loop act is one of the best acrobatic novelties of the season. George Felix and Lydia Barry are as entertaining as ever in their "Johnny Jones" skit, and Jessie Couthol's society monologue was well received. Johnstone Bennett, assisted by Joseph Bulger, still receives applause in her lightning change sketch called "A Quiet Evening at Home." Mark Sullivan's impersonations of well-known stage characters is one of the best numbers on the program. James R. Glenroy gives a humorous monologue never fails to make a hit, and Mlle. Adgie and her performing lions give a thrilling performance. Eddie Girard and Jessie Gardner, in their farcical hit "The Soubrette and the Cop," are the same good funmakers, but their sketch would be improved by a little more exertion and enthusiasm on the part of Miss Gardner.

Academy—Sam Devere's Company.

Sam Devere is at the Academy this week with a good all-round show of vaudeville and burlesque talent. The Faust Comedy trio, who open the performance, have a most versatile act of singing, acting, acrobatic and contortion business. Their act is fast and snappy and much above the average of this class of vaudeville. Florence Hughes caught the crowd with her southern melodies and refused to sing more after several encores. The hit of the evening was the act of the New York Comedy Four, who present one of the most laughable sketches imaginable, and the roars of laughter were a fit attest to its merit. Three acrobatic young ladies called the Three Madcaps, are next on the bill with a dance which is mostly a flying maze of limbs and lingerie. The act is unusual and clever by way of variety. Sam Devere got a noisy reception and sang a few of his original songs. The cycle whirl by Armstrong, Baker, Armstrong and Gertrude Norton has been seen here, but loses nothing in thrilling interest by a second view. "Open All Night" is the name of the closing burlesque, which is followed by a lively wrestling match between Young Muldoon of New York and Lew Roberts of Philadelphia.

The Jefferson Engagement.

The return to this city of Mr. Joseph Jefferson is always esteemed one of the chief attractions of the theatrical season, an event not only gladly welcomed but joyously anticipated. The highest critical authority in America long ago freely assigned to Mr. Jefferson the foremost place in the list of comedians. His revival of "Rip Van Winkle" at the Alvin theater, beginning Monday night next will be memorial. This fine old play has created a great desire on the part of the public to see it again and to again enjoy Mr. Jefferson in the role which will ever be most closely connected with his name and fame. Mr. Jefferson stands today unique and almost perfect example of artistic work. Sale of seats begins Thursday morning.

RIVER MYSTERY IS CLEARED BY FRIEND

Morris Alpern When Last Seen Declared He Intended to Commit Suicide.

As a result of the investigation made into the death of Morris Alpern, 22 years old, yesterday afternoon by the coroner's office it is believed that he committed suicide on October 19. His body was taken from the Monongahela river Sunday evening and yesterday was identified at the morgue by his cousin, L. Alpern of Fifth avenue. The Alpern family had not seen Morris since he left the home of his brother-in-law, Harry Bremen, No. 1408 Elm street, last Sunday a week, and his family feared he had met with foul play.

When Morris left the home of his brother-in-law, where he had attended a social affair, he said he intended going to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie station to take a train for Coraopolis, where he was employed in Mr. Bremen's store. The theory that he had been murdered was given credence by his family owing to the fact that a few weeks ago Morris was held up in Coraopolis, but over-powered the highwayman and landed him in the police station.

Yesterday afternoon a friend of Alpern's called upon the coroner and state that he met Alpern in Allegheny on the night he disappeared and that he was in an intoxicated condition. He said he pursuaded him to go home and they started across the Sixth street bridge for Pittsburgh. In the middle of the bridge he said Alpern threw down his hat and $1.85 and declared he intended to commit suicide. After getting Alpern on the Pittsburgh side of the bridge the friend said Alpern escaped from him in a crowd.

BIG COLOMBIAN BATTLES.

Uribe-Uribe and Castillo Fiercely Attacked by Government Troops—Heavy Losses.

COLON, Oct. 27.—The revolutionary force under Gens. Uribe-Uribe and Castillo, which attacked Lacienaga, consisted of 1,200 men and four pieces of artillery. The losses of the revolutionists are reported as heavy.

According to news received at Cartagena yesterday, forces of the government were then attacking Uribe-Uribe and Castillo, who were holding a position near Santa Marta.

Gen. Marjarres has proceeded with all speed from Lacienaga to the rebel position on the river Frio. His command consists of 2,000 men. He is believed to have engaged the enemy. It is reported in Cartagena that the fight was most sanguinary and that there were very heavy casualties on both sides.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

—Seven cases of typhoid fever, two of scarlet fever and four of diphtheria were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday.

—Antonio Gran, 7 years old, is at Mercy hospital suffering from injuries received by being struck by an electric car at Fifth avenue and Chatham street.

—Mrs. Mary Townsley, 62 years old, of No. 2821 Mulberry alley, was probably fatally burned yesterday by attempting to start a fire with the aid of oil. The damage to the house amounted to $100.

—Alexander Miles, 40 years old, died suddenly yesterday morning at the Hope Mission, No. 427 Liberty avenue. It is reported that he has a number of children living with his mother-in-law in Allentown.

Oscar Fields, colored, was held for court trial yesterday on a charge of felonious cutting. James Dorsey, whom he is accused of cutting, is at the West Penn hospital with a charge of disorderly conduct against him.

—Fire was discovered in the evening in the basement of the church building at Sixth avenue and Cherry alley, at present used as an auditorium by the Republican committee. The blaze was extinguished with a Babcock. The damage was slight.

—John Miller of No. 11 Main street, Allegheny, had his left leg broken and right shoulder dislocated yesterday by being thrown from his wagon at Federal and Lacock streets. He is at the Allegheny General hospital.

—Frank Hahn, who was brought to Pittsburgh Sunday night from Baltimore on a charge of stealing a diamond ring valued at $150, and a $100 sted from Otto Rupp, a baker of No. 46 Fulton street, was yesterday held for court trial by Magistrate McGarey.

President A. J. Cassatt and Party Will Come Today Over West Penn.

President Cassatt and other officials of the Pennsylvania railroad will arrive over the West Penn division this afternoon. They left Philadelphia yesterday and came over the main line to Altoona, where last night was spent. This morning the trip will continue over the main line to Bolivar Junction, and there switch to the West Penn division.

This afternoon will be spent viewing the work of elevating the Ft. Wayne tracks through Allegheny and other work in lower Allegheny. The new bridge over the Allegheny river, now partly in use, is also to be inspected. The special train will be placed on a siding at Shadyside, where the party will spend the night.

Tomorrow the officials will go up to the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston junction. The special will pass over the Monongahela division, where much fourtracking has been done, and will then go to the Ft. Wayne and start for Cleveland.

The trip over the West Penn undoubtedly bears much significance to that important division of the Pennsylvania. The main line's need of relief from too great freight traffic has become so pressing that recourse will have to be had to the West Penn. For the economical handling of this traffic the line will need to be put into the best condition. There are many who believe that the coming year will see much more of this work started.

EXCHANGE PASSES UP.

St. Louis Meeting Today Considering Their Abolition in 1903.

The old question of abolishing exchange passes among the railroads in central and western territory will probably come up at a meeting in St. Louis today. The trunk lines entered into such an agreement a year ago, and from Pittsburgh and Buffalo east it was kept tolerably so, to some degree, so far as the minor officials were concerned.

Before the year was over, however, half a dozen schemes had been devised to outwit the plan and not the least active in outwitting it was the road whose president gained a very unpleasant feeling for himself and his line among the traffic agents by his supposed activity in securing the agreement.

President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania is said to have been very much displeased over the way the plan worked, and it was reported last summer that he would not be a party to such an agreement another year. In central territory the agreement was never effective, although for about a month the issue of the annual passes was delayed on account of the dispute. Which side gained strength by the year of experience is now to be learned.

TRAINSHED HANDSOME.

Removal of Old Woodwork Unveils Monster Union Station Structure.

All who have occasion to go to the Union station are pleased with the fine appearance of the massive trainshed, now that the old rainshelters of unpainted wood have been torn away and the shed can be seen in all its fine proportions. This structure ranks with the first half dozen trainsheds in the world. On the Pennsylvania system there are two larger, those at Broad street, Philadelphia and Jersey City. Outside of these the shed of the Union station St. Louis, and of the South Terminal, Boston, alone can rival the Pittsburgh Union station.

There are 14 tracks and the length is great enough to cover the longest of modern passenger trains.

Block Signals on "Pennickey."

Work is progressing well on the automatic block signal system the Lake Erie is constructing along the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny. The system will be completed first to McKeesport. A few months more will suffice to finish this part of the work. Later it will be extended along over the lines along the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers.

Railroad Notes.

F. F. J. Pelenahl, engineer of signals, of the Baltimore & Ohio, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday from the west on an inspection trip.

J. P. Orr, general freight agent of the northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines, is seeking to regain his health near Asheville, N. C.

R. J. Woods, formerly secretary to President Joseph Ramsey, of the Wabash, has been made fuel agent of the Wabash system. He succeeds E. S. Cotter, promoted.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie moved on Saturday and Sunday 13,955 loads. General Superintendent J. B. Yohe announces that the northbound shipments are all cleared away.

The Baltimore & Ohio has received 17 of the order of 25 consolidation engines from the American Locomotive Company. Of this number seven came from the Pittsburgh works and 10 from the Richmond works.

L. J. Weidner, clerk in the Wilmerding freight office of the Pennsylvania, has been appointed extra agent on the Pittsburgh division. He succeeds G. B. Anderson, who resigned recently to go with a coke company.

George DeHaven, well known here as the excursion manager of the Baltimore & Ohio, has been recommended by a committee of the southwestern roads for the position of general immigration agent in the colonization of the southwest, which these lines have started. Agencies are to be established in all the eastern cities and in Europe, if his suggestions are carried out.

COLOMBIA ASKS MORE MONEY FOR THE CANAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—The long-expected response of the Colombian government to the proposition made by the state department for the negotiation of a canal treaty on the lines of the Spooner act was presented to the state department today by Mr. Herran, secretary of the Colombian legation.

It is difficult to learn the nature of this communication, but it is known that it is not altogether an unqualified acceptance of the state department's propositions. It is friendly and dignified in tone and does not close the negotiations by any means, though it unquestionably sets back the date of final agreement by opening new topics for argument.

For one thing, the Colombian government is entirely dissatisfied with the small amount of the payment to be made by the United States under the terms of the protocol which it is proposed to use as the basis for the treaty. This sum is $7,000,000. Colombia wants at least $10,000,000. Moreover the original proposal looked to the wait for 14 years before beginning the payment of annual rental, the amount of which was to be then fixed by mutual agreement. Colombia now asks the United States to agree at once on a lump yearly payment of $600,000, which will considerably increase the immediate cost of the enterprise.

The Colombian government clings to its contention that it has not constitutional authority to alienate any Colombian territory, and reiterates that the best it can do to meet the language of the Spooner act, which looks to perpetual control by the United States over the canal strip, is to make a 100-year lease with a distinct stipulation that the same shall be renewable by the United States at the expiration of the first century.

Automobile Club Changes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(Special.)—There will be several notable changes in the affairs of the Automobile club of America if the candidates presented for the nominating committee and approved by the governors at their meeting this afternoon be elected. The nominating committee evidently sought retention in office, for A. R. Shattuck, president, and Jefferson Seligman, treasurer, alone received renomination.

The fourth picture of the Baughart series, "Cartoons in Colors," is entitled "The Summer Girl," and will be given with next Sunday's Gazette.

CHURCH'S NEW ROMANCE.

Delay in Publication Made Necessary by British Copyright Law.

Samuel Hardon Church's new historical romance, "Penruddock of the White Lambs," has been issued from the press of Frederick A. Stokes Company, but its formal date of publication is fixed for November 7.

The delay is due to the requirement of the British copyright law that the book shall appear simultaneously in England and America, and as the English edition will not be ready until the date named, the American publication must wait for it.

SOCIETY

A PORTRAIT of Gen. Andrew Jackson, the property of Dolly Madison chapter, United States Daughters of 1812, will hang in the naval home in Brooklyn, N. Y. The portrait will be lent for that purpose and will be placed in the lecture room, which was furnished some months ago by the Pennsylvania society, United States Daughters of 1812. This portrait is an admirable likeness, it is said, of Gen. Jackson about the time he was president of the United States. It now hangs in the yellow room at the Twentieth Century club house, Duquesne way. It came into the possession of the Dolly Madison chapter as a gift from Mrs. George Bingham, before her death, and is kept as one of the precious possessions of the United States Daughters of this city. The loan was decided upon yesterday afternoon at the first meeting this fall of the chapter, but the portrait will not be sent east until communication has been made with Mrs. Bingham's daughter, Mrs. Bache, who is now living in New York city.

The naval home in Brooklyn was completed a few months ago, largely through the generosity of Miss Helen Gould. Different societies and organizations undertook its furnishment, the Pennsylvania society, United States Daughters of 1812, asking that it might furnish the lecture room. The home is intended as a club house.

At the meeting of the chapter yesterday, plans were informally discussed for the coming season, but little business, however, being accomplished. Another meeting will be held in November.

Dinner for House Guests.

Mrs. John Guffey is entertaining a house party of girls this week, all former classmates of her daughter, Miss M. Emma Guffey, at Bryn Mawr. They came for Miss Guffey's wedding this evening and a continual round of entertainment has been arranged in their honor. Last evening Mrs. Guffey gave a dinner which was a handsome affair. It followed the wedding rehearsal. The guests were Miss Marion Ream and Miss Frances Ream, of Chicago; Miss Jean Clark of Baltimore, Miss Dorothy Fronheiser of Pottsville, Miss Katherine Doty of Greensburg, Miss Pauletta Guffey, who will be her sister's only attendant; Dr. Clifton Miller of Richmond, Va., a brother of the bridegroom-elect, who will be the best man; Robert Parker, New York; Charles F. McGuire, Virginia; Frederick E. Pierce, Newark, N. J.; and Louis H. Hardie, of New Orleans, beside the bride and bridegroom elect, Carroll Miller of Chicago.

At the wedding the bride will be given away by her brother, Alexander S. Guffey, and the ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D., pastor of the Swissvale Presbyterian church. Among the out-of-town guests will be Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Miller, Sr., of Richmond, Va., father and mother of the bridegroom; Lieut. W. G. Miller, Jr., U. S. N., his brother, and Mrs. Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Alten Miller of New York.

Dinner at the Pittsburgh Club.

Miss Isabel Pentefract was hostess last evening at a handsome little dinner at the Pittsburgh club. Her guests were Miss Josephine Phillips and Oliver P. Nicola, and the maids and men who will be their attendants at their wedding in Trinity church tomorrow evening. Dinner was served in one of the rooms on the second floor and covers were laid for 20. The decorations were large yellow chrysanthemums, which with the snowy linen and service, carried out the idea of the wedding colors, yellow and white. The appointments were exceedingly dainty. There were pretty name cards, flowers for the girls and boutonnieres for the men.

The party included Miss Phillips, the bride-elect; Miss Gertrude Irwin, Miss Marguerite Johnson, Miss Elizabeth Burd Thaw, Miss Mathilda Stevenson of Philadelphia, Miss Cornelia McKnight and Miss Camp of Norwich, Conn., the bridesmaids; Miss Pentefract, the maid of honor; Mr. Nicola, bridegroom-elect; his brother, George Nicola, the best man, and Frank C. Neale, Austin G. Nicola, Harry D. McCandless, Robert W. Flenniken, Thomas O'Conner Jones and Harry Robinson, the ushers, and three or four out-of-town guests.

Wedding Rehearsal.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Clara Florence Aull and Dr. James Stewart Lacock will take place this evening at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Aull, in Fifth avenue, Oakland. After the rehearsal Miss Aull will give a supper for her maids and a dinner will be given by Dr. Lacock for the best man and ushers at the Monongahela club.

The wedding will be quietly conducted tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the Aull home, and will be followed by a large reception at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Aull will be attended by her sister, Miss Grace Aull, as maid of honor, and six bridesmaids, Miss Annie Kearns, Miss Elizabeth Dauler, Miss Georgia Lacock, Miss Alice Smith, Miss Cora Wallace and Miss Fredmore, of Warren, Pa. Dr. E. W. Smithman of Oil City will be the best man. The marriage ceremony will be performed by an uncle of Miss Aull, the Rev. Charles E. Mitchell of Cleveland. After a wedding trip of four weeks Dr. Lacock and his bride will be at home in Ridge avenue, Allegheny.

Final Arrangements Made.

A final meeting of the committee of arrangements for the third annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers, to be held this week in Pittsburgh, was held yesterday at the Twentieth Century club. It is expected that Mrs. Florence Kelly of New York will be here and will be the guest of Miss Kate McKnight. The majority of the officers, speakers and delegates will arrive tomorrow evening. The Hotel Lincoln will be official headquarters. The meetings will be conducted in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, Wood street. Mrs. Frederic Schoff of Philadelphia, president of the congress, and her daughter, will be the guests of Mrs. Edward A. Wood, in Sewickley. The only social feature planned will be the reception, which will be held at the Twentieth Century club on Friday afternoon from 4 o'clock until 6.

Church Supper in Ingram.

The Ladies' society of the Ingram Presbyterian church will give its annual supper in Association hall on Thursday evening, November 13. Those appointed, to have charge are: Table No. 1—Mrs. E. E. Phillips, Mrs. F. C. Ellis, Mrs. H. L. Clark, Mrs. J. N. Campbell, Mrs. W. M. Cain. Table No. 2—Mrs. Graham Gettys, Mrs. A. H. Edgerton, Mrs. George McClure, Mrs. S. J. Mertz, Mrs. J. A. Aiken, Mrs. W. E. Creviston. Table No. 3—Mrs. C. E. Lunt, Mrs. C. J. Dawson, Mrs. W. J. Montgomery, Mrs. Yohe, Mrs. L. H. McKeraham, Mrs. J. S. Rex. Table No. 4—Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. C. W. Huff, Mrs. E. R. Reeside, Mrs. A. L. Petrie, Mrs. W. C. Harper, Mrs. H. C. Dougherty. Supply table—Mrs. H. H. Dougherty, Mrs. D. H. Hainer, Mrs. W. A. Foster, Mrs. H. Bratton, Mrs. William Dye, Mrs. James Merriman. Candy table—Mrs. J. A. Ohl, Mrs. J. B. Neill, Mrs. J. I. Penney, Mrs. F. W. Refneman, Miss Clara Harper, Miss Carrie Stoever. Doorkeepers—William Montgomery, James Gilmore, J. A. Ohl, D. J. Rex, H. Edgerton. Check room—Robert Montgomery, F. A. Lewis, E. E. Phillips, B. Neill and J. I. Penney.

Dinner After the Rehearsal.

Mrs. Lewis Peterson Fawcett, a sister of Miss Adessa J. Fritz, whose marriage to William W. Baker, Jr., will be solemnized this evening in the Shadyside United Presbyterian church, gave a dinner last evening in honor of her sister. The dinner followed the wedding rehearsal at the church, and was prettily conducted. The guests included the entire bridal party, consisting of Mrs. Fawcett, matron of honor; Miss Emma Myers, Miss Emma —Rea, Miss Gail French, Miss Edith Rex and Miss Gertrude Orr, bridesmaids; Rodman Baker, the best man, and James Barker, John Cosgrave, Dilworth Brown, John Grier, Alexander Fritz and Lewis P. Fawcett, ushers; Louise Roberts Barker, the little flower girl and Robert Fritz, the page. The wedding will be performed by the Rev. J. K. McClurkin. Miss Fritz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Fritz of Atlantic avenue, East End.

Stone-Gough.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Miss Mary Stone, daughter of Charles Allston Stone, U. S. N., retired, was married today at St. Margaret's church to Milton Leroy Gough of this city. J. Morrill Chamberlain, Oliver Cromwell, Andrew B. Duvall, Jr., and Edward Duvall were ushers. Eugene Gough was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore white lace and chiffon with tulle veil and carried white chrysanthemums. The Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, rector of the church, officiated. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Belsinger of Pittsburgh.

Wedding This Morning.

A marriage of interest in Braddock and East End society circles, will be solemnized this morning at 10 o'clock in St. Joseph's German Catholic church, Liberty avenue and Pearl street, Pittsburgh. The bride will be Miss Veronica Voet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Voet of Oakland, and the groom is Frank J. Felder, a young business man of Braddock.

Art Association to Meet.

The Western Pennsylvania Art association will hold a special meeting in the Fifth Avenue High school, Thursday afternoon, to which the teachers of drawing and the teachers of the seventh grade in the public school have been invited. The object is to hear an address by John J. Arbogast, president of the Pittsburgh Seamless Bottle Company, on "Glass Decoration."

Celebrated Their Tin Wedding.

Mrs. Frank McCleery entertained with a pretty informal musicale at her home in Thorn street, Sewickley, last evening. It was in celebration of the tenth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. McCleery's wedding. Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett of Chicago, house guests of Mrs. Samuel G. Cooper, of Beaver street, shared in the honors. The house was decorated with chrysanthemums and roses. This being the "tin wedding," tin loving cups were used in serving refreshments. Miss Helen Spencer of Sewickley was accompanied to Miss Katherine Huntington of the East End, who sang.

Pittsburghers Abroad.

H. K. Thaw was on the Philadelphia, from Southampton, which arrived at Philadelphia last Saturday.

Mrs. James Wood Scully, Mrs. James Wood, and Miss Alice Walton, are expected home from New York, where they have been spending the last few weeks, on Wednesday.

Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Miss Ricketson and Mrs. Pascal Curr stopped over in New York last week on their way home from the east.

Free Bread Demonstration.

A free bread demonstration by Mrs. Emma P. Ewing will be given under the auspices of the service department of the Domestic Arts association, at No. 5349 Forbes street, on Thursday at 2 p. m. At the close of the demonstration there will be an exhibit and sale of Halloween cakes, with suggestions for Halloween parties.

Annual Ingathering.

The Needlework Guild of Oakmont and Verona is holding its annual ingathering this week, and tomorrow the articles collected will be placed on exhibition from 2 to 4 o'clock, in St. Thomas' parish, Oakmont. This has been an unusually good year and large quantities of goods have been collected for the poor.

In Her Sister's Honor.

A pretty reception was given last evening by Miss Katherine Linn, at her home in Nevin avenue, Sewickley, in honor of her sister, Miss Elsie, whose marriage to James Boyce McKilligin will occur tomorrow. About 50 guests were entertained by instrumental and vocal music.

Pittsburgh Woman to Speak.

Tomorrow afternoon at the first regular meeting of the Woman's club of Sewickley, at the Edgeworth club, Miss Simpson of the Young Woman's Christian association of Pittsburgh, will give the first of a series of experiments in cooking, her theme being "Chafing Dish Possibilities."

Wedding of the Near Future.

A wedding of the near future will be that of Miss Beesie Hughes of Forbes street and Samuel Loy of Bennett street, Brushton. Miss Hughes has been prominent in Pittsburgh and Wilkinsburg social circles. Mr. Loy is connected with the Westinghouse interests.

Woman's Suffrage Club.

The Woman's Suffrage club of Wilkinsburg elected the following officers: Mrs. Bowersox, president; Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. Grey, vice presidents; Miss Stuart, secretary; Mrs. Fristoe, treasurer; Mrs. J. L. Koethen, reciprocity chairman.

Will Entertain at Euchre.

Mrs. Edward J. Frauenheim will entertain at euchre, at her home in Rebecca street, East End, on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 5. A large number of invitations have been issued.

Notes of Society.

An interesting recital was given yesterday by Dr. Orris Ogden in the Publication building, Ninth street, in which the pupils in voice culture participated.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Public Wash House and Baths, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. C. Clapp, Amberson avenue.

The second of a series of free evening recitals in the Allegheny Carnegie hall will be given this evening, at 8 o'clock. A special program, with well-known soloists, will be presented.

Under the direction of Miss Mary Byron an entertainment, consisting of dramatic and delsartian drill, will be given tomorrow evening in the Lyceum auditorium, under the auspices of the Sodality of Our Lady of Mercy.

INQUIRIED ANSWERED.

Mrs. J. B. writes—Please send a recipe for apple fritters such as are served at hotels at the seashore.

Apple Fritters.

The following is a recipe used by "Oscar" of the Waldorf-Astoria. Peel and core the apples and cut into slices about a third of an inch thick; dip them in fritter batter and fry for six minutes in hot fat in a wire basket or hot dish. The apples may be sprinkled with sugar and nutmeg and allowed to stand for an hour before frying. In the latter case sprinkle with the sugar when they are served. The batter is made with flour, two eggs well beaten and a tablespoonful of oil to two cups of flour. Make it just thick enough to coat the apple.

Mrs. E. T. B. writes—Being troubled with malaria I have been recommended to drink very little if any water except that contained in fresh fruit. When is the best time to eat juicy fruits?

When to Eat Fruits.

To get the best results from eating fruit take them by themselves or combined with properly prepared nuts, serving them as a meal. If they are eaten uncooked and combined with ordinary cooked meals they find conditions which are most favorable to fermentation. When taken between meals they may come in contact with partly digested food in the stomach and immediately proceed to ferment, causing distress and it may be sickness.

Cider Sauce.

J. F. M. requests a recipe for cider sauce for a baked or cake pudding. Beat three egg yolks very light with a cupful of powdered sugar; pour in slowly, while you continue to beat, a scant cup of boiling water; set over the fire to heat while it cools then add a glass of hard cider and the grated rind and juice of half a lemon. Serve soon as made.

FOR BEAUTY AND HEALTH

Strengthening the Youthful Physique.

It is good sense to argue that children are all the better in childhood, and make all the stronger men and women, if they can be accustomed as early as possible to fresh air in all weathers, cold water, simple food and regular hours; that is to say, to those practices which are the foundation of health for us all. At the same time it must be remembered that in all training, whether mental, moral or physical, it is well to keep in sight the fact that there are, after all, children and children.

Some inherit a birthright of stamina that others lack. It would be very good if all babies came into the world physically well-equipped, but such is not the case; and many of them, far from inheriting health, start heavily mortgaged. Oliver Wendell Holmes' oft-quoted assertion that the training of a child must begin with his grandparents is always in order. It is evident that the child of healthy parents, with a good physical record for generations back, will be able to take his hardening with less care and fuss than the puny baby with a line of delicate ancestors behind him.

The hardening need not be neglected in the latter case, but it should be begun at the right time, in the right way, and be tempered with judgment and mercy. Let no well-meaning but misguided young father think that because his athletic neighbor has a sturdy, stout-limbed, deep-chested boy, who, according to his proud parents, can "stand anything," he is doing well to put his own thin-skinned, sensitive, "weedy" youngster, who looks "just like his mother," through the same physical processes. While the same road may be traveled, it must be under the conditions of a handicap, and haste can be made only slowly.

Above all, if the parents of a delicate child are suddenly seized with the hardening fervor, let it be in summer. Don't start socks and cold baths in November, wait till May, and then, if carried out properly each season, it may be kept up.

The Bad-Tempered Child.

Bursts of passion in a little child must be promptly met by gentle firmness on the mother's part. Loud outcries must be hushed at once, not by angry words or acts, but by grave quietness of speech, which by mere contrast helps to subdue. Kicking, stamping the feet and thrashing the arms may be repressed by physical force if necessary, but be calm and do not show anger yourself. Above all, do not ever grant requests or favors that the child thinks he can gain by having a tantrum. Let him understand from his birth that crying or making "a scene" will never gain the indulgence, and he will soon learn to abandon such unpleasant tactics. As he grows older, and can be reasoned with, he should be taught to overcome the beginnings of temper and to struggle against hasty words and anger. Most quick-tempered children have affectionate, generous natures that are easily influenced for good if the lessons are begun very early in life and administered with loving patience and tact. Each success makes the next effort at self-control easier.

Aprons Worn Again.

As another sign of a revision on the part of our girls to femininity there is prophesied the return of the apron, long banished to maids' wardrobes and to below-stairs regions. Now it is coming to the fore by degrees, and by the time all indoor things are in full swing it will be a recognized part of every woman's house uniform. Of course, it will be an ornate affair, made of materials expensive and dressy and with everything possible done to it to relieve it of its utilitarian aspect. Though it will have strings, no apron is complete without strings for the tying up of various persons that like to be held by such means.

Dress of Table Linen.

At a summer resort, a few weeks ago, a young woman attracted some attention by wearing a dress made of table cloth linen. It was of the snowdrop pattern, and the border was used down the front and around the foot of the skirt. The shirt waist, of the center, had cuffs and belt of the border. It was well cut and smartly worn and had a certain stylish effect.

The Russian Haircut.

The small miss from 5 to 10 years has her hair now fashionably cut in a way that is said to be good for the locks, but possible in appearance only to such a fresh young face as she owns. It is cut straight around in a length which brings it just to the nape of her neck. The front locks are gathered from falling in her eyes and tied with liberty satin ribbon about two inches wide in a soft bow with short ends quite on the top of her head.

14,660 customers at May's last week! What's it mean to you? Why, it means just this, that there's a place to get your prescriptions filled, to get patent medicines, toilet goods, etc., etc., in an absolutely fresh condition and at a money saving cut-price. No stocks could accumulate with such an immense business keeping them continually moving—and for the same reason prices can be cut far lower than the ordinary store must charge to reap a profit from a small business.

This is how business boomed in all departments last week:

5,152 customers in the Patent Medicine dept.
4,991 customers in the Toilet Goods dept.
1,056 customers in the Sponge dept.
1,122 customers in the Rubber Goods dept.

14,660 TOTAL CUSTOMERS IN ONE WEEK.

SAMPSON-SCHLEY GHOST APPEARS

Old Controversy Bobs Up Quite Unexpectedly in Supreme Court.

SCARES THE JUSTICES

Afraid the Old Question of Who Commanded at Santiago Would Be Revived in the Battle Prize Claims Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—There was a brief reminder of the Sampson-Schley controversy in the United States supreme court today, when the case of "The United States vs. W. T. Sampson, rear admiral, et al.," was called for argument. It involves distribution of prize money because of the capture of the Spanish cruiser Infanta Maria Teresa in the battle off Santiago.

Chief Justice Fuller suggested the necessity of substituting some other name for that of Admiral Sampson, in view of the admiral's death.

Assistant Attorney General Hoyt, for the government, responded that the parties to the controversy had supposed that the court might make a suggestion later in the case, and that for the present the argument could proceed under the present title.

Chief Justice Fuller showed a disposition to demur to this suggestion, urging that the name of some other officer could be used—"that," he said, "of Admiral Schley or some one else."

The name of Admiral Schley did not appear to meet the approval of the attorneys present representing the naval officers, one of whom, James H. Hayden, responding that there would be some difficulty about making a substitution.

"If," he said, "there is to be a substitution, there remains but one man who was an officer of the fleet, and that is Capt. Chadwick, who was Admiral Sampson's chief of staff. Admiral Schley's duties were limited to the command of a division of the fleet."

"I had thought it possible," responded the chief justice, "that it might be a question of rank or title."

To this suggestion Mr. Hayden replied: "If Admiral Sampson had not been present and in command there, Admiral Schley would have been in command of the fleet, but as he was present and in command——"

The sentence was not completed. Justice Harlan interrupted:

"Present where?"

The chief justice seemed quite interested over the turn the case had taken. His hands were raised, as was also his voice, slightly, when he asked:

"Is that point involved in this case?"

He was assured that it was not, and counsel took the matter of naming a new litigant under advisement.

BLESSINGS OF PROSPERITY.

Europe Is Getting a Generous Overflow From Uncle Sam's Bounty.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—According to United States Consul Winslow at Liege, Belgian iron and steel manufacturers are securing large orders for steel from the United States. His report says:

"The backbone of the hard times for this part of Europe seems to be broken. The United States has done much to stimulate industries. Three steel plants here are working on a 50,000-ton order of steel rails for Mexico, and a contract has just been closed for 27,000 tons for a railroad in Maryland. Many smaller orders for structural steel and rails also have been received.

"During the past quarter there was shipped through this consulate $22,874 56 worth of structural steel and $77,367 56 worth of steel rails and accessories. There was also a decided increase in the value of glassware shipped, amounting to $37,171 74 for the quarter. A party from the United States is in the market for 50,000 tons of steel rails, and I am informed it is practically settled that the mills here will get it. Liege is coming to be known as one of the principal steel manufacturing centers of Europe.

"The large increase of business between this consular district and the United States is not all on one side. There is more inquiry for American goods than ever before, and the people seem to be in earnest. The greatest demand is for farm and industrial machinery, electrical supplies and canned dried fruits."

ARMOR AT A STANDSTILL.

Admiral O'Neil Says Development of Projectiles Is Gaining.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Admiral O'Neil, chief of the naval bureau of ordnance, in his annual report says that no improvement worth speaking of seems to have been made in the quality of armor of late. Guns, powder and projectiles have each made a decided advance, renderins it all the more necessary that there should be an improvement in armor. Recently the armor manufacturers voluntarily made a reduction of 10 shillings a ton on the royalty for their Krupp process.

The manufacture of smokeless powder has progressed satisfactorily, so far as quality is concerned, but not so much as to the amount delivered.

The most interesting event during the year in connection with projectiles is the development of a new type of shell com, bining the advantages of an armor-piercing with a common shell.

LOCAL CAPITAL NOTES.

Delays Over Choice of Postoffice Sites at McKeesport and Oil City.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor has agreed to postpone the selection of a site for the public building at McKeesport until after the arrival of the committee appointed by the city council to confer with him on the subject.

Major Hansen, Col. Spencer and Col. P. C. Boyle of Oil City called at the postoffice department this morning to discuss the location of the new federal building to be erected in that city. The Seneca street site will be abandoned and a new one chosen. The department will not make a decision until after the people have had an opportunity to select a suitable location.

Mexico in Anti-Trust Business.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—The Mexican government, according to a report to the state department of J. Gonzalez Pagos, United States vice consul at Vera Cruz, has purchased the major part of the recent issue of the Interoceanic Railroad Company's bonds, thus obtaining a controlling interest in the railroad. The object is to prevent formation of "pools" or "trusts."

Landed After a Year's Waiting.

John Schunin of Cumberland, Md., was yesterday arrested in McKeesport on a charge of having sent threatening letters to Mayor Balck, the Rev. T. M. Sharp and James Rodgers. The police have been searching for Scuffin for almost a year and yesterday learned, through the Rev. Mr. Sharp, that he was in town. Scuffin now admits sending the letters, but to be the man who demanded $100 from Mayor Black, or his life would be forfeit. Scuffin claims he never owned the mayor.

COAL JAM IS FEARED IN THE MONONGAHELA

Loaded Barges Cannot Be Brought Out and Sudden Rise Would Cause Trouble.

The river coal operators are in a predicament. It is not likely that the government will put flashboards on the Monongahela river dams again this season, and if this is not done there will be a jam at the locks in the event of an early shipping stage of water in the Ohio. The water in the pools of the Monongahela river is now so low that the towboats cannot bring barges out of the river for southern shipment.

Towboats going up stream with empties have to come back light, because there is not enough water in the pools to bring out barges. If boards are again placed on the dams it will raise the river in the pools about 18 inches and this would be of great benefit. But the season is getting late and the government does not wish to do this work for the reason that a rise may come along in a day or two and carry the boards away, as was the case two weeks ago, when a good rise came out of the Monongahela enabling towboats to take south 7,000,000 bushels of coal.

There is very little barge coal in the harbor now, most of the coal being held in the pools, and in the event of water on which fuel can be shipped there will be lively times about the Monongahela river locks.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27.—River 7 feet and falling. Local packets on time. Capt. John H. Harbin, the veteran riverman, died here last night. The remains will be taken to Memphis for burial. The Harry Brown passed up at 8 o'clock this morning with a tow of 12 coal barges. The Queen City was let off the Queen City marine ways today and the Gleaner was taken on for repairs. Capt. Mose Pickelheimer has sold his boat, the Leotte, to Catlettsburg men.

EVANSVILLE—River 5.6 feet and falling slowly; stands 5.6. The Fred Hartzweg up with empties. Louisville and Bowling Green boats have all returned. Business good.

LOUISVILLE—River falling; canal, 4.4; falls, 2.2; foot of locks, 6.8. Business good. Packets on time. The J. B. Finley and Boaz and towns arrived from Paducah and laid up at Jeffersonville, their owners preferring to go to Paducah. The Fulton, with the crippled Fritz and tow, arrived this morning from Lewisport. The Relief came down this evening and left for Cincinnati with the Fritz and tow. The J. B. Williams and tow will be up tomorrow and lay up. Capt. Sam S. Brown of Pittsburgh was here today. Capt. Lynn Cook arrived from Pittsburgh and left for Atlanta.

HUNTINGTON—River 5 feet 4 inches and falling. The J. A. Woodruff passed down at 7:15 a. m. She was here over Sunday. The Nellie England down with tug. The Bonanza passed up at 4:30 p. m.

WHEELING—River 5 feet 4 inches and falling. Departed, Sherle Smith, Parkersburg, noon; Kanawha, Rochester, 3 p. m.

POINT PLEASANT—River 2 feet 7 inches and falling. Down, Golden Rod.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot and falling.

WARREN—River .04 foot. Light rain.

PARKERSBURG—River 6.6 feet and stationary. Rain. Wheeling and Gertrude down Tuesday; Columbia up.

PARKERSBURG—River 4 feet and falling. The Ben Hur arrived from Wheeling and laid up.

STEUBENVILLE—River 2 feet 10 inches and stationary. Down, Greenwood.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet and stationary.

News of the Rivers.

At 9 o'clock last night the marks on the gauge at the Davis Island dam indicated a stake of 3 feet and the river was falling.

The new towboat Rover will not be ready for commission, it is thought, until the holidays.

Pilots W. T. Boles and Allan Harger are piloting the Harry Brown and tow up the Ohio.

The towboat Eleanor double-tripped through Letart with her tow of empties for the Clyde Coal Company.

The towboat Douglass Hall is at Buffington taking care of the fleet of coal grounded there by the Jack Frost.

Capt. Peter Wishart leaves today, accompanied by his wife, on a visit to Rices Landing and points in Greene county.

The Wheeling steamboat inspectors yesterday inspected the towboats John W. Alles, Charlie Clarke and Steel Queen.

Capt. Thomas Patterson, the Pittsburgh and New Orleans pilot, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, is much improved.

The towboats Sam Clark, Ironsides, James Moren, John Moren and Dave Wood are laid up at Marietta, on account of shoal water.

William Perkins, mate of the Dolphin, is in charge of the steel coal barge of the St. Louis steel barge line, in the oil trade on the gulf of Mexico.

At the next meeting of Harbor No. 25, Masters and Pilots, the applications of 14 persons for membership in the association will be considered.

A. R. Budd of the Budd Coal Company is in Cincinnati looking after the repairs being made to the towboat Harvester, which has a broken shaft.

The Marine hospital commission yesterday examined the Arsenal property and other sites out Penn avenue. The commission will finish its labors today.

W. N. Gordon said yesterday that he had not yet closed a deal for the purchase of a boat to place in the trade between Pittsburgh and McKeesport.

The J. E. Richardson has been delayed a day out of Evansville. There are no deckhands procurable at present. The big towboat cannot get enough men.

Capt. John Brashear, owner of the City of Shofield, which was burned last week at Grand Tower, filed a protest for insurance on the packet amounting to $6,500.

Capt. W. L. Sibert, who is in the south, will not return to Pittsburgh until Saturday. He is combining pleasure with business and is taking a few days' time to visit his parents.

According to report Capt. Samuel Dunbar of Gallipolis, who proposes to enter an independent, boat in the Pomeroy-Cincinnati trade, will charter the Joe Fowler. She is about the size of the Henry M. Stoltz.

The results of the drilling for the position of the dam which is to be built at Cullons Riffle have shown that the entire riffle is underlaid with rock which can be reached at a trifling expense. The exact location of it has not been decided upon as yet.

The steamer Elizabeth, which was laid up at Pittsburgh for a week, undergoing repairs, completed them yesterday and left for Morgantown. The steamer Gertrude went to Moss Side Junk and laid up. She will go on the docks as soon as possible.

The towboat Jim Wood, which has received new boilers, will be ready to leave Brown's shops in about two weeks. The Tom Dodsworth, which is also undergoing repairs, is nearly ready to leave there, and the Cruiser and Clipper are still there being repaired.

The new steamer John F. Klein was launched from Acton & Son's ways last Saturday. The boat was named in honor of Capt. Klein and is said to be one of the best hulls ever built. Capt. C. W. Posey superintended the construction. The towboat H. F. Dilworth is towing the new Klein to Pittsburgh. The boat will arrive today and receive her machinery.

UNION TELEGRAPHERS.

Organizations of Commercial Operators Formed in Pittsburgh—Convention Here Next Month.

The commercial telegraphers of Pittsburgh have formed an organization which is said to embrace 90 per cent of the commercial telegraphers of the city, as follows: All of the Postal employes, 75 per cent of the Western Union, all of Carnegie Steel Company, 90 per cent of the broker operators and a majority of the newspaper operators.

The organization, "Brotherhood of Telegraphers," has been formed after years of hard work by Pittsburgh trades unionists, and through the efforts of the American Federation of Labor. W. F. Craig, Jr., was elected president.

There will be a general convention of all telegraphers at room 73, Monongahela house, November 26 to 28 inclusive. L. W. Quick and Mr. Perham, of the railroad operators, will be present. The International Telegraphers' union will be represented by delegates and their chief officers.

THE STOCK MARKET RULED VERY DULL

To the Money Question Is Now Added Discussion of the Political and Labor Situation---Local Securities About Steady.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Dealings in the eastern stock market yesterday were on a very limited scale. London resumed business and sent over lower quotations, accompanied by selling orders. London is beginning to feel a little pinched in the money market, and there were predictions that the Bank of England rate of discount might be raised this week, with the object of shifting the demand for gold to other centers. At the opening of the market prices showed average declines of about 1 per cent for the leading railway shares and fractional declines in the remainder of the list. An exception, and nearly the only one, was Colorado Fuel and Iron, in which two brokers with large buying orders competed for the stock and quickly advanced the price to 92¼. Nearly all this gain, however, was lost in the final dealings. At times during the afternoon trading came to a standstill, and the stocks which displayed a declining tendency were those which have recently been the favorites of the bull cliques. The news of the day was meagre, but such as it was it had no effect to depress or stimulate values. Southern railway reported an increase of $35,687 in gross earnings for the third week in October, but the stock declined nearly a point and closed at the lowest. Louisville & Nashville also made a fine showing for the same week, reporting an increase of $81,-589, but that stock also declined and closed near the lowest. The September report of Atchison, showing an increase of $129,000 in gross earnings, but a decrease of $251,590 in net, perhaps had something to do with the decline of a point in that stock. Western railway shares all declined in the late dealings---not to any great extent, but enough to establish the tone of the market. There was no decided pressure on the general list, but there was also no support, and the day closed with net declines throughout all the active shares.

The rates for call money ranged between 4½ and 3½ per cent, the latter being the closing quotation. Sixty-day loans were rather more freely offered at 6 per cent, but 90-day loans, which would carry the borrower over the annual settlement period, were not obtainable except at a higher rate. Sterling exchange was a little firmer, but there was less talk of gold exports. The fact of the matter is, our exports of breadstuffs are running ahead of expectations. Last week the shipments of wheat averaged more than 1,000,000 bushels a day, and yesterday's clearances were reported at 1,026,000 bushels. The Anglo-California bank at San Francisco reported the arrival of $1,750,000 gold from Sydney, which will be transferred to New York today, and $960,000 Klondike gold was also reported arrived on the coast. It is estimated that the treasury will pay out about $3,000,000 more cash this week on account of bond purchases, which will offset the drain of the sub-treasury, which amounts to $1,738,000 since last Friday. On the whole the money question is less pressing than it has been for several weeks past, but in its place stock market traders have taken up the political and labor outlook for discussion. The bunting on the canvas, which was printed in The Sunday Gazette, attracted considerable attention, because it forecasted a decrease in the Republican majority in the house. Much interest was also taken in the reports of probable labor demands upon western railroads, and the decline in the latter was attributed in part to foreknowledge as to the real situation. The impression seems to be that the market will lapse into still greater dullness pending the outcome of the elections next week.

The local stock market was less active than for some time past, the sales reaching less than 3,000 shares. In no part of the active list were price changes important, and gains and losses were about evenly divided. Crucible Steel common led in point of activity, selling at 21⅜ and 21½, and closing at 21½ bid. The preferred stock was firm and unchanged at 85¾@86. United States Steel common sold at 40½ and the preferred at 80, but the latter closed lower at 88¼ bid, 88¾ asked. Pittsburgh Coal common was a fraction lower at 30¾@30⅝, and the preferred at 85¾@85½. River Coal common and preferred were a shade lower, but the dealings were light. Brewing common was firmer, selling at 22⅝ and 23⅜, closing at 23½, a net gain of ⅝ for the day. Fire Proofing preferred was ⅝ higher at 28½, while the common was unchanged at 29@29¾. The Westinghouse stocks were dull, and Electric was rather heavy, the latter selling at 107½, and closing at 106 bid, 107¼ asked. Less than 300 shares Window Glass changed hands at 56¾@56⅝. The narrowness of the market is due to continued firm money, and also to sympathy with the dullness prevailing in the east.

The feature of the bank and trust company group was the advance of 10 points in Pennsylvania Trust to 315 asked and bid. There have been reports for some time past that the company would double its capital, but no formal action in the matter has yet been taken by the board of directors. Diamond National bank was another strong stock, selling at 450 and advancing at 455 bid at the close, the highest price ever quoted. There was a rumor accompanying the advance to the effect that the directors would this week increase the quarterly dividend rate to 4 per cent, as compared with 3½ per cent, the rate declared for the preceding three months. The dividend period is November 1. Real Estate Trust was irregular. It opened lower at 310½ and after selling down to 309 late in the afternoon, was offered at 308 at the close, with 306½ bid. Transactions in the remainder of this group were light and prices unchanged. The bond list was dull but steady.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Ohio Fuel Supply was quoted at 28⅝ bid, 29 asked.

Monongahela River Coal bonds closed lower at 112½ asked.

The New York associated banks have lost $1,370,000 to the sub-treasury since Friday.

It is estimated that London sold 15,000 shares American stocks on balance yesterday.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the third week in October increased $81,425.

Morris & Brown were the principal buyers of Crucible Steel, taking 500 shares at the advance.

The gross earnings of Atchison for September increased $128,835. The net earnings decreased $251,824.

Philip Goettman of the Diamond Produce Company has been elected a director of the United States National bank.

The Hocking Coal & Iron Company has declared a dividend of 1 per cent, payable December 1. This is an initial dividend on this issue of stock.

Unlisted bank stocks were quoted as follows: Republic National, 113½ asked; Cosmopolitan National, 110 asked; South Side Trust, 105 asked; Mortgage Banking, 100 bid.

There were long intervals yesterday when the ticker reporting New York stocks was silent, trading being stagnant. At times the grain markets were equally dull.

"Four months' money is rather more freely offered at 6 per cent, but 90-day money, which is the popular term with brokers in advance of 6 per cent, awaits the wording of a New York dispatch yesterday.

The comptroller of the currency has authorized G. O. French of Leipsic, O., W. F. Wendell, L. B. Alford, W. A. White, Bert Mann and others to organize the First National bank of Leipsic, on $25,000 capital.

The impending congressional elections were a prominent topic of discussion in stock market circles yesterday. Wall street commission houses were advising clients to do nothing until after the ballots were counted.

The New York stock exchange committee on securities has ruled that certificates of stock of Pittsburgh Electric Company issued in New York, Boston and Pittsburgh are a good delivery on that exchange.

Officials of the Diamond National bank emphatically deny the report that there is any present or prospective negotiations for the acquisition of the triangular plot at the corner of Fourth avenue, Market street and Liberty avenue. The present property of the bank is ample for any building projects in contemplation.

It is again officially denied that any formal action has been taken looking to an increase in the capital stock of the Pennsylvania Trust Company. The directors of that company yesterday advanced to 315 bid on the local exchange, the highest price ever quoted, which may account for the revival of the rumor of an increase in the capital.

Diamond National bank stock advanced to 455 bid at the close of the market yesterday, the highest price ever quoted. There was a rumor on the exchange that the bank had increased its dividend from the annual rate of 14 per cent to 16 per cent. This rumor was premature, but an increase in the rate is among the strong probabilities this week.

The following additional applicants were yesterday admitted to membership in the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange: Augustus C. Haughton, Shaw, Fred Diffenderffer, W. E. von Bonnhorst, W. H. Crump, John W. O'Neill, Jr., Stansbury Sutton, Glenn Graham, James C. Sheridan, J. McNulty, H. G. Welsh, R. J. Coyle, Jr., Samuel C. Grier, James J. Donnell, George J. Gorman.

Last week it was reported that for the September quarter the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company would make a poor showing. The figures given out yesterday, however, were distinctly favorable, showing net profits of $226,-000. For the nine months the company shows $825,525 surplus applicable to the common stock. This is $300,000 more than the surplus for the entire year 1901. The stock, after opening firmer at 40, declined to 04½ and closed at 04⅜.

The comptroller of the currency has approved the following selections of reserve agents: The Second National bank of Pittsburgh, for the First National bank of Indiana, Pa.; the Union National bank of Pittsburgh, for the Citizens National bank of Martinsburg, W. Va.; the First National bank of New York for the German National bank of Allegheny; the Market Street and the Merchants' National bank of Philadelphia, for the Sellersville (Pa.) National bank.

Some manipulation of Real Estate Trust stock occurred during the closing minutes of the market yesterday. After selling the stock down to 309, a broker continued to offer it until 308 was reached. On the way down, however, he compounded his fractions with a fraction above his asking price, at one time bidding 308⅝ and offering at 308½. The tactics brought neither bid nor offer from other brokers until the close, when 306½ was bid, 308 asked.

A stock exchange house wired the following to its Pittsburgh correspondent: "Keep your eyes are working for lower prices, and we think prices will recede before we get any material advance. Operations here are mainly professional, and bullish element is working very much against bull leaders. Do not look for much to go into the market until after the results of the coming elections are known. There is quite a large short interest which will prevent any great break in prices, but we believe stocks could soon be replaced within the next ten days at fair profit."

The comptroller of the currency announces the following selections of new officers by banks: The Citizens National bank of Etna, Pa.---W. B. Keenen, vice president, and C. J. M. Stoll, cashier, vice W. B. Keenen, resigned; the First National bank of Parkersburg (W. Va.) National bank---H. C. Henderson, president, vice Thomas G. Smith, deceased. The First National bank of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., with W. H. Jones, as cashier. The Central National bank of Cadiz, O.---E. A. Matthews, president, vice Alexander Robius; John R. Hall and F. W. Crawford, vice-presidents, vice Robius and R. B. Milligan, assistant cashier. The First National bank of Newcomerstown, O.---J. M. Rehard, president, vice A. M. Beers.

The announcement that the United States Steel Corporation had fixed the selling price for coke for 1903 deliveries at $3 a ton had been awaited for several days past. It is understood that no contracts have been made for the entire year, and that contracts running for a shorter period will be proportionately higher. The present price for transactions is much higher than $2.50, since the annual contracts were on the basis of $2.25, and the difference between the rate for the coming year represents a net profit of 75 cents a ton. During the month of August the United States Steel Corporation manufactured 9,073,-142 tons of coke, and its total sales, which include purchases for resale, amounted to 9,570,768 tons. The selling value of these sales was $18,626,361 and the manufacturing cost $12,483,846 17, the difference being $6,482,852.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

With practically no increase in the cost of production, the 75 cents a ton would represent an additional profit of something like $8,000,-000 on the same tonnage as produced last year.

SECOND AVENUE PROPERTY SOLD AT A GOOD PROFIT

Disposed of by C. A. Bruce—Knights of St. George Buy South Side Site—Frick's Purchase at Point.

The Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Co. has sold to a local merchant the property at No. 217 Second avenue for $28,800. The lot measures 23.5x80 feet on the north side of the avenue, about midway between Wood and Market streets, and is improved with a three-story building. This has been occupied by the Michigan Chair Company for two years. The seller was C. A. Bruce, who purchased the property several months ago from F. C. Batley for about $16,000.

Through the Real Estate Trust Co. John H. Galey has sold to C. B. Judd a plot 300x100 feet on the north side of Delaware avenue, near Westmoreland street, Swissvale, for $10,000 cash. The buyer is having plans prepared for three modern colonial brick houses to contain 10 rooms each and to cost $30,000.

Secret Order Buys Site.

Company E of the Uniformed Knights of St. George has purchased from John Bittner a property 24x122 feet on the south side of Carson street, near South Twenty-eighth street, Twenty-fourth ward, for $15,000. The lot is now improved with an old brick building, which it is understood will be razed to give place to a modern three-story brick hall, to cost $20,000.

It turns out that the deeds for the purchase by Henry C. Frick of the Schenley holdings at the Point were executed in Cannes, France, before the United consular agent, J. B. Cogent. The witness was Charles T. Randolph of the Army and Navy club, Pall Mall, London. One of the deeds conveys to Mr. Frick the property bounded by Duquesne way, Third street, Penn avenue and Water street for a consideration of $2,900,000. The other conveys to him for the sum of $10 the right of reversion which Mrs. Schenley held to the block house, and the right of way to it. The block house opposition is again being rekindled and may lead to some puzzling legal encounters.

Big Day for Deeds.

Yesterday 66 deeds were offered for registration at City hall, amounting to $432,876. The only large transfer was the deed to the Pittsburgh stock exchange of the Commercial National bank property, in Lower Fourth avenue, for $300,000.

Luther W. Stone has bought from W. M. Laird a plot of five acres facing in Laurel avenue, Robinson township, for $11,500. The plot adjoins the holdings of Richardson McKown and Annie Getty, and will be sold off in lots.

A rumor was current yesterday that the First National bank, which is supposed to have secured all the property on the west side of Wood street between Fifth avenue and Virgin alley, was about to take over for its own use the room now occupied by McCarthy's restaurant, next to the bank. A deal had been arranged, it was reported, so that McCarthy was to take the room now occupied by Wolfe, Walker & Co. at No. 511 Wood street. Mr. McCarthy denied any knowledge of the proposed change. His lease is good for three years yet, and he said he had made no arrangements to change his location.

Thirty-seven deeds were registered yesterday in the sale of properties in the Twenty-first and Twenty-third wards, owned by the Beechwood Improvement Company, limited. The total amount of the transfers was $27,545.

Big Suburban Deal.

Clifford B. Harmon has purchased from Thomas W. Crozer a tract of 78 acres in Greentree borough for $78,865. Mr. Crozer bought it a short time ago from W. A. Ninick for the same figure. It is understood the land will be put on the market for lots in the spring.

Through the Aronson Realty Company Joseph Muenzey has bought four houses in Center avenue, between Fulton and Crawford streets, for $8,000. The lot measures 33x97 feet and extends through to Clark street. The owner will build store blocks on the lot in the spring. The same brokers sold the property at No. 86 Robert street, Eleventh ward, to Jacob Gottlieb for $3,800. The lot is 20x100 feet and has erected on it an eight-room frame dwelling.

Manlia street: Louis Melander sold to Emanuel Licht an improved lot, 40x100 feet, on the east side of Manlia street, near Bedford avenue, Eleventh ward, for $3,400.

Plus street: Joseph and B. S. Hartman sold to Florian Griesch an improved lot, 32x87 feet, on the south side of Plus street, Twenty-seventh ward, for $2,700.

Excelsior street: William H. France sold to Mrs. Ella B. Doherty a lot, 25x150 feet, on the north side of Excelsior street, Thirty-fourth ward, for $4,800.

Deal in Hazelwood.

Sunnyside street: J. M. Hammitt sold to Wilber A. Whyte an improved lot, 24x120 feet, on the southwest side of Sunnyside street, Twenty-third ward, for $1,800.

Belonda street: W. F. McCarthy sold to David Blaart a lot, 24x100 feet, in Belonda street, Thirty-second ward, for $1,700.

Cicero alley: Anne Kimmel sold to Barbara Altenburger an improved lot, 23x172 feet, in Cicero alley, Thirty-first ward, for $1,675.

Oakland avenue: George Fletcher sold to John F. Matter an improved lot, 15x45 feet, in Oakland avenue, Fourteenth ward, for $3,000.

Wylie avenue: The Pittsburgh Trust Company sold to Frank H. Steinbrink an improved lot, 28x100 feet, on the north side of Wylie avenue, near Duff street, Thirteenth ward, for $2,600.

Brereten avenue: Andrew Ratajewski sold to Paul Frzewski an improved lot, 23x90 feet, on the north side of Brereten avenue, near Thirtieth street, Thirteenth ward, for $4,500.

Several Minor Transfers.

Bond street: John W. Westhead sold to John V. Evans an improved lot, 20x118 feet, on the south side of Bond street, near Highland avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $1,500.

Climax street: John S. Blocher sold to Marie L. Mungli an improved lot, 20x127 feet, in Climax street, Thirty-eighth ward, for $1,600.

Wilkinsburg: George C. Norris & Co. sold for Clara B. Hartley to Michael Wilhelm a two-story frame house of 10 rooms, No. 511 Kelly street, Third ward, Wilkinsburg, Pa., with lot 27x122 feet, for $4,500.

St. Clair street: James H. Thompson sold for Martha Thompson and Mary J. Simpson to J. M. Donoghy a vacant lot, 40x102 feet, on the west side of St. Clair street, Twentieth ward, for $4,800.

Monaca: G. Trumpler sold the following lots in the James H. Welch plan, adjoining Monaca: No. 256 to D. J. Mitchell, for $127.50; No. 257 to J. S. Mitchell, for $127.50; No. 259 to F. S. Mitchell, for $127.50; No. 42 to J. S. Malone, for $175; Nos. 391 and 392 to Joseph Sakar, for $305; No. 150 to Robert Cain, for $125; Nos. 246 and 247 to George Cain, for $250; No. 199 to George Bell, for $127.50; No. 260 to James Stallnecker, for $125; Nos. 628 and 629 to Marguerite Haggaus, for $255; Nos. 272 and 274 to Hugh Henderson, for $255; Nos. 202 and 203 to John Scott, for $270; No. 265 to Charles O. Thoms, for $125; No. 187 to Henry Weigle, for $135; No. 188 to William Reagle, for $135.

George Farrell yesterday took out a Pittsburgh building permit to erect 10 two-story brick veneered dwellings in Idlewild street, Thirty-seventh ward, to cost $26,000, and B. Psanzkienrez took out one for a three-story brick storeroom and dwelling in 364 Thirty-second avenue, Thirteenth ward, to cost $5,000.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The week opened without the least change in general conditions in the drygoods market. The demand is general, but seldom for other than limited quantities for quick orders in staple and seasonable lines of cotton goods, for which full prices are paid. Print cloths are dull but firm.

CRANBERRY PRICES ARE MOVING UPWARD

No Change in Creamery Butter—Sweet Potatoes Continue to Advance.

Business for the week opened yesterday morning with nothing in the way of special feature or excitement to seriously disturb the market in any line. For Monday trade was excellent, demand being particularly lively for all seasonable goods, with Halloween novelties in the front.

Heavy receipts characterized events in the hay, grain and feed situation, 116 carloads of stock reaching the various yards, hay being the most abundant. Notwithstanding the fact that arrivals were much more plentiful than the average, the market was in good condition to stand a pressure of this kind, and held firm in all departments. At the close of last week a slight easiness was noticed in timothy hay, but it went no further, and yesterday all receipts were cleared for without a break in quotations. The amount of straw coming in is pitifully small, and prices are strong.

Groceries were distinguished for the heavy trade going, and the absence of price changes. Flour is steady at old figures, with plenty of it in the country, although on account of delayed shipments held back somewhere in transit, dealers and jobbers have been put to some inconvenience. Coffee is steady and unchanged. Refined sugar is still in good demand, but prices are the same as last reported. Beans continue firm at advanced prices. A few red kidneys are offering, but at very high figures.

Canned Corn Very Scarce.

The canned corn situation is becoming serious, packers being unable to fill more than a small percentage of orders on account of the shortage of Maine packs. As a result quotations are strong and inclined to advance. An increase in price was made during the past week, and a little higher figures than named here are being asked now for fancy stock.

The feature of seasonable interest in the fruit market was the higher ground taken by cranberries; an unusual demand, coupled with a not too plentiful condition of stock, caused all grades to firm up somewhat, and the outlook for active demand now, and strong prices may be expected to rule for the balance of the year. Unless receipts should increase abnormally, they are in prime shape to keep well. Apple barrels are a little easier, with prices lower. Apples are steady and grapes are unchanged.

No change was made in fish potatoes, but the Jersey Sweet potato is producing 60 barrels a day. The Southern Oil Company's No. 1 on the D. M. Carter farm is producing 90 barrels a day and Van Wormer & Parks' Nos. 2 and 3 E. W. Williams, 150 barrels a day. Bellow Bros., Masamiller & Co. and Hammett & Myers have completed a test on the G. R. Hammett farm and have a duster in the Cow Run sand.

In the Benwood district, on the Ohio side, in Monroe county, the Berea Oil Company has completed its No. 2 on the Amos heirs' farm and has a 10 or 15-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand.

The Monroeville Unity Oil Company's No. 2 on the F. F. Cooper farm has declined to 50 barrels a day.

In the Brickerd district, Harrison county, Stone, Dixon & Kloser have completed their No. 2 on the M. Spellacy farm and have a 5-barrel pumper. Crocker & Co. have completed a test on the M. S. and J. R. Skelly farm and have a small pumper.

The Phillips Oil Company has completed No. 4 on the Elias Holliday farm and has a light well. The Octo Oil Company has drilled its test on the H. Gerke farm through the sand and has a duster. This well is located at Laureldon.

Berlin Electric Line Proposed.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—A plan has been laid before the Berlin municipal council for an underground electric railroad from the extreme north of Berlin through the cente of the city, to the Hallisches gate, ending at the suburb of Schoenberg, seven miles. Four years will be required for construction and the cost is estimated at $14,000,000, to be covered by a loan.

New Coal and Coke Company.

Julian Kennedy, Reed Kennedy and other Pittsburg engineers and financiers are interested in the organization of a Pittsburgh enterprise to be known as the Oriental Coal & Coke Company, to be capitalized at $600,000, for extensive mining and coking operations in the lower Connellesville regions. A charter will be granted in a few days.

WEEK IN WALL STREET OPENS DULL AND HEAVY

Sales Very Small and Many Prices Show Decline Under Saturday's Prices.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The course of today's stock market gave little promise of any change from last week's dull and narrow conditions. Trading was very light and the professional element was still in control. Traders received no encouragement from London, where quotations for the international stocks were fractionally lower. Colorado Fuel and Iron was the most active feature of the opening, advancing over 3 per cent on moderately heavy transactions, but losing fully half its advantage before the close. Baltimore & Ohio also was extensively traded in at an opening decline and Lackawanna sold up 1 per cent at the first and only offering of the day. By the end of the first hour the weakness of the list became more marked, though with no distinct evidence of pressure to sell.

London sold the list impartially to the extent of about 15,000 shares, and bought moderately of Northern Securities. Commission houses cut no figure in the day's operations and traders viewed the situation with increased indifference. The only noteworthy feature was the decline in the rate for commercial paper, which was last week practically unobtainable at less than the legal rate, but today fell to 5½@5¾. Banking experts regarded this ease as especially significant in showing the downward tendency of money. A slight advance was shown in sterling exchange and it was believed there had been a heavy accumulation of commercial bills over Sunday. In spite of this increased firmness gold exports are regarded as more remote than ever. Another shipment of Australian gold to this country was reported by the Anglo-California bank of San Fracisco and the amount, $1,750,000, probably will be transferred to this center at an early day.

The heavy selling of Norfolk & Western was ascribed to the belief that the coming dividend announcement concerning the common stock would prove disappointing.

The active bond issues were weak all around on small dealings. Total sales (par value), $1,095,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Coffee—Futures opened steady, with prices unchanged. This being due on the cable news. The market subsequently ruled dull and uneventful for the greater part of the session, easing off partly 5 points in the afternoon under the influence of heavy notices, reported to represent in the neighborhood of 30,000 bags for November delivery. These notices were said to have been stopped by the leading bull interests. The market was finally quiet and not unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales were 20,750 bags, including 3,500@5.35c; December, 5.10@5.35c; January, 5.30@5.35c; February, 5.40c; March, 5.45@5.60c; April, 5.55c; May, 5.60@5.65c; July, 5.75c; August, 5.80c; September, 5.90c.

Sugar—Raw, firm; refined, 4 1-16c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3⅝c. Molasses sugar, 3 13-16c. Refined firm.

Visible Supply of Grain.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The visible supply of grain Saturday, October 25, as compiled by the New York produce exchange, was as follows: Wheat, 29, 918,000 bushels; increase, 2,264,000 bushels. Corn, 2,488,000 bushels; increase, 367,000 bushels. Oats, 7,100,000 bushels; decrease, 80,000 bushels. Rye, 1,153,000 bushels; increase, 113,000 bushels; Barley, 3,102,000 bushels; increase, 18,000 bushels.

Masonic Temple Tax Paid.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—As a sequel to the convictions last week of Wheeler and Williams for forgery in making it appear that the Masonic Temple taxes had been paid, when such was not the case, a check for $28,377 in payment of the taxes and incidental expenses of collecting was given to the county treasurer today.

GRAIN TRADING QUIET, PRICES TEND UPWARD

Dull Day All Around in Chicago With Wheat Slightly in Lead.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Trading on the board of trade today was rather quiet, but prices generally tended upward, December wheat closing ¼c higher, December corn ¾@¾c lower and oats ⅜@½c lower. January provisions closed from 2½c to 12½c higher.

Wheat ruled firm, but trading was only fair. The opening was easy on liberal receipts and reports of large shipments from the Black sea district, but the market firmed up on liberal clearances and a good cash demand. Duluth reported upward of 800,000 bushels worked there, part for direct export, and New York reported 26 boat loads taken for export. The San Francisco market was up sharply on a strong export demand from Australia. Primary receipts were 1,875,000 bushels, against 1,430,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 1,212 cars, which, with local receipts of 163 cars—3 of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 1,405 cars, against 1,400 cars last week, and 1,023 cars a year ago.

There was comparatively little interest manifested in corn and prices were inclined to sag. Locals sold quite freely early in the day on good weather and liberal receipts, but later the market rallied in sympathy with wheat and on a fair demand from a prominent long. Local receipts were 282 cars, with 48 of contract grade.

Oats continued dull early, but a fair trade developed toward noon with good buying of May by commission houses. The close was steady. Local receipts were 301 cars.

Provisions were traded in fair

SUPREME COURT WILL HEAR NINETY ALLEGHENY CASES

Death of Wife Wipes Out Perrett Will Contest—Mrs. Friday's Suit Against Pennsylvania Railroad Co. Argued.

The supreme court yesterday took up the list of appeal cases from Allegheny county. There are 107 cases on the list, 90 of which were reported ready for argument. Ten were non-pressed, four were continued and motions made to quash three. Among those non-pressed was the contest will case begun by Henry Perrett against the will of his father, Michael Perrett. A continuance was asked on the ground that the wife of Michael Perrett had died since the contest began, but the court announced no paper book had been filed, and a non-pros was allowed. Other non-prosses were:

Farley, appellant, supreme conclave, I. O. H., Orient Steel Works against Schmidt, appellant; Nathan, executors and others, against Yunger and others, appellants; in re, grading of Linden avenue, McNaugher and other, appellants; M. A. Rapp against M. E. Rapp and others, appellants; Nathan's executors against Yunger, appellant; Smauder, appellant, against Union Traction Company; estate of McKelvey, F. R. McKelvey, appellant.

The following cases were argued: Wilhelmina Barnes, appellant, against James F. Morgan, action in ejectment on property in Shaler township; Mrs. L. F. Zimmer against Central Accident Insurance Company, appellant, an action to recover on a policy; R. O. Hunter against the Apollo Oil and Gas Company, appellant, an action for an accounting; Allegheny National bank against D. F. Reighard, appellant, an action to prevent repairs to a building; Clara Opp and others, appellants, against Goodman V. C. Chees and others, an action in ejectment on property in Moon township; Elizabeth F. Friday against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, appellant, an action growing out of condemnation proceedings as a result of the improvements about the Union station. The plaintiff was given a verdict for $231,502.

MANY PLEADED GUILTY.

Three Men Get Severe Sentences for Carrying Concealed Weapons. Minor Cases.

In criminal court yesterday before Judge Collier, Huston Hogan, H. F. Morgan, and Frank Malone, indicted separately for carrying concealed weapons on the information of Police Inspector Will, pleaded guilty. Hogan and Malone were sent 60 days to the workhouse and ordered to pay the costs, and Morgan 10 days to the workhouse and costs. Others who pleaded guilty were: Thomas McHugh, larceny of an overcoat from W. C. Harvey at East Pittsburgh, sentenced to the workhouse for six months; Harvey Hoover, larceny of a small sum of money from Joseph L. Murphy, 30 days to the workhouse; Steve Baskirz, unlawful wounding in cutting John Comnaitz with a knife in the side, seven months to workhouse; Venezlo Diantrea, selling liquor without license and on Sunday, sentenced deferred.

The following were acquitted: Michael Sixta, charged with felonious assault and battery as the result of a fight in McKeesport with Michael Qusla, whom it was alleged he cut with a knife, costs divided; C. W. Moulten, charged with the larceny of brass from the machine shop of the National tube works; Bella Thomas, charged with the larceny of two silk skirts from Josephine Wood, costs placed on the prosecutrix.

John Scott was convicted of stealing a watch and some money and jewelry valued at $18 50, from Delphia Burns.

The case against John McGinty and Michael Mellett, charged with felonious assault and battery, in knocking down and kicking John Power, was nolle prossed at the request of the district attorney and prosecutor on the payment of costs by the defendants.

SOFFEL ANSWERS WIFE.

Sets Forth Business Interests in Reply to Application for Alimony and Counsel Fees.

The deposition of Peter K. Soffel resintive to his business interests was filed yesterday. After Soffel filed his libel in divorce against his wife, Kate Soffel, application was made in her behalf for alimony and counsel fees.

Soffel swore that he owns a house and lot on Wyoming street, valued from $2,500 to $2,800, which is assessed at $1,700, and which pays him $22 a month rent. He owns no other real estate. There is a judgment note of $800, which is a lien against the Wyoming street property. He declared he had two judgment notes aggregating $5,000 at interest, and a lot of household goods. He draws $100 a month from the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company, but the position, he says, is only temporary. He owes Mrs. Christian Schaffer $900, and possesses a life insurance policy for $5,000, payable to his children, on which there is an annual premium of $232. He declares also that he owes several small bills and has four small children dependent upon him.

CREDITORS TO BE PAID.

Receiver of Jacob Shapira Will Make a Distribution—Patent Case Is Reversed.

The creditors of Jacob Shapira, who formerly conducted a drygoods store at Fifth avenue and Chestnut street, are about to get part of the debts due them.

A compromise to settle on a 20 per cent basis was confirmed by Judge Buffington and the money paid into court by Justus Mulert, the receiver. The proceeds of sales will be distributed among the 400 creditors.

A mandate from the United States circuit court of appeals was received yesterday, reversing the local circuit court in the case of William White, Jr., against the Peerless Rubber Manufacturing Company, both of this city. The court here held that the defendant had infringed a patent owned by White for an improvement in pipe covering. The higher court, in reversing the decision, directs the plaintiff to pay the costs, amounting to $39.

GRAND JURY'S WORK.

Indictment Finding Body, After Several Weeks Vacation, Resumes Work and Makes Returns.

The grand jury, after several weeks' vacation, resumed work yesterday. The following true bills were returned:

Larceny—Charles Long, H. E. Heser, William P. Hartnett, Arthur Jennings, Grant Knee, Henry Johnston, William Lawson, Thomas McHugh, David W. Hughes, John Scott, C. W. Montelar, Bella Thomas, Michael Mensel, Harvey Hoover.

Misdemeanor—William P. Hartnett.

Nuisance—Keeping ferocious dog—Henry Kalkhof.

Carrying concealed weapons—John Patsy, William Wright, Hornton Hogan, Frank Malone, H. F. Morgan.

Embezzlement—Frank Shinn.

Assault and battery—Steve Baskvois.

Felonious assault and battery—Michael Sokn, William J. McCann and M. J. Sauden.

Entering a building with intent to commit a felony—William McCann.

Selling liquor without license and on Sunday—Virginia Diantrea.

Three bills were ignored—Assault and battery, Charles Batch, John Welloch; robbery and receiving stolen goods, Peter Smith, Jean Larkin.

NEARLY ALL TO CHARITY.

Isabella F. Leitch Remembers Church Institutions in Her Will.

A large amount of the estate of Isabella F. Leitch of Allegheny, as shown by her will, filed yesterday, is bequeathed to charity. The Sixth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny gets $1,000 and the Twelfth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny $5,000. The residue is left to the Allegheny Ladies' Relief society. Other bequests were: Belle F. Howe, $200; M. Eva Lavin, Martha E., Frances F., Ruth H., Hazel F., Mary A., and Lizzie M. Fraser, $100 each; Agnes F. Keister, Elizabeth F. Humphries and C. M. Fraser, $500 each. The value of the personal property is unknown; the real estate is valued at $500. Attorney A. B. Smith represents the estate.

The following decrees in distribution were made: Estates of Genevieve Yoelker, $595 50; William Rankin, $7,814 27; Sophia Giles, $4,933 12; Margaret A. McMullan, $2,802 75, John Lutz, $3,247 24; William Feller, $284 75; S. Summers, $746 21; Henry Krahl, $2,082 69; Charles Taylor, $856 48.

FOR PUBLIC POLICY.

Court Refuses Recoupment of Taxes on This Ground.

Judge Hawkins sustained the exceptions to the account of the trustee of the estate of John B. Semple. It was alleged certain taxes for 1890 and 1891 had been improperly paid. The trustee claimed he had equity to recoupment of the loss out of a gain realized from the non-payment of taxes in 1884 and 1885.

Judge Hawkins says that on the grounds of public policy recoupment must be refused, for it would offer premiums on a breach of duty to the commonwealth in the non-payment of taxes which were due.

Dean Case to Be Argued.

Among the cases on the present argument list, which was taken up in common pleas court No. 1 yesterday by Judge Brown, is the suit of Mrs. M. L. Dean of Sewickley against her husband, Dr. Davis A. Dean, for $1,950, alleged to be owing in agreement to pay her $100 a month. Dr. Dean was up for non-support. Dr. Dean denies that he is liable. He says his wife left his home and that he has always been able and willing to support her if she returns to him.

VALUABLE PAPERS MISSING.

Administrator of T. B. Young's Estate Offers a Reward for Them.

Administrator W. Perry Lemley, No. 510 Bijou building, is searching for valuable papers belonging to the estate of the late Thomas B. Young, for 22 years connected with the circulation department of The Gazette, who died May 20, 1902. The administrator has been searching for these papers since he took out letters of administration on May 31, but so far has been unable to locate them. He offers a liberal reward for information leading to the recovery of them.

The papers were found in a safe in The Gazette office after Mr. Young left the paper and handed over to their owner, Mr. Young, who at the time lived at No. 17 Isabella street, Allegheny, took the papers away with him and after several days disposed of them in some unknown manner.

Church Officers Held for Trial.

Justice Morton of Homestead yesterday held hearings in the cases of the officers of St. Anthony's Polish and the Greek Catholic churches of Homestead, who were sued a week ago by Constable Shintop on charges of selling liquor at balls. He held all the officers, nine in number, for court trial.

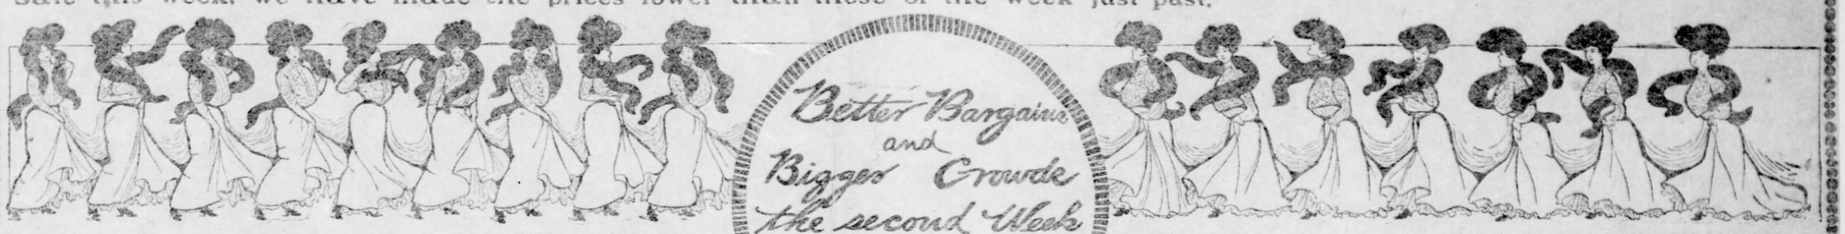
Continuation of Sale of the Patterson Bankrupt Stock.

When we purchased from the Receiver the stock of the Patterson Dry Goods Co. (formerly Hugus & Hacke), we purchased better than we knew. The first week of the sale being over, the balance of the stock looms up more clearly than did the stock in its entirety. There are still many fine and fashionable lots of merchandise to be disposed of, notably among the Silks, Dress Goods, Linens, Laces, Notions, Domestics, Gloves, etc., and as we are anxious to get through with the Patterson Sale this week, we have made the prices lower than those of the week just past.



¼, ⅓ and ½ Actual Value.

Richest and Rarest Silks.

Hugus & Hacke were famous for their fine Silks and the Patterson Dry Goods Co., who succeeded them, kept the same high-class goods. The stock was too big to be placed all on sale at once, so each day the shelves and counters are filled with new goods. As soon as one lot or line is sold out it is replaced by another. The Silks selected for today's sale are even handsomer than those which created such a big sensation last week. Yet the same low prices prevail:
